Using Purgatives Injures the Health

In the Spring a Tonic is Needed—But Not Harsh, Drastic Medicines.

A spring medicine is an actual necessity to most people. Nature demands it as an aid in carrying off the impurities that have accumulated in the blood during the long winter life of winter months. But unfortunately thousands of people who recognize the necessity for a spring medicine do not know what is best to take and done themselves with harsh, griping purgatives. This is a serious mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of purgative medicine weakens your system—it does not cure disease. In the spring the system needs building up—purgatives cannot do this—a tonic is what you still more. The blood should be made rich, red and pure—no purgative can do this. What is needed in the spring is a tonic, and the best tonic medicine science has yet discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine actually makes new, rich blood. This new blood strengthens every organ, every nerve, and every part of the body. This is why they cure such troubles as backaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, and a host of other troubles that arise from poor watery blood. That is why men and women who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills eat well, sleep well, and feel bright, active and strong. If you need a medicine this spring try this great reviving tonic, and see the new life, new health and new strength it will put into you. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

M. Hughs, and appreciated by all. Where was our war leader? Very instructive papers were read on the "strong drink" side.—Miss Mabel Armstrong has returned home, after visiting friends at Selby.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson, Roblin, at Mr. Ira Bradshaw's, on Sunday.

Mothers Attention!

Your Delicate Child May be Restored to Health by Vinol.—Read the Following Letter From a Canton, O., Mother.

"I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child, to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter was pale, thin and sickly. She had no appetite and no ambition.

"We tried various medicines, but without any benefit whatever, and we could not take cod liver oil or emulsions, as they nauseated her and upset her stomach.

"Learning that Vinol contains all the medicinal and strength-creating properties of cod liver oil, but without the disagreeable oil, and tonic iron added, we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous. It gave her a hearty appetite; the color returned to her cheeks and she is stronger and in better health than she has been for years.

"I cannot say enough in favor of Vinol for weak, delicate children."—Mrs. C. W. Stump, Canton, O.

There is nothing equal to Vinol for delicate, ailing children and feeble old people, to build up strength and restore a normal healthy condition. Those who try it and receive no benefit may have their money returned on demand—that's your guarantee.—T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee.

Bradshaw's.—Mr. Theodore Middleton at Mr. O. Knapp's.—Mrs. J. Hawley and sons, George and Norris, have returned home, after spending the last two weeks with her parents, north of Sharbot Lake.

TOO STRENUOUS.

The housewife was showing her new chambermaid through the upstairs when finally they came to a staircase leading down into the rear yard, says Judge.

"Mary," said the, "stepping out on the landing, whenever you wish to pass down to the back yard go down this way."

Just then the speaker slipped and was precipitated with a great clattering to the bottom.

"Are you hurt, mum?" cried the affrightened chambermaid, starting down from above.

"No, it's nothing," came the return, as the disheveled mistress rose to her feet in proof.

"This you've got it down fuine, mum."

LIME LAKE.

On Monday evening, March 8th, about sixty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burd gathered at the residence of their home to spend a social evening before their departure for Prince Edward County where they expect leaving was spent in games, music and social intercourse. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Deline were presented with a very handsome upholstered rocking chair and a parlor lamp, accompanied by an address. The address was read by Mr. J. Wesley Reynolds, and the presentation made by Messrs. Robt. Burd and J. M. Martin. Following is the address:

Mr. and Mrs. A. Deline and family:

Dear friends,—We, your friends and associates have assembled here on this occasion to spend a social evening.

We take this opportunity of expressing to you the sincere regard and esteem in which you are held by the people of this neighborhood.

We realize the fact that our community will sustain a great loss by your removal. Your life amongst us has not been without esteem, and we feel sure you will be missed by most everyone.

We wish now to show our appreciation of your many sterling qualities by asking you to accept this chair and lamp, as a slight token of our regard for you.

Be assured that you carry with you the best wishes of your friends here for future happiness and welfare in the future, and our sincere wish is that God will abundantly bless you in your new home.

On behalf of your friends at Lime Lake and Marlbank,

J. WESLEY BROWN.
ROBT. BURD.

A suitable reply was made, thanking the donors for their kind gift. Mr. Martin was then called on for a speech. He responded briefly, touching on the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Deline would be missed very much.

Refreshments were then served, after which the guests departed to their several homes.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Parties intending building or repairing old roofs this season should call and inspect Amatite Roofing before buying. Amatite is fire proof, wind and waterproof, is easily applied, needs no painting. Cheaper than shingles. Especially adapted for flat roofs, as every joint is cemented in putting it on. C. A. WINEMAN, John St., first door north of Smith's Jewellery Store. 12tp

HOSPITAL AID SOCIETY.

The ladys of the Napanee Hospital Aid Society are preparing a box to be sent to the Kingston General Hospital for baby's use. As we have asked for very much for this work during the year, and as the hospital is very much in need of help, we feel confident that all will readily respond to this request. Will the friends who are all interested in this work kindly send their donations of fruit, marmalade and maple syrup to Mrs. C. H. Wartman before Thursday, April 8th. Will you also remember to send in old linen, as it is greatly needed. Please remember the date.

ABRAMS—HANNAH.

A very pleasing event took place on Wednesday, March 17th, at 12 o'clock, at the Western Methodist parsonage, when Miss Edith Ida Abrams, of Tamworth, and Mr. Wm. Johnston Hannah, Desmond, were united in marriage by the Rev. W. H. Emsley, in the presence of a few intimate friends. The bride, who was unattended, was prettily attired in a suit of brown panama cloth and taffeta silk blouse with chiffon trimmings and large picture hat. On their return from their honeymoon the happy couple will reside at Desmond. Their many friends join in wishing them a long and prosperous life.

Don't fail to hear the Old Folks' Concert in the Opera House on Friday, April 16th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Western Methodist Church. 12p

DOMINION DAY AT TAMWORTH.

Arrangements are now being made for another great Picnic, Dinner and Concert at Tamworth on July 1st. Efforts will be made to surpass even the great success of last year. Full announcement later. 12b

CHURCH OF ST. MARY MAGDALENE

Special services will be held in this Church every night next week, at 7.30 o'clock. The Vicar will give a series of addresses the purpose of which will be to make plain the way of Salvation. No collection will be made, but plates will be at the door for church expenses. All are earnestly invited to attend.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Daniel Ryan Co., which played "Salome" and "The Belle" at the Bijou Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday evening, were the finest Napanee has ever had the pleasure of seeing. The houses on both evening were very poor. It seems too bad that the people do not turn out for such good shows.

TEA MEETING AT HATH.

A tea meeting will be held in the Town Hall, Hath, on Friday, March 26th. Several musicians, good singing and plenty to eat. Local and outside talent. Mr. Thrower, the young blind musician, will entertain us. Other good musicians and singers will make your heart glad. Music will be rendered during tea served. Tickets 25 cents, in aid of the Church Board of the Methodist church. 12a

CURLING.

The curling match in the South Bonspiel for the cup presented by Mr. Wm. Bell last year was won last Monday night by D. J. Hoare's team, the match standing as follows:—

J. March	R. Stinson
H. H. Perry	F. Vanalstine
W. A. Dale	E. Bath
J. L. Bowerman	R. A. Crookes

A very interesting game was played on Wednesday evening between the Irishmen and the Scotchmen. The Scotchmen were victorious by 16 points.

M. S. MADOLE.

NANCY GILLETT.

wife of Herbert Gillett, Camden, departed this life March 9th, after a lingering illness of four months. Deceased contracted a cold which developed into pleuro pneumonia. All medical aid proved unavailing in checking the dreadful malady. Mrs. Gillett was a daughter of the late Joseph Lovekage, and was born married. By her former husband, the late James Biggar, a large family were born. Four sons, David, Thomas, Andrew, Robert, and a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Vanhorne, reside in the west; while four daughters, Mrs. C. A. Cullen, Mrs. C. Bedford, Mrs. A. Denison and Mrs. W. Donevan were present at her bedside. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. K. Henry, assisted by Rev. S. F. Dixon, in St. Andrew's church, Tamworth, of which deceased was a member. The bereaved husband and family have the sympathy of the entire community.

DIED IN NEW YORK.

Word was received on Wednesday from Mr. Wm. Burns, that Alex. Lafferty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lafferty, Thomas street, had died in that city that day. There is not much information to hand yet, but it is said that while working on a roof he missed his footing and fell through a skylight some distance below. He was immediately taken to a hospital, and lingered a few days, but the injuries proved fatal, and he died on Wednesday afternoon. Alex. was well known in Napanee, having worked for Messrs. H. G. Wright and M. S. Madole, and for a number of years was traveling salesman for Clare Bros., of Preston. He was aged about 21 years. The remains are expected to arrive here on Saturday at noon.

WRESTLING MATCH.

Lovers of sport in Napanee are to be treated to a first-class exhibition of the manly art at the Bijou Opera House, on Monday evening, March 22d, when J. T. Hawley, of Glenvale, and Gene Hurtubies of Peterboro', will wrestle for a purse of $25.00 and the heavyweight championship. These men all have splendid reputations and a first-class exhibition is assured. A six-round sparring bout will also be put on between C. Powell and G. Sweetman, of the 14th Battalion, Kingston. The plan is now open. Reserve your seats early as this entertainment is sure to draw a large crowd. Prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

ARABIAN SULTAN BUYS AMERICAN BOAT.

Motorboating is fast becoming a favorite sport in Arabia. One of the surprises of the New York Motor Boat Show was the order booked by the W. H. Mullins Co., of Salem, Ohio, for a 26-ft. Steel Launch, equipped with a 25 H. P. Ferro Motor for the Sultan of Muscat and Oman. This is only another demonstration of the superiority of American motor boats and engines. The order was doubtless received in competition with solicitation and demonstrations by representatives of English, French, German and Italian boat and engine builders. The Sultan, in a letter accompanying the order, informs the Mullins Co. that if this boat is satisfactory, many additional orders will be placed by members of the royal family.

The boat is equipped with a 25 H. P. Ferro Marine Engine, made by the Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., of Cleveland. These engines are being used widely throughout Asia, as well as all over Europe.

The improvements in 1908 Ferro engines attracted much favorable comment at the New York show. The new three under and counter-balance crank shaft reduce friction and wear on parts and ensure maximum efficiency from motor. The working parts in the new models are easily accessible.

BABY SUFFERED TORTURE

Until Cured by Cuticura

The fact that CUTICURA is equally good for baby and grown ups makes it at once popular as the mother's friend. Mrs. Jelleries of 5 Delos St., Toronto, did not know how to find her baby boy of Eczema. She says: "My baby boy, three years old, suffered from a bad attack of Eczema. It first started on his face and then spread to his body. He was in such misery that he could not sleep at night. I took him to the drug store and got some salve made up for him, but this did no good. Two doctors treated him but were unable to relieve. One day a sample of CUTICURA was left at my house. I annointed baby with this and it did him so much good that I at once bought four boxes at a drug store on Queen St. He made good progress under the CUTICURA treatment and the little fellow can now sleep well. All itching has gone and he is cured of this irritating Eczema."

"I consider a wonderful salve such as CUTICURA is a boon to the working class for it is sold at a price well within our reach."

This is what makes CUTICURA so popular. Healing, Soothing and Antiseptic, it contains the finest and purest healing substances the world can produce. Compare CUTICURA with any salve advertised at double the price and prove our statement.

You can do this without cost by sending for a Free Sample (see coupon). CUTICURA is sold by all Druggists and Dealers at 25c a box or postage paid from the CUTICURA SALVE CO., Spadina Ave., Toronto. It touches the spot every time.

CUTICURA is the best remedy for eczema, Rash, Itch, Ulcers, Burns, Poisoned and Festering Wounds, Running and Cold Sores, Scalp Sores, Chapped Hands, Itch, and all Skin Irritations and troubles. It is positive cure for Blind and Bleeding Piles. 25c box every where.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. DR. LISSCOTT FOR THE INTERNATIONAL NEWSPAPER BIBLE STUDY CLUB FOR MAR. 28th, 1909.

Temperance Lesson.—Proverbs xxiii: 29-35.

Golden Text: At last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. Proverbs xxiii: 32.

Verses 29-30. Is strong drink as a beverage in so called moderation, good for any body?

Do all who drink habitually realize its ugly as a fact?

Should alcohol be used in any form as a medicine?

Is it safe or prudent for people in good health to take intoxicating drink as a beverage?

What classes in the community are suffering from the drinking habit, directly and indirectly?

Should no athletes always abstain from drinking when they are in training for a contest?

What are the signs by which you can nearly always tell a drinking man?

Why should a man will to drink? Is he not, and when a good man who does drink realizes all the sin and trouble in which his companions are drinking to involve them, why does he not at once will to abstain entirely from all its evils?

How would you characterize a temperance man who does not make it a point to pledge to support the local traffic?

Why should evils can not trace to strong drink?

What will be the probable effect upon the will, and compare them with the will of a man who has never tasted liquor in the greater curse to the nation?

What is the fascination which draws so many thousands to their ruin in the drink habit?

If the country, towns and cities, provinces and states would abolish the traffic, which were letting and causing the death of thousands, what steps would they be taking to eradicate the disease?

Seeing that intemperance is one of the real causes of the liquor traffic, are more evident than the "social" and "political" evils which we do you explain the matter of the nation in getting rid of this monstrous evil? Any question must be answered in writing as to the judges of the study.

Verse 31-35. Does drinking always produce mental, and physical weakness, rendering the soul to the foulest crimes?

Why is drinking of strong drink sometimes attended by fun, sometimes almost always by quarrelling, and sometimes by hurt at the time, and when they get better they say, "I would do it no more"?

Lesson for Sunday, April 4th: 1909. Peter and Cornelius. Acts x: 1-8.

FOR THE FARMER OR THE AUTO DRIVER.

In the good roads agitation, or which so much is being heard designed primarily for the benefit of the farm, or more particularly for the man who is the owner of pleasure available for the rich of the cities?

The address which A. W. Campbell delivered before the Canadian Club in Toronto on Monday would seem to warrant the belief that the latter is the favored one. Mr. Campbell spoke in the address on question of through highways of the hope of being able soon to show $1,000 per mile, and continuous good roads over which one could pass from a central point.

Who wants a continuous highway of this length? It may be an excellent thing for the owner of a high-powered car, who wants to flash over it at forty miles an hour, but of what benefit is it to the farmer? Mr. Campbell spoke of wagons arriving in this city from points forty miles distant, but what about all of ever under present conditions, it may say as forty miles is as far as it is possible to market? Certainly, with the right rates, under proper control, a cheaper service than that which is at present in vogue could be had, but it is folly that can be carried by wagons, for any distance beyond ten miles. With the extension of electrical railway systems, also under proper control, we could be towards shortening the wagon haul, until eventually five miles may be considered the maximum.

What is required in the interests of farmers is a local system similar to that which Mr. Campbell advocates, being worked out in Waterloo, a small county, where roads are being improved with a view of making it easier to reach nearby market towns. To establish a really Provincial system of highways, with a uniformly good road, extending way from Niagara to Kingston, or from Toronto to Goderich, would supply in an incentive to auto. lends to go out and make the most of the splendid facilities for pleasure-riding.

NEW MATERIALS FOR SPRING.

Crepe-de-reges and Bordered Foulard. Are to Be Much in Vogue.

Crepe-de-reges! They call the new woolen weaves that are as soft and pliant as the most fragile silk, and yet have all the splendid wear-defying qualities of the finest cloth. They are among the novelties of the Spring materials that will be new only to the younger generation. It is a reincarnation of the old-time bombazine, a twilled silk that went under that name years ago. It is a material much finer in weave and texture than the ribbed effects of the old-time bombazine, and yet it is not. It will be worn freely in suits and dresses, for it has the good qualities of both materials that gave it its name, being firm but wonderfully soft and pliant.

Voiles and veilings have been pronounced "passe" in the fashion dictionary. Nevertheless many of the smart Spring and Summer dresses will be made in them. Still lovely though unfashionable chiffon cloths.

Foulard comes in with the bordered pongees and marquisettes, and it's popular it will be more firmly used than ever. So few trimmings were really well adapted to it and almost every one will look back on the time-worth combination of foulard and lace as unknown. Now, however, the border redeems the material. Many of the foulards have three and four inch bands. Persian in design and Oriental in coloring, that constitute a trimming in themselves. In fact the borders are being shown in all sorts of Spring and Summer materials besides the silks and pongees.—The April Delineator.

ARABIAN SULTAN BUYS AMERICAN BOAT.

Motorboating is fast becoming a favorite sport in Arabia. One of the surprises of the New York Motor Boat Show was the order booked by the W. H. Mullins Co., of Salem, Ohio, for a 26-ft. Steel launch, equipped with a 25 H. P. Ferro Motor for the Sultan of Muscat and Oman. This is only another demonstration of the superiority of American motor boats and engines. The order was secured, received in competition with, solicitation and demonstration by representatives of English, French, German and Italian boat and engine builders. The Sultan, in a letter accompanying the order, informs the Mullins Co. that if this boat is satisfactory, many additional orders will be placed by members of the royal family.

The boat is equipped with a 35 H. P. Ferro Marine Engine, made by the Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., Cleveland. These engines are being used widely throughout Asia, as well as all over Europe.

The improvements in 1909 Ferro engines attracted much favorable comment at the New York show. The offset cylinder and counter-balance shaft, which reduce friction and wear on parts and secure maximum efficiency from motor. The working parts in the new models are easily accessible.

Wrestling and Boxing.

The athletic events at the Opera House on Monday evening were splendid as far as the boxing and light weight wrestling were concerned, but the heavy-weight ended in a fizzle. The hall was packed to the doors.

Messrs. C. Powell and G. Sweetman, of the 14th Regiment, Kingston, gave a three-round bout at boxing as a preliminary, and at 9 o'clock sharp the lightweights, Messrs. W. J. Sheridan, of Oshawa, and M. J. Barnes, of New York, started the wrestling. Barnes was the taller and heavier of the two, but for an hour and ten minutes they battled for supremacy without either one gaining a fall, and the contestants were stopped, the decision being given as a draw, with all bets of Sheridan looked the more scientific of the two, but lacked weight. The decision was very popular with the audience.

Messrs. Powell and Sweetman appeared for another three rounds, in the latter of which they mixed it up a little, honors being even, and the decision a draw.

The long awaited event—the heavy-weight was next called. J. T. Hawley, of Oshawa, and Jerome Burtubies, of Peterboro, trying contestions. Both men looked fit, and they started in at a fast clip with Hurtubies the aggressor. They went to the mat with Hawley on top. While there the latter rubbed the Frenchman's mouth severely with his hand. Hurtubies got up with his opponent down, and rolling and tossing gain a fall when Hawley claimed a foul, which was allowed. The foul claimed was that Hurtubies bit his hand. It was plainly evident to all on the stage that this was a move on the part of Hawley to save himself from going to the mat for a fall, but the decision being given, that ended the matter. The French man very properly refused to go on with the match if a fall was allowed against him. The large crowd present showed their appreciation of the stand taken by the Peterboro man by cheering him to the echo.

HOSPITAL AID SOCIETY.

The ladies of the Napanee Hospital Aid Society are preparing a box to be sent to the Kingston General Hospital for Easter. EMPIRE STATISTICS

It is only possible to understand what the British Empire really means through a remarkable array of Empire statistics which has just been issued by the British Board of Trade. Few people realize the vastness of our imperial heritage that the British flag flies over 11,332,000 square miles of territory and 396,000,000 people of all colors and races of whom only 45,539,000 live in the United Kingdom. The Empire's total world trade totalled £1,666,343,000 in 1907, of which 25.8 per cent (£430,557,000) was inter-imperial trade. Every year the Empire produces vast masses of wealth in the shape of minerals and agricultural products. The totals for 1907 are as follows:—

Coal ..... (tons)	304,772,000
Iron ore ..... (tons)	17,029,000
Pig iron ..... (tons)	10,690,000
Wheat ..... (bushels)	472,900,000
Barley ..... (bushels)	114,220,000
Oats ..... (bushels)	372,500,000
Maize ..... (bushels)	53,800,000
Coffee ..... (pounds)	45,100,000
Tea ..... (pounds)	430,913,000
Rubber ..... (pounds)	11,940,000
Cotton ..... (pounds)	1,231,244,000

During the year no fewer than 2,344,824 tons of shipping cleared as sailing vessels and 10,836,531 tons of steam vessels were on the register as flying the British flag.

The town of Welland will sue the gas company for fifteen thousand dollars to pay for the burning of the church which was burned, and for which the town was compelled to pay.

HISTORICAL MEETING.

Last Friday evening the regular March meeting of the Society was held in Historical Hall. Prof. L. B. Hornings, of Toronto University, delivered a very able lecture on King Alfred in the Time of King Alfred. Dr. Horning started his lecture with a short description of the condition of the country, over one thousand years ago, and made the then well forrested land seem very primitive by comparison to the land of beautiful, finished lawns which the present day visitor finds England to be. He then told his hearers of the difficulties which faced King Alfred when he ascended the throne; how he ultimately overthrew the Danes and by establishing an army and introducing sensible legislation for the protection of his subjects, gradually did for England what was most needed,—united its people and telling of the great work done by King Alfred, Dr. Horning described in a very clear manner the home life in England during this period. He described the houses, the furniture, the dishes used, the food and the method of cooking it, and gave an excellent idea of the amount of reading which it was possible to do with the very limited number of so called books then existing in the entire country.

Unfortunately the Historical Society parted out another stormy night for the meeting, and a comparatively small audience heard the lecture. Those who did attend were highly pleased with the lecture, and Dr. Horning will receive a hearty welcome when he is again able to visit Napanee.

The fact that these gentlemen so kindly give up valuable time and make long trips to deliver lectures in Napanee, without remuneration, is appreciated. It is unfortunate that all of these pleasant remarks which we hear cannot be communicated to the ones who do the real work.

NEWS NOTES.

David Brooks, a three-year-old boy of Brockville, was found dead on the shore of the river, and a Coroner is investigating.

Enormous fields of ice and icebergs are reported in the Atlantic by the officers of the steamer Evangeline, just arrived at Halifax.

The Coroner's jury in the Windsor Station accident at Montreal exonerated the railway and its employees from the charge of carelessness.

THE OLD NAME

The Historical Society will make a complete collection of the names of villages and farms in this county. It only remains to add to this list, and it would be very glad if the public would help it. Any information for the purpose should also be sent to Mr. Fiddes, Camden East—Camden Centreville, Whitby; Clarksville, Napanee; Croydon, Kingston; Enterprise, Belleville; Moscow, Huffman's Corners; Newburgh, Rogers' Hollow; Odessa, Mill Creek; Strathcona, Napanee; Tamworth, Selby; Gallagher's Corners; Switzerville, Sussex; Thorpe, Peterboro; Throne Grove, Napanee; Tyre, Belleville; Tamworth, Whitby; Thomasville, Napanee; Milbert, Colonel's Mills; Wilton, Simmons' Mills; Yarker, Simons' Point; Zealand, Bruce Mines; Zion, Liverpool.

By reading the above it will be seen that Camden East has a number of names. Among them are Bedlington, Middleton, Burgh and Town Station. Can no Odessa half a dozen must have been a great place name, in the old days, but should be completed if possible. Address to the Historical Society.

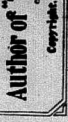
ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Copyright, 1902, Anthony Hope Hawkins

The night was dark. He could not see the ground. He stood there ten minutes. Then he heard a measured tramp. A dark figure, just distinguishable, came around the corner of the palace, walked past the window to the end of the building, turned, walked back and disappeared. Hurriedly Lepage struck a match and took the time. Again he waited; again the figure came. Again he struck a light and took the time. He went through this process five times before he felt reasonably sure that he could rely on having ten minutes to himself. If he started the moment Sterkoff's sentry had gone around the corner of the building.

He pulled the mattress up on to the sill of the window and waited. There was no sound now but of Markart's stertorous breathing, but presently to the measured tramp below came, passed, turned and passed away. Lepage gave a last tug at the fastenings of his rope, threw the end out of the window, took the mattress and dropped it very carefully as straight down as he could.



"I wish I knew the safest way to fall!" thought Lepage.

The next moment, in spite of Steckoff, somebody had left the palace. Why not? The runaway was aware that the king was not really suffering from influenza. He could spend an evening at Slavna without reproach!

"I wish I knew the safest way to fall!" thought Lepage, dangling at the end of his rope. It swayed about terribly. He waited awhile for it to steady itself—he feared to miss the mattress—but he could not wait long or that measured tramp and that dark figure would come. There would be a sudden spurt of light and a report—and what of Lepage then? He gathered his legs up behind his knees, took a long breath—and fell. As luck would have it, though he landed on the very edge of the mattress, yet he did land on it and tumbled forward on his face, shaken, but with bones intact. There was a numb feeling where his knees—nothing worse than that.

He drew another long breath. He must even mattresses fall quickly. He must have seven or eight minutes yet!

But no! Heavy bodies, even mattresses, falling quickly, make a noise. Lepage, too, had come down with a thud, squashing hidden air out of the interstices of the mattress. The silence of night will give resonance to gentler sounds than that, which was as though a giant had squeezed his mighty sponge. Lepage on his numb knees listened. The steps came, not measured now, but running. The dark figure came running around the corner. What next? Next the challenge—then the spurt of light and the report! What of Lepage then? Nothing, so far as Lepage and the rest of humanity for certainty knew.

Of that nothing, actual or possible, Lepage did not approve. He hitched the mattress on to his back, bent himself nearly double and, thus both burdened and protected, made for the river. He must have looked like a turtle scurrying to the sea lest he should be turned over and so left for soup in due season.

"Who goes there? Halt! Halt!"

The turtle scurried on. It was no moment to stop and discuss matters.

The spurt of light—the report! There was a hole in the mattress, but well above Lepage's head. Indeed, if hit at all, he was not most likely to be hit in the head. That vital portion of him was tucked away too carefully. He presented a broader aim, but the mattress masked him nobly. There was another shot—from the northwest corner of the mattress this time—but the mattress on the river's edge. The next instant it was floating on the current of the Krath, and Sterkoff's sentry was indulging in some very pretty practice at it. He hit it every time until the swift current carried it around the bend and out of sight.

The whole thing seemed strange and rather uncanny to the sentry. He stopped at this point and wiped his brow. It had looked like a carpet taking a walk on its own account and then a swimming exercise—quite enough to be accustomed to such strange phenomena. The sentry was not. He set off at a round pace to the guardroom. He did not even stay to notice the white rope which dangled in the air from a first floor window. Had he stopped he would have heard Markart's invincible, drug laden snoring.

Lepage had separated himself from his good friend and ally, the mattress, and dived under water while the sentry blazed away. He welcomed the current which bore him rapidly from the dangerous neighborhood of the palace. He came to the surface fifty feet down stream and made for the other side.

He made land a quarter of a mile below the palace. Ah, it was colder on the road there than struggling with the cold water! But his spirit was not quenched. He laughed again, a trifle hysterically perhaps. In spite of Sterkoff he was spending the evening out! He set his feet for Slavna—briskly, too! Nay, he ran for warmth's sake and because of what the sentry might even now be reporting to Sterkoff and, through him, to General Stenovics. The thought brought him to a standstill again. There might be a cordon of sentries across the road! After a moment's hesitation he broke away from the main road, struck due south and so ran when he could, walked when he must, two miles.

He was getting terribly tired now, but not cold—rather he was feverishly hot beneath his clammy garments. He turned along a country cross road which ran west and passed through a village, leaving the Hotel de Paris on the main road far to his right. At last he reached the main road south and turned up it, heading again for Slavna and for the bridge which crossed the South river. He passed the bridge without being challenged as the cathedral clock struck midnight from St. Michael's square. The worst of his task was accomplished. If now he could find Zerkovitch!

But he was sore spent. Running was out of the question now. He shuffled slowly and painfully along the south boulevard, clinging close to the fences of the gardens, seeking the shelter of the trees which overhung them.

Dragged, hatless, dirty, infinitely weary, at last he reached Zerkovitch's house at the corner where the boulevard and the Street of the Fountain meet. He opened the garden gate and walked in. Sparta he was, he breathed a "Bravo!" when he saw a light burning in the hall. He staggered on, rang the bell and fairly fell in a lump outside the door.

He had done well. He, a man of pence, busy with clothes—he had done well that night! But he was finished. When Zerkovitch opened the door he found little more than a heap of dank and dirty raiment. He hauled it in and shut the door. He poured Lepage into the study, sat him by the fire and got brandy for him to drink, pouring out full half a tumbler. Lepage took it and drank the better part of it at a gulp.

"The king died at 5 o'clock, M. Zerkovitch," he said. He drank the rest, let the tumbler fall, with a crash, in the fender, buried his head on his breast and fell into blank unconsciousness.

He was out of the battle as much as Markart, who slept the clock around in spite of Stenovics' shakings and Dr. Mitchell's rubbings and stimulants. But he had done his part. It was for Zerkovitch to do his now.

The king had died at 5 o'clock? It was certainly odd, that story, because Zerkovitch had just returned from the offices of the Patriot, and immediately before he left he had sent down to the foreman printer an official communique to be inserted in his paper. It was to the effect that Captain Mistitch and a guard of honor of fifty men would leave Slavna next morning at 7 o'clock for Dobrava to be in readiness to receive the king, who had made magnificent progress and was about to proceed to his country seat to complete his convalescence.

Captain Mistitch and a guard of honor for Dobrava! Zerkovitch decided that he would if possible ride ahead of them to Dobrava—that is, part of the way. But first he called his old housekeeper and told her to put Lepage to bed.

"Don't worry about anything he says. He's raving," he added thoughtfully.

But poor Lepage raved no more that night. He did not speak again till all was over. He had done his part.

At 5 o'clock in the morning Zerkovitch left Slavna hidden under a sack in a carter's cart. He obtained a horse at a high price from a farmer three miles along the road and thence set out for the castle at his best speed. At 6 Captain Mistitch, charged with Stafnitz's careful instructions, set out with his guard of honor along the same road—going to Dobrava to await the arrival of the king, who lay dead in the palace on the Krath!

But since they started at 6 and not 7, as the official communique of Zerkovitch to suppose, he had an hour less to spare than he thought. Moreover, they went not fifty strong, but a hundred.

These two changes—of the hour and the force—were made as soon as Stenovics and Stafnitz learned of Lepage's escape. A large force and a midnight march would have aroused suspicion in Slavna. The general did what he could safely do to meet the danger which the escape suggested—the danger that news of the king's death might be carried to Pistok before Mistitch and his escort got there.

Chapter Twenty-six

AFTER his happy holiday the prince went well and rose to a cheerful mood, still joyful of heart. He anticipated that the day would bring him a summons from his father. He had little doubt that to the course of a personal interview he could persuade the king to agree to a postponement of his journey. Of Sophy he meant to say nothing—by a reservation necessary and not inexcusable. It was impossible not to take into account the knowledge he had acquired of the state of the king's health. The result of that condition was that a fatal termination must in all likelihood be for months only and not for years. The task for the months was to avoid disturbing the king's mind so long as this could be consistent with the maintenance of his own favorable position. It must be remembered that no man in the kingdom built more on this latter object than the king himself. No man was less a partisan of Countess Ellenburg and of young Alexis than the husband of the one and the father of the other. The royal line—the line which boasted Bourbon blood—was for the king the only line of Stefanovics.

Of the attack prepared against him the prince knew nothing—nothing even of the king's mind having been turned against the Baroness Dobrava, whom so short a time ago he had delighted to honor; nothing, of course, of Stafnitz's audacious coup nor of the secret plan which Stenovics and the colonel had made and of which Mistitch was to be the instrument. Of all the salient features of the situation, then, he was ignorant, and his ignorance was shared by those about his person. On the other hand, Stenovics had his finger on every thread save one—the Lepage-Zerkovitch thread, if it may so be called. This was important, but its importance might be nullified if Mistitch made good speed.

On the whole, the odds were much in favor of the coterie, if by any means they could prevent the king from coming alive and free to Slavna the game would be theirs. If he did come alive and free, their game would probably be up. His presence would mean a hard fight or a surrender, and Slavna had no stomach for such a fight, though it would be piously thankful to be rid of Sergius, whether as prince or king, without the necessity of an ordeal so severe.

As a preliminary to the summonses he anticipated, and to a possible stay of some days with his father at Slavna, the prince had details to discuss and routine business to transact with Lukovitch, the captain of his battery in Volsenl. He was early on horseback. Sophy and Mary von Hollbrandt (Mary to stay at the castle was to end the next day) rode with him as far as the gates of the city. There they left him and turned down into the plain to enjoy a canter on the banks of Lake Talfi. The three were to meet again for the mid-day meal at Pradok. Marie Zerkovitch had been ailing and kept her bed in the morning. The prince's mounted grand aide-de-camp and his friends of Volsenl for the sake of exercising their horses. In the castle there were only Marie Zerkovitch and the servants. The prince did not anticipate that any message would come from the palace before noon at the earliest.

Morning avocations pursued their usual peaceful and simple course at the castle. Old Vassip, his wife and the maids did their cleaning. Peter Vassip saw to his master's clothes, and then, to save his father labor, began to sluice the wooden causeway. The stablemen groomed their horses. They had been warned that the prince might want another mount later in the day, Marie Zerkovitch lay in her bed, sleeping soundly after a restless night. There seemed no hint of trouble in the air. It must be confessed that up to now it looked as though Praslok would be caught napping.

It was Peter Vassip, busy on the causeway, who first saw Zerkovitch.

"I must see the prince," he cried, "and immediately!"

He rested and leaned on his mop to watch the head which rose over the hill, the body that followed, the farm horse lumbering along in a slow, clumsy, unwilling gallop. The man was using stick and spur. He was riding mercilessly. Peter ran down to the road and waited. A groom came across from the stables and joined him.

"He's got no call to treat the horse like that, whoever he is," the groom observed.

"Not unless he's on urgent business," said Peter, twirling the water from his mop.

Zerkovitch was up to them. He leaped from his horse. "I must see the prince," he cried, "and immediately!"

"The prince is at Volsenl, sir. He rode over to see Captain Lukovitch."

"When will he be back?"

"We don't expect him till 12 o'clock."

Zerkovitch snatched out his watch.

"There's nobody here but Mme. Zerkovitch, sir. She's still in bed, not very well, sir."

"I've v'clock!" muttered Zerkovitch, paying no heed to the news about his wife.

"The baroness and Baron von Hollbrandt are out riding"—

"Can you give me a fresh horse? I must ride on and find the prince at Volsenl."

"Oh, yes, sir!" He signed to the groom. "And hurry up!" he added.

"The guard's here of course?"

"No, sir; they've gone with the prince."

Zerkovitch twisted his head irritably and again looked at his watch. "There must be time," he said. "They can't be here at soonest for an hour and a half."

Peter Vassip did not understand him, but neither did he venture to ask questions.

"Your horse 'll be here in a minute, sir. I think you'll find the prince in his office over the city gate. He went to do business, not to drill, this morning."

Zerkovitch looked at him for a moment, wondering perhaps whether he would be wise to tell his news. But what was the use of telling Peter Vassip? Or his own wife? What could she do? It was for the prince to say who should be told. The one thing was to find the prince. There was time—at the very least an hour and a half.

The groom brought the fresh horse, and Zerkovitch began to mount.

"A glass of wine, sir?" Peter Vassip suggested. He had marked Zerkovitch's pale face and strained air. He had wondered to see his clothes sprinkled with white brown flecks, traces of the sack under whose cover he had slid out of Slavna.

Zerkovitch was in the saddle. "No," he answered, "but a bumper. Peter, when I've found the prince." He set spurs to his horse and was off as a gallop for Volsenl. The road, though high on the hills, was nearly level now.

Peter scratched his head as he looked after him for a moment. Then he returned to his mop.

He was just finishing his task, some twenty minutes later, when he heard Sophy's laugh. She and Hollbrandt came from a lane which led up from the lake and joined the main road a hundred yards along toward Volsenl. Peter ran and took their horses, and they mounted the causeway in leisurely, pleasant chat. Sophy was in her sheepskin uniform. Her cheeks were pale, but the star glowed. The world seemed good to her that morning.

"And that is roughly the story of my life," she said, with a laugh, as she reached the top of the causeway and leaned against the rude balustrade which ran up the side of it.

"A very interesting one, even very remarkable," he said, returning her laugh. "But much more remains to be written, I don't doubt, baroness."

"Something perhaps," said Sophy.

"A good deal, I imagine."

SPRING HATS

OUR HATS ALWAYS PLEASE!

The man who comes here with preconceived ideas as to what he wants in a hat, will have no trouble in satisfying himself

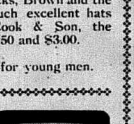
The man who comes with an open mind will find choosing easy, for we've all the correct shapes here, and we'll take pleasure in assisting him in selecting a becoming hat at a price he'll willingly pay.

Derbys in Blacks, Brown and the new Greens — such excellent hats as Christy's, Cook & Son, the Water Lite, Townsend and New York Knickerbocker at $2, $2.50 and $3.00.

Soft Hats in the newest colors and shapes.

We've the conservative blocks, and also the smart styles for young men.

Collars and Cuffs



We handle only TRADE MARK Collars and Cuffs, as we are sure they are pure linen and the shapes are always right. We keep full lines of Men and Boys' Collars in all the popular styles, and every new thing in Collars is always to be found here.

MEN'S FINE TAILORED GARMENTS

Our idea of satisfactory Tailoring is not the "Bargain idea". The man who knows anything about good tailoring knows that he must give a fair price for good tailoring. A good fitting, well made suit of clothes will be remembered long after the price is forgotten.

While our prices are as low as the grade of work we turn out will allow, we do not place particular stress on prices. Good tailors must be paid fair prices, and it's the quality of our work we try to impress you with.

We're fussing out the sort of garments a man can wear with pride—feel that he is perfectly fitted and dressed in good taste.

Our Suit prices range from $15.00 to $25.00.

Overcoats, $15.00 to $25.00. Trousers, $3.75 to $7.00.

All the new suitings are now in. The sooner you make your selection the larger range you have to select from.

We are always pleased to show new goods.

house. Chaucer himself was also at Woodstock; but I missed meeting him—else he missed me—by a matter of 500 years, or so. I'm sorry, I could so well have liked to meet the old fellow. O. Cromwell is another great man that has been "done" to death. Even the Duke of Marlborough and Sir Walter Scott; but we all, some how, missed seeing each other. However, I'm glad that all the burden of this vexation was reserved for me, and that they were spared.

At Witney the "lecture" was given in one of the old "Plague houses"; the next day, after I had visited his interesting school, the Master took me into his own residence, wh. is another. These houses were built by Oxford students in the old days of the Black Death. Here thro' the blessing of the Saints, and by living sanitary lives, they escaped death. The houses are marvels of solid construction. After play I was delighted to see the school boys go thro' military evolutions on the village-green.

The parish Church of Handborough is proud of itself because King Charles, the Martyr, halted to pray himself herein when passing for the last time through that part of England.

One week I remained in or near to Oxford, to describe which adequately would require volumes.

London also, like unto which there exists no other place in the whole expanse of this wide world.

Shake-speare's Stratford-on-Avon. I have never seen, albeit I've been all around it; and within ten miles of it. But even supposing I had paid my ten pence, and so covered those ten miles, and supposing then that some erudite scholar of—let us say—of Chicago, were to prove that not Shake-speare at all, but Lord Bacon wrote "Hamlet" and "The Tempest"; "King Lear" and "Othello" and all the wonderful rest,—wrote them in his moments of idleness, to relieve and divert him from—why then how looked I should feel,—and my ten pence gone!

The "Beaver" is a most welcome visitor here among the roaring British Lions. From its columns I rejoice to learn that Newburgh has a Bank. For my part, —and I trust the other citizens of that classic vicinity will feel it also ever a bounden duty to borrow all the cash we possibly can from that bank.

Yours faithfully,

GEO. ANSON AYLESWORTH.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this personal experience, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Cauiffon, Ont. — "I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through her personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life." — Mrs. Letitia Blair, Cauiffon, Ontario.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Blair.

AN OLD TIME HAPPENING.

Editor Napanee Beaver :—

Dear Sir,—There is a short chapter of Canadian History which you will not find in any of the school histories. Knowing the interest which the Beaver has taken in gathering and publishing local events of the olden time, I take the liberty of sending it to you. It may be classed with the Battle of the Windmill at Prescott, as one of the closing scenes of the Mackenzie Rebellion of 1837-8, although not so serious in its results.

Having met with no better success on the Niagara frontier than at Montgomery's tavern, it seems that Mackenzie turned his steps eastward and planned a fresh attack on Kingston over the frozen river in the winter of 1838. For some reason the attack was not made although the soldiers and citizens of the Limestone City were quite prepared to receive him and any who might choose to accompany him.

Two Hibsters, Hill Johnston, a Canadian, and Van Rensselaer, an American, did, however, get a large number of "patriots" collected at Hickory Island, below Gananoque, but these nearly all dispersed when they heard that the volunteers militia were ready to march against them.

Bill Johnston and a few kindred spirits, however, remained in their hiding places among the Thousand Islands, and from the vicinity of the authorities of the law, and living the lives of pirates and outlaws for a time. They took possession of the steamer Sir Robert Peel, and after robbing the passengers and plundering the ship, set fire to her.

They also came in boats to the south shore of Amherst Island, and on the dead hours of the night made an attack on the house of Mr. Peter Dorland. One of the guard, the cousin of the latter and then proceeded to rob and plunder the inmates. Mrs. Dorland managed, however, to elude the guard and get into the house and alarm Bill and his gang of ruffians met with a warm reception from Preston and his brave sons, one of whom was slightly wounded in a pistol duel. The Patriots beat a hasty retreat when the alarm was given. The wanton attack aroused the whole country, and a battalion of militia was soon called out. Had not other events called the latter out of their homes, and had it not been for the hands of those hardy pioneers, there would no doubt have rendered effective service. The Great Western of Waterloo had been sent twenty days before with exactly the same kind of errand, but the Patriot enemy no doubt considering the circumstances the better part of valor left again from our shores.

The men who in troubl some hour stood ready to defend their country and their homes, have not answered the last roll call — but their names and their memories will long be remembered with gratitude by Amherst Island.

The barracks in which they were quartered has long since disappeared and the stone house above referred to, situated on the North Road on the farm since owned by Captain Hedry Saunders, is now an unoccupied ruins, so temporal mutantur.

I am indebted to the late D. H. Preston, Esq., for all the following list of the members of the volunteer company. Mr. Preston was one of the last of the very few surviving members. It was upon his father's house that the raid referred to was made.

The following is a list of names enrolled in the Amherst Island Volunteer Company, organized in November, 1838, for active service under command of Captain Cummings:—John S. Cummings, Captain; William Douglas Hale, 1st Lieutenant; John Hodgson, 2nd Lieutenant; Robert Bell, Paymaster-Sergeant; James Preston, Sergeant; Hugh Spring, Sergeant; Joseph Gonne, Henry Davy, Thomas Treleaven, John Treleaven, Samuel McMath, Hugh McMath, Thomas Cousins, Anthony Howe, William Cousins, James McMath, Thomas Woodside, William Patterson, Hugh McMullen, Ernest McMullen, William Gibson, John Gibson, William Gibson, Archibald Hutton, James Annet, William Clark, John McGoodd, Jas. McGood, John Pentland, Hugh Patterson, David H. Preston, Alexander Spiers, Hugh Higgins, James Castell, John McClintor, Edward Allen, William Irvine, Frances McMaster, Samuel McWaters, Samuel Smith, John Tindall, John McKenty, John McCabe, Thomas Murray, James Scott, Samuel Barry, Francis Clan-tell, John Dingenberry, John Weller, Stephen Sherwell, James Finigan, Jacob Baker, Philip Baker, James Castell Welsh, John McVeen, Samuel Glen, James Strain, James McFadden, John Larek, Antoine Lavarnac, Thomas Lavarnac, Andrew Finlay, William Kinsley, Joseph Reed, James Brown, Jr., John Glidden, James Finnie, John Brookmire, Augustus Haigbitz, James Hobbs.

JAS CUMBERLAND

Stella, March 20th, 1909.

SUSPICIOUS.

Senator Penrose, a few days before he set out on his hunting trip to the Rockies, said of a political movement to a political reporter in Philadelphia:

"Their words are suspicious, like the words of a wine merchant and his wife.

"This couple were inspecting a building on the Penrose estate that they thought of renting. The water was, unfortunately, poor.

Tasting the water, frowning and shaking his head, the merchant said:

"It would do, at a pinch, for my inferior wines; but how about my choice and vintage wines?"

Couldn't you filter it?" the wife asked.

We deeply regret losing our old and esteemed neighbors in the persons of Mr. George Matthews and family, who intend moving to their new home near Bath next week. We wish them every success.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Quinn, Sulphide, spent Sunday at her father's, Mr. T. Flynn.—We are pleased to announce that Mr. Pat. Quinn is improving from a severe illness.—Miss Lizzie McDonald, Tamworth, has been the guest of Miss M. E. Quinn, during the past week.—Mr. Robt. Finn and sister Grace left on Sunday to visit friends in Read.—Mr. Pat. Hayes, of Napanee is visiting his daughter, Mrs. St. Finn.—Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Gee spent Sunday in our midst.—A few young folks from one of our neighboring towns, passed through here on the 17th, who seemed to be taking every possible way of celebrating Paddy's own day.

YOU CAN CURE CATARRH.

I. H. TAYLOR, 54 BOND ST., TORONTO, BREATHED HYOMEI AND CURED A LONG STANDING CASE OF CHRONIC CATARRH THAT DEFIED ALL OTHER REMEDIES. ALSO TO BONTE AND NEW YORK SPECIALISTS.

Without taking a drop of medicine into the stomach. I. H. Taylor, 54 Bond Street, Toronto, tells how the distressing troubles of Catarrh were overcome by simply inhaling Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) from the little pocket inhaler. He knows of thousands similar cases on record, proving that Hyomei can be depended upon to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Croup. It has no equal for any distress of the breathing organs.

Mr. Taylor says:—Some years ago while on a hunting trip in Northern Canada, I contracted a severe cold that settled in my head and finally affected me throat. It rapidly developed into catarrh and caused me miserable throat weakness. My head would become clogged during the night and there was a constant dropping from the nose into the throat. Many times I could hardly get enough breath to breathe other than through my mouth, and the constant hawking and spitting was annoying and unbearable. I had been treated by the best throat specialists here and in New York, but nothing relieved me until finally I obtained Hyomei and so on. I used it, the throat dropping ceased and my head began to clear. I continued with Hyomei for six weeks after that time I was well in every particular. There has been no return of the trouble since, and I feel grateful in speaking well of Hyomei as it cured me when all else failed.

A complete outfit costs $1.00, and includes a hard rubber inhaler, which makes it impossible to breathe other than through the mouth, and the constant inhaling of Hyomei soon reaches the affected parts. Dropping of the throat, hawking and spitting are overcome, and the sufferer breathes freely and naturally. Hyomei is sold by druggists everywhere, or by The R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N.Y., Fort Erie, Ont. Don't waste time with sprays, inhalers, etc., that are only makeshifts. Hyomei is guaranteed to cure or money back.

WALNUT GROVE.

Several of the neighbors are tapping their trees, which makes us think that spring is here.—Mr. Robt. Colville has returned home from Kingston Hospital much improved.—Mr. James Boire had a bee saving wood on Monday.—Miss Marguerite Baker, Millhaven, spent a few days with her cousin, Miss Bella Bell.—Mr. Wm. Hartman, Kingston, is spending this week at O. Snider's.—Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Bell went home to a number of their relief friends on Thursday evening.—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ames, Mr. Hayes, spent Sunday at J. H. Sharpe's.—Miss Phoebe Miller met a few days on Kingston with friends.—Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sharpe visited Sunday last at Selby, with her brother Mr. Fred Wagar.—Mr. Wm. James is all smiles; it's a boy.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kellar and Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson spent Monday evening at D. Thompson's.

After Sickness

Vinol Built up Strength for a Bowmanville, Ontario, Man After all Other Means Had Failed.

I was sick with pleura-pneumonia for twelve weeks, and after I got around I did not gain very fast, and took nine bottles of Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, but the pains in my lungs were still there. I was in Bury & Lovell's drug store and they recommended Vinol, so I tried a bottle and before I had finished the first bottle the pains were all gone and I was getting stronger, and then I took another bottle, and now I am well, thanks to Vinol.—John D. Graham, Bowmanville, Ontario.

This is because Vinol is the best cod liver and iron tonic in the world. It creates a hearty appetite, strengthens the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood and replaces weakness with strength. The beneficial effect of on Vinol in cases of feeble old people is simply remarkable.

We invite all old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, convalescents, or those suffering from chronic colds, coughs, or bronchitis in this vicinity to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it does no good. We make this offer to show our faith in Vinol. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

LETTER FROM REV. JACOB CLANCY.

Chicago, Ill., March 10th, 1909.

Dear Editor,—Having a chance, by your permission, to get far more than the worth of the extra fifty cents, of which it costs us all over here in Uncle Sam's domains, for the splendid Beaver which to us away off here in this noisy busy city almost day and night, no paper is so welcome to us as the Napanee Beaver. It tells to us more than a dozen letters could from each locality where there is a correspondent to the paper. Nearly all the localities represented I have been more or less acquainted with for at least fifty years.

I left my home in Albion, Michigan, on the 15th of January. I came to Chicago to spend the winter with five of our ten children. Have been preaching and gospel singing in many churches and Missions, in halls such as the most noted Pacific garden mission, which has large gatherings every night during the whole year, supported and managed by a very wealthy widow lady, Mrs. Clark. She has one of the most efficient singing and preaching evangelists that I have ever met, by name Musson. He has full control of the inviting preachers and singing. And such singing led by him and accompanied by a fine organ and joined in by the large assembly, is most inspiring. Hundreds of noted men such as lawyers, doctors, professional teachers, and many others, represented from near by every part of the civilized world have gone down down through strong drink, and have become as they say mere wrecks to their families and themselves. These have reformed and have withstood the awful temptation of strong drink for a number of years. Quite a number of this class from my old beloved Canadian home have been induced by the faithful efforts of these noble workers to start in the new life, and have become good citizens. And again I have been requested to sing and address large congregations in the called rescue homes for fallen girls, and by far the greater number are making commencement of only the few dozen there, but many of these are addressed the outcasts of the great institutions full of sin. Of the two congregations were dismissed, that this year's girls from nearly every state in the Union and Canada represented. Many of those the matrons told us were girls from good, well-to-do families, lawyers, doctors, clergymen, ministers, and many others whose parents in prominent future at one time, but now ashamed of their lives have to many cases came to these rescue homes for saving in the sat made a solemn vow before God to lead a new life, and how to every friend of wife much freedom. Many of these that we speak of their parents do not and never will publish their names. Many of these have been. May we, who have escaped a like fate be more than ever thankful to Almighty God.

Many thanks, Mr. Editor.

I remain yours,

JACOB CLANCY.

Lost Energy
Restored by Psychine.

Mr. Geo. Pratt, of Clarkson, Ont., says: "Four years ago my son Wilbert was run down, thin and emaciated, that we thought he was going into a decline, and fearing he would never pull through the severe cold of the winter months. The boy had no appetite and seemed to have lost all energy and interest in life. He was altogether in terribly bad shape. His condition caused us the greatest anxiety.

"Fortunately I procured PSYCHINE for him and this soon gave him a new lease of life. It is really remarkable how rapidly this splendid medicine br ught about a change. After taking one or two bottles he was hardly recognizable as the same youth. PSYCHINE effected a speedy cure and he was soon able to work about on the farm again. To-day he is a robust young fellow, and is saying that, stronger than he looked. Nothing in the way of hard work seems to affect him. I cannot speak too highly of PSYCHINE. It certainly saved our boy and made a man of him."

Pre-eminently children rising cold, wards off that terrible malady La Grippe and complet ly fortifies them against disease. It should always be used for colds, grippe, we rincss, loss of appetite, etc. Send to Dr. T. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Spa ina Ave., Toronto. Sold by all druggists and dealers, 50c and $1.00.

A Medicine For the Spring

Do Not Dose With Purgatives A Tonic is all You Need.

Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That's the way most people feel in the spring. Easily tired; appetite poor; sometimes headaches and a feeling of depression. Perhaps pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. All of them indicate that the blood is out of order; that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble. Don't doser yourself with purgatives, as many people foolishly do in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. What you need in spring is a tonic that will make new blood and build up the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the tonic medicine that can do this speedily, safely and surely. Every dose of this medicine helps to make new blood, which reaches the skin, strengthens the appetite, and makes tired depressed men and women bright active and strong. Mrs. Mary C. Aver, Ward Brook, N. S., says:—"I cannot speak too highly in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was weak and run down and quite unable to work. I often had headaches, and my appetite was poor. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time there was a marked improvement, and to-day I am in better health than I have been for years."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STARTLING STATEMENT

IT'S STATEMENTS LIKE THAT OF H. HEWMAN SUTTON, ONT., THAT IS MAKING MILONA WORLD FAMOUS FOR DYSPEPSIA STOMACH COMPLAINTS.

Mr. H. Heyman, 132 Colborne St., Kingston, Ont., says:—Milo-na is worth its weight in gold as a remedy to quickly cure long-standing cases of dyspepsia. For years I had suffered with my stomach and could find no cure nor even relief. I could not eat anything, as it would sour and form gas in my stomach that had a pressure on the heart. Heavy pains would come around my sides and pit of my stomach. I was unable to sleep for this and there was nothing to relieve my miserable condition. I was weak and languid and would feel as tired in the morning as on going to bed and perspiration would break out all over my body. I would be so weak from vomiting that I would faint to my knees. Medical would advise and speak of dizziness would leave me unable to see. Doctors had termed the trouble gastritis, but failed to benefit me. I tried Milo-na on advice of a friend, which has done me when all else failed. I am sound and well and feel grateful to Milo-na for my present health.

The known results obtained by Milo-na that places it far and away above all other remedies and confirms T. B. Wallace in its offering to refund the money if Milo-na fails to cure stomach trouble. 50 cents a box. Relief in twenty-four hours.

HANDS COVERED WITH ECZEMA

"For three weeks I actually had to be fed like one feeds a baby, because my hands and arms were so covered with eczema that they had to be bound up all the time."

That is the experience of Miss Violet M. McSorley, of 75 Gore Street, Sault Ste. Marie. She adds:—"I could not hold spoon nor fork. From finger tips to elbows the dreaded disease spread, my finger nails came off and my flesh was one raw mass. The itching and the pain were almost harrassing. I had three months of this torture and at one time amputation was discussed."

"Zam-Buk alone saved my hands and arms. I persevered with it and in the end had my reward. To-day, I am cured—completely cured—of even a trace of the dreaded eczema, and I fervently hope that sufferers from skin disease may know of my case and that the miracle Zam-Buk has worked."

Zam-Buk is without equal for eczema, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, piles, cuts, burns, scalds, cold sores, chapped places, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for same price. You are warned against dangerous substitutes sometimes offered as "just as good."

TO THE PUBLIC

As I have retired my carriage factory and installed new and improved machinery, I am prepared to take orders for any kind of vehicles, and finish them with all speed.

I have a number of finished buggies, Surreys, Stanhopes and Waggons of different styles on hand, which will sell at greatly reduced rates, or can do any kind of repairing at shortest notice. Repainting, trimming and upholstering carriages a specialty.

Thanking the public for past patronage and soliciting a continuance of the same, I remain,

Respectfully,

HAY BAY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The coming of spring has shown a noticeable increase in attendance at the sanctuary in the above church. Several expressed their appreciation of Mr. Mitchell's address on the unfruitful fig tree, in which he pointed out the need for men of action in the spiritual as well as in the commercial world. He pointed to the fact that too many were missing all that was highest and best in life, through their indifference to the claims of humanity and to their own responsibilities and duties in life. Next Sunday he announced the subject would be "and they," all with one consent began to make excuses," stating that some of the local excuses for neglect of duty would be taken up and dealt with. The service therefore promises to be of unusual interest.

DIED IN LONDON

Baby Grace Stevens, the only daughter of Professor W. D. Stevens, London, Ont., the well known musician, and formerly leader of Bennett's Theatre orchestra, died Monday evening, at the home of her parents, 666½ Dundas street, aged 2 years and 4 months. The little girl was taken ill on Sunday with an attack of croup, and later developed pneumonia. Her father has been in Chicago for some days, and it was the intention of the family to move to that city this morning. She was considered a prodigy by musicians, and would certainly have established a reputation for herself in the musical world. When the little girl was taken ill Mr. Stevens was immediately wired and phoned, but was unable to reach the city before her death.

MOSCOW.

A large number assembled at the house of Mr. O'Neil to give them a send off before moving to their new home.—Those on the sick list, we are happy to say, are improving.—Major Amey has bought a fine Battery horse from Col. Young, of Kingston.—Mrs. Evans entertained a few friends last week.—The sawing machine has been in the neighborhood.—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Asselstine visited at Sydenham last Sunday.—Rev. Sexsmith will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning.—Mr. Ira Amey was visiting here last week.—The sleighing is going very fast, and there is some appearance of sugar weather.

CHALLENGE FOR SPEECH.

As a result of the wrestling match which was given in the Opera House, on Monday last, and in which Mr. Thompson, of Petersboro', claims he was unfairly treated on the referee giving the match to Mr. Hughes, of Napanee, Mr. Hughes wishes me to state through the columns of the paper that he is willing at any time to meet Mr. Mortimer on a public or private wrestling match, for any sum from one to five dollars a side.

NEW SPRING STOCK.

The best QUARTS and the greatest EXTRA HEAVY QUEBEC TRUSS prices up to $15.00. The KINDEL BED is attracting a great deal of attention, because it is the greatest invention in novelty ways in household furnishings. It combines a comfortable bed and a very handsome davenport in one piece. It is well worth seeing even if you do not wish to buy one at the present time. Our new Spring stock is nearly all on our floors and is most complete.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Saturday, March 20th, Tweed lost one of its most respected citizens, and the R. C. church one of its ablest and most devoted supporters, by the death of Mrs. Wm. Breen. Although she had been in poor health for some time yet her demise came suddenly and unexpectedly. It was indeed a shock to her relatives and friends, and the surrounding community, to hear of her death. Deceased was very industrious and much respected by those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and from the midst of a life of activity and usefulness, she was called suddenly and quietly away at noon on Saturday, having succumbed to an attack of tuberculosis. Her funeral took place on Monday, one of the longest ever seen in Tweed, followed the remains from St. Carthage R. C. Church to Tweed, where a solemn requiem mass had been sung by Rev. Fr. Quinn, to Stoco vault. Mrs. Breen was a daughter of Mrs. Thos. Cunningham, Napanee, and besides her sorrowing mother leaves a husband and four small children, to mourn her loss.

SELBY.

The Rev. Mr. Ensley's lecture came off as advertised, and was highly appreciated. Mr. and Mrs. Will Jackson, Mrs. John Fristed and Mr. J. C. Hudgins were responsible for the music and the audience were just simply delighted with the two quartettes given by these people. Miss Carrie Knapp presided at the organ, and did her part well. The social part was held in the basement previous to the lecture. Refreshments were served, consisting of cake, sandwiches and coffee. Immediately after the refreshments Mr. Hall Hudgins called the platform and read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Thos. V. Sexsmith
Dear Brother and Sister,—Understanding that you are about to sever your connection with Selby church and Selby Circuit, your many friends here desire to express to you in few words their great sorrow and deep sense of loss at your departure.

You, Brother Sexsmith, for many years have been one of the standard bearers of the church on Selby circuit, being a member of the Quarterly Board, and you leave your pastor most faithful in the discharge of all the duties devolving upon you, ever considerate and standing as you believed for everything that would be for the best interests of the church Selby circuit.

And Sister Sexsmith, you have been a good and faithful helpmate all these years, ever attending church services sometimes at great inconvenience to yourself, but you always looked after the comfort of the socials and teamettings, and always manage early and assisted at the preparation of the tables, and always brought a well filled basket with you, and if any remained you would not be slow to suggest a gift to the poor.

But principally at the W. M. S. will you be missed. You have been their honored President for several years, and very much of the success attending their efforts are due to your faithful service, wise counsel and self-denying effort, in helping forward such a grand and glorious cause.

And even in view of the very important positions that both of you have occupied, and the willing and faithful service you have rendered, we ask you to accept these substantial chairs, but as any reward for the service rendered, but as a slight token of our esteem and respect, and we sincerely hope in the days to come, that you will find real comfort sitting in those chairs, that you will live long and be happy and that you may be made a very great blessing to the neighborhood where your future home is to be, and also that you will have real pleasant memories of your old friends in Selby.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith made a suitable reply, and with tears in their eyes expressed the great sorrow it gave them in leaving Selby, and the pleasure it gave them to know that they were so much appreciated by the people of Selby as shown by the substantial gift made in the shape of chairs.

Votes of thanks were given to Rev. Mr. Ensley, and also to the singers.

NEWBURGH.

The Epworth League social on Monday evening was a very gratifying success. A large number attended and were treated to an excellent programme, followed by refreshments daintily dished yet abundantly served by the Social committee. Rev. Mr. Sexsmith presided, and there were vocal solos by Misses A. Switzer, F. Patterson and V. Clancy and Mr. Wood; recitations by Mrs. J. S. Cornwall and Misses C. Wagar and J. Brandon; piano duets by the Misses Nesbit, and Misses Patterson and Switzer; vocal duets by Mrs. G. H. Thomson and Miss Nesbit, and Messrs. D. H. Shorey and W. Moore; a chorus by the younger members of the League, and a reading by Mrs. H. Finkle, of Napanee. Altogether it was a most enjoyable evening.

High School Inspector, Mr. W. J. Wetherell, made an official visit at the High School last week.

Sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Bolin, of the Commercial Hotel who lost, their baby of fourteen months, on Thursday of last week through an attack of pneumonia. Moving time seems to have come a month earlier than usual this year. Considerable activity of this kind is in evidence. Mr. W. W. Adams is removing to his new premises over the tailoring establishment, having fitted the house with every modern convenience, and made many improvements. Mr. John Dunn, formerly a resident here, is removing his family from Centreville into the house of H. Miller house. Mr. Wm. Nugent has purchased from Mrs. Lamb, of Vallefield, the residence at present occupied by Mr. McKim, and will take possession shortly.

Revs. J. Gandier and M. E. Sansmith and Mr. Jas. Thomson are in attendance this week at the Laymen's Missionary Congress in Toronto.

On Thursday of last week Mr. Percy Nesbit was on the sick list, but recovered to be a severe attack of appendicitis. He was promptly taken to the hospital, where he underwent an operation on Saturday. The keenest regret at Percy's misfortune was shown throughout the whole village and his many friends are glad to know of his favorable condition at present. He was removed from the hospital to the home of his father and Dr. Symons, the latter remaining until Wednesday, and during this trouble to attend the Misses Nesbit's invalid mother, to prevent the latter from learning of the illness of her son.

The Methodist layfolk are very much exercised over the proposition that the Dominion Bank at Napanee, to the detriment of the Newburgh branch, has decided to transfer the banking business of the latter from the Dominion Bank at Napanee, to the Standard Bank here. Mr. Allen, manager of the Dominion Bank, and Mr. Fraser of the Standard Bank, were heard in regard to the proposition. The decision made will in every way be prejudicial to the convenience of the patrons and to the business of the village.

There is already activity in the direction of work at the cemetery. Superintendent Mr. Carter is already making plans for this season's improvements, and although some of the superficial trees have been removed, Resolutions have been adopted for the management of the ground, and it is hoped for the co-operation of lot holders and the public. It is proposed to place the cemetery in a thoroughly modern condition.

We are to have still another evidence of the enterprise and public spirit of one of our leading business men. Mr. H. H. Finkle has purchased from the Rapid Motor Vehicle Co., of Pontiac, Michigan, a magnificent motor car, with which he will operate a motor bus line between Newburgh and Kingston, also Napanee and Odessa. This will be particularly convenient for those who will desire to attend the Kingston fairs. The car itself is one of the finest that can be built, has a seating capacity of twenty, and fitted with Pullman upholstered seats. Leaving Newburgh about 9 a.m., the car will make a return trip to Napanee at 11.30, and return to Kingston in time to have again at 4 p.m. for Newburgh and on two days of the week two complete round trips will be made. It is expected that the line will start about the first of May. Mr. Frank Tomlinson, of this place, has been engaged as chauffeur, and he leaves this week for Pontiac to undergo a training in the management of the car. Mr. Alfred Laidlaw, formerly a very popular conductor on the Bay and Quinte Railway, will be conductor on the car, and these two appointments are sufficient to guarantee the efficiency of the service. The arrangement of the timetable will make it possible to reach the morning boats at Napanee from here, and will also permit passengers on the 6.40 p.m., east-bound train, to reach Newburgh from Napanee the same night. Mr. Finkle is to be congratulated on his enterprise in thus establishing the first motor service line of the kind in Eastern Ontario and perhaps in the Province.

OBITUARY.

Arthur Baxter died at his home, Yarker, on Monday, March 29th, after a long illness of Bright's disease, aged 46 years. He was born at Maneiver Manor, Warwickshire, England; the youngest child of the late Stadford Stanton Baxter. After travelling all over the world, he settled in Yarker in 1878, and in 1879 he married Alley Herrington, by whom he had two daughters, Alice Edith, at home, and Mrs. Joseph Bell, of Church's Ferry, New York. For 34 years Mr. Baxter held a confidential position with the Benjamin Manufacturing Co. He was a Conservative in politics and an Anglican in religion, being churchwarden for 27 years and treasurer for 25 years, retaining his position during his last illness. The funeral service was held in St. Andrew's church, Yarker, Rev. Kennedy officiating at 10 o'clock, being conducted by the rector, Rev. R. E. Sanderson. The remains were taken to Camden East for interment to be made at Yarker.

DON'T PHYSIC YOURSELF

It is a Tonic you want! Physicing lowers the system and makes it more susceptible to disease. The winter months have been a great strain upon your vitality and unless you put the blood in good condition all manner of evils will overtake you. PSYCHINE is the Greatest of Tonics and should be taken by every one at this season of the year. PSYCHINE assists the gastric juices and ferments in their digestion of the food, cleanses the mucous membrane of the Stomach, and has an invigorating and beneficial effect on the mucous membranes and nerves. For Catarrh of the Stomach, Ulceration or Weak Stomach, Dyspepsia, the use of PSYCHINE is strongly advisable.

PSYCHINE acting on the Stomach restores it to a healthy condition, then acts through the stomach upon all the vital organs, creates an appetite, bringing renewed vitality and strength to the entire system and enables it to throw off disease of every kind. It is the greatest healthgiver known to medical science.

Send to Dr. J. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Toronto, for a free Sample Bottle. All druggists and stores sell PSYCHINE at 50c and $1 per bottle.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. JOHN URQUHART, D.D., EDITOR OF THE INTERNATIONAL NEWSPAPER BIBLE STUDY CLUB FOR APRIL 4th, 1909.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

Acts 3:1-18.

Golden Text.—In every nation he that feareth him and worketh righteousness, is accepted of him.—Acts 3:35.

Verses 1-8.—Was a devout Roman in those days a well pleasing to God as was a devout Jew?

Can you give any reason to-day why God is not as well pleased with a devout Roman Catholic, as he is with a devout Protestant, or vice versa?

What reason is there for or against the idea, that revelations and visions were given to devout men of all nations in those days, as well as the Jews?

Was it well in nine and profitable to have certain set times for prayer, or is it better to be always in the spirit of prayer and let our needs, or the Holy Spirit, direct us to special times for prayer?

Are people who are not seeking for true visions, likely to have them?

The eating of the flesh of those animals, or most of them, which Peter saw in the vision, is forbidden in the old testament: how do we account for it, that the voice of God, and the spirit of God do not waver in this one?

Peter in the first instance stuck to his own ideas and refused to obey the voice of God; was he right or wrong in so doing?

Must we, in thought, be bound in all things by the letter, when it kills the Spirit, and refuse to obey any direction of the Holy Spirit to the contrary?

Verses 12-21.—Does God blame us if we can't see that we are responsible for the way we act up then?

When God gives a revelation that is not contradictory, clear, and we depart he has to arrange circumstances to bring about the revelation to clear up the doubt, as in this case?

Verse 19.—Conversion unto God, or an accepted child of God?

Verses 20-26.—What is the meaning of man's acceptance with God, according to Peter's statement here?

According to the suggestion a verse 19, should we have a second thought about preaching, his death and resurrection; is it at all unlikely that he was a believer in it?

Verses 19-26.—What is the meaning of "Holy Spirit falling on" certain persons?

Excepting the gift of tongues, are all visitations, alleged to be from the Holy Ghost as these persons did?

Verses 25-26.—Christianity is the only religion which ever received the Holy Ghost as a gift.

DENTAL LAVATORIES IN SLEEPING CARS.

Some of the Western railroads have been calling attention to dental lavatories recently that have been introduced in sleeping cars on their lines. As a matter of fact, Pullman's Company has decided to provide in all new sleeping cars that they build, and in all the present sleeping cars that they can put through the shops, dental lavatories which will doubtless be much appreciated by travellers. All are already some of the Pullman sleeping cars operated over the Grand Trunk Railway System are provided with this new and special sanitary feature.

WM. N. ROBERTS.

Again on Friday the Masons followed to the grave one who though long a resident here had maintained his connection with his old Lodge at Harrowsmith. William N. Roberts, who died on Wednesday, March 31, after a non-debilitable period of illness, was a native of Camden East. The late Mr. Roberts was one of several who were attracted to Renfrew from the Napanee district by the extension of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway to Renfrew. Mr. Roberts was formerly an Ambherst Island and in his youth learned the trade of carpenter at Napanee, had been a journeyman of building operations. For a time he conducted a factory here, suffering heavy loss from fire. His business in the latter he became absorbed by the Renfrew Manufacturing Company, since which Mr. Roberts had engaged in contracting. He was a man of kindly disposition, and for a time occupied a seat at the Lodge board. Hugill. He leaves a widow, three sons, John M., William and Charles, and one daughter, Mrs. W. P. Allum. The Renfrew Mercury.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ARABIAN SULTAN BUYS AMERICAN BOAT.

Motorboating is fast becoming a favorite sport in Arabia. One of the surprises of the New York Motor Boat Show was the order booked by the W. H. Mullins Co., of Salem, Ohio, for a 26-ft. Steel Launch equipped with a 24 H.P. Ferro Motor for the Sultan of Muscat and Oman. This is only another demonstration of the superiority of American motor boats and engines. The order was doubtless received in competition with solicitation and demonstrations by representatives of English launches and engines and Italian boat and engine builders. The Sultan, in a letter accompanying the order, informs the Mullins Co. that if this boat is satisfactory, many additional orders will be placed by members of the royal family.

The boat is equipped with a 25 H. P. Ferro Marine Engine made by the Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, and has been used widely throughout Asia, as well as all over Europe.

The improvements in 1909 Ferro engines attracted much favorable comment at the New York show. The reliet reminder and counter-balance crank shaft reduce friction and wear on parts and insure maximum efficiency from motor. The working parts in the new models are easily accessible.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

At the close of the Epworth League, on Friday evening, March 26th, Mr. Selby, the following address and presentation was made to Delbert Sexsmith, vice-president, who is now leaving for his future home at Camden East.

Dear Delbert, We, your fellow Leaguers at Selby, have learned with deep regret your sudden removal from our midst, and, although you have shown a location not far distant, we realize that it means a severance of that close companionship that has existed since childhood as well as a severance from our League.

We have all admired your faithfulness and devotion to our League. You were so seldom absent. You have been leaders of its welfare. You have filled every office to which you were elected, in a most creditable manner, and as Vice-President, an office which calls for consecrated effort, we feel that you were rightly chosen to fill the honored position, and we sincerely regret that you will no longer be here to preside over this department of our League work.

Our Social, Literary and Missionary departments also offer a loss by your going, for you were always ready and willing to give assistance in any and every way, to advance the interests of this League, of which we all feel so proud.

We could not let you leave without expressing our appreciation of your valuable services, and as a tangible proof of our mutual regard and esteem, we ask you to accept this Bible Dictionary, which we feel sure contains, which is so intrinsic, but as a token of our affection, which we hope to be as real as the little gilt symbolizes.

We wish you happiness and prosperity in your new home, and trust that you will often find time and opportunity to visit your co-leaguers at Selby.

We pray God that He may shower his richest blessings copously upon you, and that He will watch between us while we are absent one from the other.

Signed S/by Epworth League.

"HUMAN HEARTS."

In "Human Hearts," the story told is one of much interest, in which the sympathies of the audience are thoroughly enlisted. Tom Logan, an honest blacksmith living in the hills of Arkansas, is trapped by an adventurous woman of the world, and becomes a defaulter. After a time, and while poor Tom thinks his happiness is secure, her former lover appears on the scene. A murder is committed and through the plottings of this infamous man and woman, the blame is forced on Tom. He discovers the truth, but through fear of the lynching mob, he cannot have himself declared innocent. He disappears, and is presumed dead, and sentenced to Life Imprisonment, where he would have remained, but for the intervention of one of his faithful friends, who bring his case to the notice of the Governor of the State. In the end, of course, all ends happily, and Tom is restored to his former standing in the community. The play is one in which pathos is combined with comedy. The organization presenting "Human Hearts" is under the management of W. F. Nakeville, who has directed its tour most successfully for a number of years. Mr. Nakeville is said to have provided ample scenic display for the production, and to have engaged a splendid company for the portrayal of the various characters. Brisco Opera House, Friday, April 2d.

WILKINSON.

The farmers are glad to see spring again, after a long but pleasant winter. They expect soon to be in the midst of spring sowing. They report the land in good condition, but fear the meadows are considerably injured by the open winter.—J. D. Wilkinson & Son have engaged all their milk drawers for the Wilkinson Creek factory, and expect to start receiving cheese on May 3d. We hope they may have a prosperous year.—Mr. F. E. Wagar and P. A. Mc-Keown were visitors at Peter Finn's on Sunday, March 21st.—Miss Bell is sorry to say Mrs. Amos Storey and Mrs. Wm. Whelan are no better, but failing slowly; also Mr. Joseph Bell is very poorly.—Father O'Reily is very busy making home to those calls, and seems to be very much determined to do his part of the work, and doubtless will succeed in bringing the people and priest closer to each other. Earl Wagar and Willard Hayes were visitors in this section last Sunday night.

MILLINERY OPENING.

THE ROBINSON COMPANY.

Opening Day Displays for day and evening at Robinson's, have become such an established authority on matters pertaining to style that the announcement always brings out many hundreds of interested visitors. When the writer visited the exposition was in full swing. Each department in the house was ready to sightseers and willing salespeople were at hand to direct and point out style features of the display. No one was urged to buy—the Company insist on these semi annual events being perfectly free and easy for the public to inspect. From all points I heard many well merited remarks pertaining to the high class character of the display. The display of Dress Goods and silks was one that will remain fixed in the memory of all who saw it. The leading fabrics were draped artistically with match trimmings. Descriptive cards showed that Robinsons are closely in touch with the last word in style from Paris. The styles of the Mercerian period demand certain fabrics, color and trimmings. Advanced methods of buying enable the Company to show these goods now. I was much interested in middy store display. Irish linen, fresh from the loom, were temptingly displayed. The wash dress goods display if spread out would fill a store alone. Large quantities of up-to-date weaves and colorings. The first floor up was not a bit behind the main floor in attractiveness. Here milady of fashion may select all kinds of ready to wear garments from the white muslin underwear out to the smartly tailored street costume. Back after rack is loaded with garments. New York dresses for the small folk. Princess dresses for evening and summer wear, tailored costumes typical of styles absolutely correct. No wonder Napanee buyers go to leave their own town for anything in good meet wear. Passing thru to the Corset section, I found much to tempt the woman who is getting ready to clean house. Beautiful Corset Covers, daintily trimmed in delicate draperies all were harmonized to make the department a beautiful picture.

Last but not least let me mention the Millinery Department, which was the centre of attraction, and a finer display was never seen in Napanee. Not only was the showroom crowded but a steady throng of buyers kept the staff busy from early morning until late at night.

The large number of pattern hats were very much admired—the most distinctive feature in the new millinery is the large crown. Flowers are used in abundance. The "poke" and the "turban" seem to be the favorite shapes. Old rose, green, blue, taupe, browns and purple are the prevailing colors. Black is very much to the front this season. A striking hat shown was the new "poke" in pale blue net, trimmed with pale pink rose buds on one side with ribbon fastened with gold cabochon on the right, rosette and bow on the back finished this beautiful model. Another much-admired hat was a helmet shape in Black Brim. The brim was covered with jet beads, the crown draped, and at the left side was large bunch of uncurled ostrich feathers. Another exhibition. A number of flower hats were also shown along with a number of street hats.

The children's display of Bonnets and Hats was simply beautiful. The daintiness of color and materials were noticed in these, and much admired.

DONXEE & CO.

As usual Donxee & Co. has an artistic display of fashionable headgear for the ladies. Their store is still much shown. The Directoire Poke, the Dutch Bonnett, also the abatour hat (Lamp shade), also tie with another. Also the Turkish Turban and toques are very popular. Ostrich trimming is very popular, also flowers, large and small. Mephisto Aigrettes and wings are in great demand and are used with charming effect. The leading colors are Parisian Rose, Raspberry shading to Rose Brown to Champagne, Blues, Pinks, gravel Taupe, Black and White both strong.

Two hats which attracted particular attention were the celebrated Gage hat of fine tuscan, poke shape trimmed with gold band, three wings, two feather falling over the side back in Tuscan and white, and one to match completes this beautiful hat. The Leghorn hat made entirely of roses and foliage. This very beautiful in design, is trimmed with small ribbon bows.

FAIR LOUSEY RICH COUNTRY.

Winnipeg, Man.

Inspector Peltier, of the Royal North West Mounted Police, is just preparing a report, for the authorities at Ottawa, on his recent ten months' patrol through the unsettled districts around the west coast of Hudson's Bay. Although he is very reticent on the subject he has admitted enough to let it be known that the country through which he travelled is fabulously rich in many kinds of minerals. If the country is half as rich as the inspector states, Northern Canada will see a rush of prospectors during the present year which has never before been equall-ed in the American continent. At present the great drawback to these mineral deposits is total lack of rail road transportation, but within a few days the Grand Trunk Pacific will start work on its branch line, northwards from Melville, Sask., which will run through the heart of this rich mineral country.

Melville will be the starting point for the rush of prospectors into the Hudson's Bay country. At that town they will assemble and outfit for their trips into the northland, coming from all corners of the continent to the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific line to Hudson's Bay.

However, the rush will begin as soon as the details of Inspector Peltier's report are made public, and those who wish to get in the first will have to endure many hardships over mountain trails, but returning they will be able to travel in style in a pullman car if they so desire.

Western Canada has seen many mineral rushes in the past, but the rush to the Hudson's Bay country will be the greatest of them all. That the country to the north of civilization is rich in minerals, geologists have admitted for years past but the resort now here prepared by Inspector Peltier will relieve information sufficiently definite to make a prospecting trip into the country a profitable venture.

Sophy of Kravonia

by ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

Copyright, 1906, Anthony Hope Hawkins

She shot a mischievous glance at him. She knew that he was trying to lure from her an avowal of her secret. "Who can tell? It all seems like a dream sometimes, and dreams end in sudden awakenings, you know."

"If it's a dream, you make an excellent dream lady, baroness."

Peter Vassip put his mop and pail down by the stables and came up and stood beside them.

"Did the mare carry you well to-day, sir?" he asked Max.

"Admirably, Peter. We had a splendid ride—at least I thought so. I hope the baroness"—

Sophy threw out her arms as though to embrace the gracious world. "I thought it beautiful. I think everything beautiful today. I think you beautiful, Baron von Hollbrandt, and Peter is beautiful, and so is your mother, and so is your father, Peter. And I half believe that, just this morning—this one splendid morning—I'm beautiful myself. Yes, in spite of this horrible mark on my cheek!"

"I bear something," said Peter Vassip.

"Just this morning—this one splendid morning—I agree with you," laughed Max. "Not even the mark shall change my mind! Come, you love the mark—the red star—don't you?"

"Well, yes," said Sophy, with a little confidential nod and smile.

"I bear something," said Peter Vassip, with his hand to his ear.

Sophy turned to him, smiling. "What do you bear, Peter?"

He gave a sudden start of recollection. "Ah, has that anything to do with M. Zerkovitch?"

"M. Zerkovitch!" broke from them both.

"He's been here. He's ridden at a gallop on to Volseni to find the prince." He added briefly all there was to add, his hand at his ear all the time.

"Hum! That looks like news," said Max. "What can it be?"

"He didn't stop even to tell Marie! It must be urgent."

They looked at one another's faces. "Can there be—be anything wrong in Slavna?"

"You mean the troops?"

"I had thought of that."

"I can think of nothing but that. If it were anything from the palace it would come by a royal courier sooner than by any other hand."

"I can hear plainly now," said Peter Vassip. "Listen!"

They obeyed him, but their ears were not so well trained. A dull, indefinite sound was all they could distinguish.

"Horses—a number of them. Mounted men it must be, the hoofs are so regular. Cavalry!"

"It's the prince coming back from Volseni!" cried Sophy.

"No; it's from the other direction, and besides, there are too many for that."

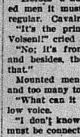
Mounted men on the Slavna road, and too many to be the prince's guard! "What can it be?" asked Sophy in a low voice.

"I don't know. Zerkovitch's arrival must be connected with the same thing, I think."

There are their shakoes coming over the rise of the hill!" cried Peter Vassip.

The next moment showed the company. They rode in fours, with sergeants on the flanks. The officer in command was behind. The three on the causeway could not see him yet. They were hussars of the king's guard, the best regiment in the army. The Prince of Slavna had made them good soldiers. They hated him for it. But Stafnitz was their colonel. On they came. In their blue tunics and silver braid they made a brave show in the sunshine.

The three watched now without word or motion. The sudden sight held them spellbound. Not one of them thought of sending to warn the prince. If they had the thought it would have been useless unless it had chimed in with Mistitch's will. Twenty men could have been on them before there was time to saddle a horse. If the expedition was a hostile one the castle was caught napping in very truth!



Peter Vassip

spring for" Sophy stood forward a yard and pace in front of her and bonored the panions. Her hand rested on the little revolver which monsieur-cur had given her.

On came the company. The foremost file reached within twenty yards of the causeway. There they halted. Half of them dismounted, each man as he did so intrusting his horse to his next fellow. Half of the fifty thus left mounted repeated this operation, leaving the remaining twenty-five in charge of all the horses. The seventy-five took position, four deep, on the road. They separated, facing either side.

The figure of their commander now appeared. He rode to the foot of the causeway, then dismounted and gave his horse to the sergeant who attended him. His men followed and drew up in the road, blocking the approach to the castle. Big Stistitch began to ascend the causeway, a broad smile on his face. It was a great moment for Captain Hercules—the day of revenge for which he had waited in forced patience and discreet unobtrusiveness. It was a critical day also in view of the instructions he had. To do him justice, he was not afraid.

Sophy saw and knew. This must have been the news that Zerkovitch carried, that he had galloped on to tell the prince at Volseni. Some event—some unknown and untoward turn of fortune—had loosed Mistitch on them! That was all she had time to recall before Mistitch saluted her and spoke.

"I have the honor of addressing the Baroness Dobrava?"

"You know me well, I think, Captain Mistitch, and I know you."

"Our journey together will be all the pleasanter for that."

"Your business with me, please?"

"I have it in command from his majesty to escort you to Slavna—to the palace and into his presence. The king is himself will then acquaint you with his wishes."

"You're a strange messenger to send."

"That's a point to put to my superior officer, Colonel Stafnitz, who sent me, baroness."

Sophy pointed at his men. "You rid strongly supported!"

"Again the colonel's orders, baron-

New Strength In The Spring

Nature Needs Aid in Making New, Health-Giving Blood.

In the spring the system needs toning up. In the spring to be healthy and strong you must have new blood, just as the trees must have new sap. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism, or the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness, and a variable appetite. All of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has told upon you. What is needed to put you right is a tonic and in all the world there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out disease, clears the skin and makes weak, easily tired men and women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. C. B. Moses, Brenton, N.S., says: "Last spring my daughter was completely run down, she was very pale, had no appetite, and became very nervous, and we were alarmed about her. We decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and soon after she began taking them there was a decided improvement. She gained in color and vigor, her color returned, and her whole system seemed to have been built anew. I can warmly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who are ailing."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MORVEN.

Sugar making is the order of the day. Our annual sugar social will be held in the Brick church, on Good Friday. A large crowd attended the sale of Mr. Sheldon Joyce on Monday last. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Joyce every success in their new home.—Mr. John Hall has moved from our midst.—Mr. Frank Vanlaven has a very sick horse.—Mr. Ed. Miller, Millhaven, spent Sunday with Mr. Will Wood.—Mr. and Mrs. John Garrison, we are sorry to hear are on our sick list.—Miss Gladys and Mr. Roy Garrison are improving, after an attack of pneumonia.—The most important question at present is where is our new postoffice to be located?—Mr. Chas. Lake is hauling timber for a new barn; likewise Mr. James Price.—Come to our sugar social and enjoy a good treat. Come early to secure a seat.

MAN-EATING SHARKS.

Overland from Cape Blossom and Point Barrow are coming strange stories of a marine terror to fishermen.

The annual disappearance of many of the native Kyak hunters has been traced to the raids of carnivorous and partly amphibious fox sharks, commonly knows as thrashers, who patrol the coast line from Bristol Bay to the mouth of the Mackenzie River.

In a recent hunt for seals nearly a dozen young native hunters lost their lives by being attacked in their skin boats by these sea monsters.

RAT PLAGUE IN BRITAIN.

Rats are more numerous and aggressive in England than ever before, according to Sir James Crichton Browne, who spoke on this subject at the first annual meeting of the Society for the Extermination of Vermin. He calculated there is one rat to every acre of land in England and Wales, each rat doing damage at the rate of a farthing a day, making a total loss of $75,000,000, and this figure was probably short of the mark.

Sir Charles McLaren told the members of the society that at their request he introduced a bill in Parliament last week for the extermination of rats. It was received with ironical cheers, but whether it was dealt with seriously or not he believes the publicity given it would be helpful to the society.

SOUTH PELHAM.

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. Robert Chambers, South Pelham, as a surprise, in the way of a variety shower for Mr. Bonus Chambers and bride, before moving to their beautiful home, which he has purchased. The evening was spent in music and games until 11 o'clock, then a dainty lunch was served with ice cream. The bride received presents from Chambers, Napanee; Bath, Millhaven, Toronto and Tiretta. Following is a list of presents:—Mr. W. H. Chambers, father of the bride, organ and bedroom suit; Miss Lizzie Chambers, necktie tea pot and pair of towels; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Johnston, sofa pillow, pair of towels, silver tea and fancy cups for tea; needles and spools; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cumming, linen table cloth and table mats; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaner, white bed spread; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Chambers, pair of towels; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Young, table mats; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McWatt, cheese dish; little Miss Mabel Mc-Watt, hot water jug; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins, fancy mats; Mrs. and Mr. Jas. Sherman, pair of towels; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham, china cake plate; Miss Margaret Rose, bread and cake knife and paring knife; Mr. and Mrs. Red Chambers, grate dish pan, grate water pail and six hens; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chambers, set of picked irons; Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers, mirror and comb; little Misses Ida and Nettie Chambers, grate stew dish; Miss Amelia Chambers, sofa pillow, pair bead and clothes pin bag; Mr. Orlen Chambers, fancy china cup and saucer and towel rack; Mr. and Mrs. Will Chambers, jet decorated tea pot; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Chambers, carving pan; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Davis, bottle and agate butter spoon and pair of towels; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chambers, agate kettle and china salad dish; Mrs. Harriet Young, agate porridge dish with cover and frying pan; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chambers, china salad dish; Mrs. Nancy Chambers, bread board and rolander; Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Farr, pair of blankets; Mr. and Mrs. H. Farr, silver pickle cruet; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Farr, white bed spread; Master Ernest and Harry Farr, picture and paper rack combined; Mr. and Mrs. H. Kilts, pair of towels; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenning, agate kettle and quilt; Mr. and Chambers, nickel crumb tray and brush; Mr. J. T. Romp, oil painting and frame; Mr. Geo. Chambers, agate pie plates; Mr. Chas. Leidy, carving set; Mr. Jacob Chambers, water set; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Oliver, linen table cloths; Mr. Leo and Clarence Chambers, lamp.

HEALTH.

By Alice M. Long, D.P.

Health, though the greatest asset in life, can neither be bought nor sold. Rockefeller may offer millions of dollars in vain for a body free from disease, while a man living on an acre lot, without a penny in the bank, may never have experienced a headache, backache or disordered stomach.

Health is the simplest thing of life yet. Upon it depends happiness, pleasing personality and success.

Health is that which sends the rich, warm blood coursing through every part of the body, maintains the normal condition of the vital functions, builds up the tissues, produces firm muscles, brings elasticity to the step, a rosy glow to the cheeks, brilliancy to the eyes, poise to the body, a smile to the lips. It banishes all adverse emotions, such as fear, worry, anger, hatred, etc. it sweeps out all weak or negative and destructive qualities, such as cowardice, indecision, doubt, indifference, heedlessness, difusiveness, inexpediency, boorishness, foolishness, confusion, tardiness, inertness, recklessness, rashness, inactivity, extravagance, carelessness and negligence, fickleness, fretfulness, despair, dishonesty, injustice, indolence, awkwardness, etc. It awakens the strong or positive forces, such as courage, purpose, confidence, enthusiasm, observation, concentration, tact, culture, wisdom, order, punctuality, prudence, self-control, energy, economy, thoroughness, industry, perseverance, serenity, hope, honesty, justice, animation, dexterity or grace. It produces strength of mind, body and spirit; attraction to and by all that is beautiful, good and inspiring; a realization of the invincible power that is the result of patience in small things and the cause of achievement and attainment of position among the leaders of the world.

Health, though the simplest thing of life, is yet the greatest, for it means wholeness of mind, body and soul. It means the turning away from the trivial things, upon which we are wont to waste our forces, to all that is uplifting.

The truly healthy man is an optimist, cool, keen and balanced. While he decides quickly he never jumps at conclusions. His capacity for enjoyment is unlimited, but only the high and beautiful appeal to him.

The contented man of the city does not try his patience nor disturb his equanimity, neither is he lonely in the midst of the throng, but feels only its whispering silence. He is grandeur of solitude and in the awe-inspiring glory of the solemn night his soul seems to meet and touch the soul of the Infinite Spirit who so mysteriously hovers over all.

Health, though the simplest thing in life, is that which every man and woman seeking true advancement desires above all else, for without it there can be no real happiness.

Do you wish it, my friends? Live aright and it shall be yours and all those other things for which you have wished in vain shall likewise be given unto you.

New Grocery!
New Goods!
New System!
New Prices!

This is the sign we hung in window when renting store here two years ago. No advertisement was ever more completely filled.

Some say Napanee grocers have lost thousands of dollars trying to put us out of Napanee. If so, what is their object? Most people admit that our coming to Napanee has saved the public many thousands of dollars. Don't you think you had your share? If not, why not?

The below cost prices were started by our competitors with the avowed object of putting us out of Napanee so they could restore former prices. For these below cost prices we wish neither credit or blame.

We will always give cash prices and cash discounts, and our system gives you the best, freshest groceries in town. If you pay cash, why not trade here, and get the best goods, always at the lowest cash price.

Newman, Livingston & Co.

EACH MAKES HIS OWN WORLD.

The sick think if they had health nothing else would matter.

The hard worked man thinks if he had leisure he would be content.

But happiness is not the prerogative of any class or condition or station in life.

Bernard Shaw says in one of his plays that "the world is as the archangel thinks every man happy whose teeth are sound, and the poverty-stricken man makes the same mistake about the rich man."

But it is with most things. One always feels that the thing he does not possess or the thing he can't do is the one thing essential to his happiness.

But the things which really go to make happiness are numerous and varied, and as people think or feel alike.

If there is one thing more than all others that helps to smooth the rough places it is temperament.

The man or woman who is inclined to look on the bright side, who is confident that clouds have a silver lining, and who nevertheless is only a game to be played to the best of one's ability, is bound to be happier than one who always sees the worst, or who, because the sky is clouded, is sure that the sun will never shine again.

The important question is: Can the cheerful attitude be acquired or is it one of the gifts of the gods and bestowed on only a favored few?

No doubt some are gifted with a happier and more cheerful temperament than others. It seems to be natural for some to be morose, while others are habitually sunny.

But this is no reason why the melancholy one can't change his point of view.

There are always two ways of looking at every question, and one's point of view as to cheerfulness is largely a matter of habit.

It is as easy to see the best as it is to see the worst in people, according to what we habitually see in others, each of us peoples his own world.

Joys, woes, successes, failures are real only as they appear to us to be so.

So for each of us the world is what we choose to make it.

HOUSEWIFE SUGGESTIONS.

Either a little kerosene on a bit of soap will stop the squeaking of the door hinge.

To keep lettuce over night, put it in a cheesecloth bag and place on the ice or in a cold cellar.

Radishes and cucumbers should lie in ice cold water for at least an hour before being sent to the table.

Cold water, a tablespoonful of ammonia and soap will remove machine grease when all other means fail—an answer on account of colors running.

To kill cockroaches put a mixture of flour and plaster of paris in places infested by cockroaches. The creatures will eat it greedily. The plaster of paris "sets" after they have eaten it and kills them.

Panes of glass may be easily removed by applying soft soap to the putty which holds them. Leave the soap on for a few hours before attempting to remove the putty, which however hard it may be, will rarely fail to soften under the treatment.

If the color has been taken from silks by acids it may be restored by applying to the spots a little hartshorn or sal volatile.

President Taft is said to be in favor of free lumber, and to have a hesitancy in expressing his views on the question.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

O'Flanagan came home one night with a deep band of black crepe around his hat.

"Why, Mike!" exclaimed his wife. "What does it mean? Rearin' that mournful thing for?"

"I'm wearin' it for my first husband," replied Mike tremblingly. "I'm sorry he's dead."

Office Boy—The editor says he's much obliged to you for allowing him to see your drawings, but much regrets he is unable to use them.

Fair Artist (eagerly)—Did he say that?

Office Boy (truthfully)—Well, not exactly. He just said, "Take 'em away, Pimple; they make me sick."

A REQUISITE FOR THE RANCHER on the cattle ranges of the West, where men and stock are far from doctors and apothecaries, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a household necessity, not only for many human ills, but as a horse and cattle medicine it is unsurpassed. Horses and cattle rancher will find matters greatly simplified by using the Oil.

"What does you reckon you'll like ter do when you gits ter glory?

"Well," said Brother Dickey, "since you put de question ter me, I'll make answer ter it. If dey lets me have my way, I'll des lay back on a white cloud, an' let de heavenly winds blow me from star to star."

THEY ARE CAREFULLY PREPARED. Each pill contains the exact proportion of the curative principles. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines is retarded in acting until they pass through the stomach to the bowels.

"Is this the only seat for the concert you have left?"

"Yes, but it's an exceptionally good one for so hot a night."

"How so?"

"Well, Mrs. A. occupies the seat on the right and Miss B. on the left, and you know there's a very decided coolness between them."

A SMALL PILL, BUT POWERFUL.—They that speak of the powers of a pill try to size, and to estimate the value of it by the dose it is taking. It is a little wonder small pills are so powerful as they are made up to purpose. The remedies when in carried up in these small pellets mean that they are so powerful that only small doses are required. The full strength of the extracts is secured in this form and the effect will not be lost.

Don't worry about your looks. You look all right to your friends, and the rest of the world doesn't care how you look.

The merits of Dodd's Anti-Consumptive Syrup as a sure remedy for coughs and colds is attested by scores who know its power in giving almost instant relief when the throat is sore with coughing, and the whole pulmonary region disordered in consequence. A bottle of this world-famed Syrup will save doctor's bills and a great deal of suffering. Price 25 cents, at all dealers.

"She is not pretty," said the critical woman, "but she is interesting because of her rank as a novelist."

"No," rejoined Miss Cayenne, "not because of her rank; rather because of her rankness."

—Miss Bruton's millinery opening display on Saturday last was the event of the season. The many beautiful hats and models excelled all previous showings in their exquisite loveliness of style and coloring. The variety of styles exhibited were numerous, although the mushroom, poke and directoire models are evidently the decided favorites. One charming little French creation was particularly attractive being a leghorn poke trimmed with rustle of fine cream lace, chains of tiny pink and wood roses, and completed by sprays here of black velvet ribbon at left back. Another worthy of notice was a lovely large hat of black mohair, banked at the back with blue daisies and lily of the valley, black silk ribbon caught at front, with large jet buckle, draped the crown, ending with black lace at back. The large crowd in attendance were enthusiastic over the excellent showing.

BARGAINS IN BOOKS, ETC

FAREWELL SUPPER.

On Monday evening a farewell banquet was given by the young men in honor of Mr. F. Chenoweth, of the Dominion Bank, who has been moved from the Napanee branch. Following a delicious supper, served by Mr. H. Taylor, at the Campbell House, impromptu speeches were given, toasting the guest of honor. Mr. D. L. Hill was toastmaster. The staff of the Bank presented Mr. Chenoweth with a gold seal and an appropriate address was read by Mr. McClelland. Mr. Chenoweth, in replying, said that he would never forget the two years spent in Napanee, which had been two of the most pleasant years of his life. He will be greatly missed in both social and athletic circles, and will, if he ever returns, be heartily welcomed.

HINCH.

It seems but yesterday that the icy chains were cold and still, but now these little rills put forth their spring time melody, and all nature proclaims spring. Our winter has not been too severe, yet April's welcome may be read from every countenance.—We are glad to say little Ray Campbell is entirely well, but sorry to say we can not say thus about his mother, Mrs. Wilbur Campbell.—Milk drawing is on again. It seems funny to see "Bob" at the helm though.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. G. Walker returned to Mr. R. Lewis', on Sunday afternoon, after their honeymoon in Colebrook and Desmond. Their return was no secret. In the wee small hours of Monday morning a harmless little crowd endowed with the best kind of common sense assembled from the neighboring country side to simply impress upon their minds that they were bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis treated the matter as a jest as it was intended, and Mrs. Lewis served the crowd with a delicious lunch. We all wish them wisdom, health and prosperity.—Miss Mary Walker has returned from Toronto, after a nine-weeks' visit in that city.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Coburn and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Switzer and little daughter, of Desmond, visited Mr. and Mrs. N. Coburn, on Monday.—Mr. E. G. Price is preparing to build a new barn.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hinch spent Wednesday with her parents in Roblin.—Mr. Wm. Penny has finished sawing wood for Mr. E. Hawkins.

The Anniversary Drug Sale

at Lawrason's will close on Saturday, April 3d, and to show the purchasing public how we have appreciated their response to our efforts in this direction, we propose to give you ONE GREAT DAY'S BUYING at prices lower than we have ever quoted before. Our stock we have been built on quality and price, and good fair dealing has been the watchword of the Drug Store. We could not succeed about this great sale which would astound you but we can tell you that we do on a Saturday now more than we care did in a whole month; what a saving to you and a great satisfaction to us, knowing that our efforts have been appreciated. It doesn't make much difference to some people whether they buy 10c or 25c for a Pickle Pills, but to some it makes a material difference. The point we want to fasten down on is that right here is the first day we are going to sell along these 25c lines on Saturday, April 3d, and expect to close this day the greatest day's selling we have ever had. We can say this much safely, but cannot tell how much we will do, but you will do away delighted.

The Habit of Health

Many people have a habit of ailing. How much better it would be to form a habit of health, and it is largely a matter of habit, when all may acquire such a little practice.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

teach good habits to Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. If you are subject to Bilious Attacks, suffer from Constipation or are troubled with Indigestion, Nervousness or Headache, Beecham's Pills will reform all these bad habits and set an example of good health, which the body will quickly follow. You can break up all sickly habits by occasionally using the health suggestions transmitted by Beecham's Pills.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold by all Druggists in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

When your neighbor tells you of her "wonderful" luck on baking-day don't imagine it's a "fairy-tale." More than likely she uses "Cream of the West" flour—and "good fortune" is certain to follow the use of this superior flour.

"Cream of the West" may cost you a few cents more per bag—but it is made of the highest grade of hard wheat—and is more expensive to mill than the usual grades of Manitoba flour. For better biscuits and bread, better baking-day luck, use "Cream of the West" flour.

THE CANADIAN COOK BOOK.

"The Canadian Cook Book," by Lucy Bowerman (Graduate Nurses' Club, 63 Isabella Street, Toronto, price $1.25 net) is an excellent work of 350 pages, printed on heavy s per calender paper and bound in oil cloth, is made to stay open on the table where desired and a double index makes the material in the book easily and readily available. No woman who prides herself in her ability as a housekeeper and a homemaker rightly prides herself on her ability to cook and serve the food of the family with a view to the health and happiness of the members of her household. A good cook book, written and compiled from a practical and practical standpoint is essential in every home. The proceeds from the sale of this work are to be devoted to the Toronto Graduate Nurses' Club House. The book can be purchased at any book store in Napanee.

HINCH.

A large number of friends and acquaintances met at the home of Mrs. John Walker, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McIlwain, with a "variety shower." Games, music and dancing were indulged in until the wee small hours, when all returned to their homes voting Mr. and Mrs. Walker an ideal host and hostess. The large collection of useful gifts testify the esteem of the bride and groom. Following is a list of the presents: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hinch, agate wash basin; Wm Hinch, cake cutter; Agnes and Bessie French, tray cloth; Kathleen F. Price, cake plate; Gladys Price, tea pot stand; Alex. Dickson, water pitcher; Mr. and Mrs. R. NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." An exquisite hair dress

THE LADIES OBJECT to a gummy and sticky hair dressing or one that is full of sedimentary chemicals intended to get the "best" of the natural perfume for a fresh and dainty preparation, particularly one that overcomes dandruff, itchiness and leaves the hair light and fluffy, is invited to the delicious use of Newbro's Herpicide. Discriminating ladies become enthusiastic over its refreshing quality and exquisite fragrance.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY must have pretty hair. The features may be quite plain, or even homely, yet if the head is crowned with an abundance of beautiful hair, admirers will not be lacking. The Poet says: "Fair tresses man's snare." Artificial aids to restore the beauty of the hair a charming distinctiveness that is characteristic of to other hair dressings.

DISEASED HAIR A MISFORTUNE. Unsightly or diseased hair is a misfortune no woman wants to have. It is also an actual injury to the hair follicles and other contiguous tissue of the skin; this may cause disease that sometimes results in baldness. Nature's protection to the head. A diseased condition of the hair affects man's disposition to a marked degree. Dandruff, dry hair and dull, brittle hair is due to the presence of a microbic germ. Destroy this germ and the hair grows lustrous and luxuriant, the spirits and tone a long of interest in life reappears. The use of Newbro's Herpicide overcomes the ravages of the dandruff microbe, after which the natural beauty and abundance of the hair will return as nature intended. Any druggist can furnish Herpicide in the size of Dr. Person. Gentlemen will find Newbro's Herpicide in the all important toilet shops.

STOPS ITCHING OF THE SCALP AT MOST INSTANTLY.

"Regarding the merits of Newbro's Herpicide, an article that your agent left a trial bottle with me to test, I have prescribed it in several instances and have had favorable results in each in each case."

Chapter Twenty-seven

THE king had died yesterday, yet none had told his heir! Mistitch had set out for Zenda with fifty men to wait for the king, who was dead. The dead king would never go to Dobrava, and no messenger came to the new king at Trasdol!

Zerkovitch's news was enough to raise the anger of a king, and Sergius blazed with it. But more potent still was his wrathful fear as he thought of Sophy at Praslok in the power of Captain Hercules.

He had his guard of twenty mounted men with him. With these he at once set forth, bidding Lukovitch collect all the men he could and follow him as speedily as possible. If Mistitch had really gone to Dobrava, then he would find him there and have the truth out of him. But if, as the prince hardly doubted, he was making for Praslok horse, but fell on the soft, grassy roadside and sprang up unhurt save for a cruel pain in her crushed wrist. She turned her eyes whither all eyes were turned now. The general battle was stayed, but not the single combat. For a moment none moved save the two who were now to engage.

The fight of the Street of the Fountain fell to be fought again, for when Peter Vassip was darting forward, knife in hand, with a spring like a mountain goat's, his master's voice rolled, "Mine, Peter; mine!" It was the old cry when they shot wild boar in the woods about Dobrava, and it brought Peter Vassip to a stand. Max von Hollbrandt, too, lowered his pointed revolver. Who should stand between his quarry and the king, between Sophy's lover and the man who had so outraged her? Big Mistitch was the king's game and the king's only duellist.

Mistitch's chance was gone, and he must have known it. Where was the sergeant who had undertaken to cover him? He had turned tail. Where was the onrolling rush of his men, which should have engulfed and paralysed their enemy? Paralysis was on his men through the fell deeds of Zerkovitch and licked appetite for the killing of a king. Where was his triumphant reception? Where his laurels, his reward, his wonderful swaggerings at the Golden Lion? They were all gone. Even though he killed the king, there were two dozen men vowed to have his life. They must have it, but at what price? His savage valor set the figure high.

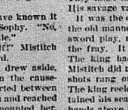
It was to be so, it seemed now, but in the old manner. There was no delicate sword play, no fluctuating fortunes in the fray. It was all stern and short. The king had not drawn his sword; Mistitch did not seek to draw his. Two shots rang out sharply—that was all. The king reeled in his saddle, but maintained his seat. Big Mistitch threw his hands above his head, with a loud cry, and fell, with a mighty crash, on the road, shot through the head. Peter Vassip ran to the king and helped him to dismount, while Max von Hollbrandt held his horse. Sophy hurried to where they laid him by the roadside.

"Disarm these fellows!" cried Zerkovitch.

But Mistitch's escort were in no mood to wait for this operation, nor to stay and suffer the anger of the king. With their leader's fall the last of heart was out of them. Wrenching themselves free from such of the Volsenians as sought to arrest their flight, they turned their horses' heads as one man and fled, for Slavna. The king's men attempted no pursuit. They clustered around the spot where he lay.

"You hit," he said to Sophy, "but not badly, I think."

From the castle door, down the causeway, came Marie Zerkovitch, weeping passionately, wringing her hands. The soldiers parted their close ranks to let her through. She came to the roadside where Sophy supported monseigneur's head upon her knees. Sophy looked up and saw her. Marie did not speak.



Sophy supported his head on her knee.

She stood there, sobbing and wringing her hands over Sophy and the wounded king.

It was afternoon, an hour after the first of the struggling rout of Mistitch's escort came in. King Leppe died presently! So ran the official notice, indorsed by Dr. Ratcheff's high approval. The coterie were in up to their necks. They could not go back now. They must go through with it. Countess Ellenburg took to her knees. Stenovics and Stafnitz held long conversations. Every point of tactical importance in the city was occupied by troops. Slavna was silent, expectant, curious.

Markart woke at 5 o'clock, heavy of head, dry in the throat. He stood. He found himself no longer in the king's suit, but in one of the apartments which Stafnitz had occupied. He was all alone. The door stood open. He understood that he was no more a prisoner. He knew that the king was dead.

But who else was dead, and who alive, and who king in Slavna?

He ran down the corridors of the palace. They were deserted. There was nobody to hinder him, nobody of whom to ask a question. He saw a decanter of brandy standing near the door of the room and drank from it. Then he made his way into the garden. He saw men streaming over the bridge toward Slavna and hastened after them as quickly as he could. His head was still in a maze. He remembered nothing after drinking the glass of wine with Smith Leppe the valet had given him, but he was possessed by a strong excitement, and he followed obstinately in the wake of the throng which set there was time to intervene him, time to carry off Sophy and the other inmates of the castle, send them back to safety within the walls of Volseni and himself ride on to meet Mistitch with his mind at ease.

Relying on Zerkovitch's information, he assumed that the troopers had not started from Slavna till 7 in the morning. They had started at 6. He reckoned also on Zerkovitch's statement that they were but fifty strong. They were a hundred. Yet, had he known the truth, he could not have used more haste, and he would not let us waited for another man. He stayed to tell no man in Volseni the news about his father except Lukovitch. But as his twenty rode out of the gate behind him he turned his head to Zerkovitch, who trotted beside him, for Zerkovitch rather candor would serve him till the game was played, and said, "Tell them that the king is dead and that I reign." Zerkovitch whispered the news to the man next him, and it ran along the line. A low, stern cheer, hardly more than a murmured assurance of loyalty and service, came from the lips of the men in sheepskins.

Mistitch saw them coming and turned to his troop. He had time for a little speech, and Stafnitz had instructed him what to say: "Men, you are servants of the king and of the king only. Not even the Prince of Slavna can command you against the king's orders. The king's orders are that we take Baroness Dobrava to Slavna, no matter who resists. If need be, these orders stand even against the prince."

Stafnitz's soldiers—the men he peopled, the men who had felt the prince's stern hand—were only too glad to hear it. To strike for the king and yet against the hated prince—it was a luxury, a happy and unlooked for harmonising of their duty and their pleasure. Their answering cheer was loud and fierce.

It struck harsh on the ears of the advancing prince. His face grew hard and stranded as he heard the shouts and saw the sealed body of the king across the path, barring access to his own castle. And within a yard or two of their ranks by the side of the road was the figure which he knew so well and so well loved.

Now Mistitch played his card, that game in the game which began with submission to his demand and for the moment thwarted, but to which the prince's heathen anger and fear now gave an opening. The opening Stafnitz had from the first foreseen. It would need little to make the fiery prince forget prudence when he set face to face with Mistitch. It was not a safe game for Mistitch personally—both Stafnitz and he knew that—but Captain Hercules was confident that he would not be caught twice by the Volseni trick of sword. The satisfaction of his revenge and the immediate rewards that his colonel-offered made it worth his while to accept the risk and rendered it grateful to his heart.

Sophy sat smiling. Her mental fate have averted the encounter and had shaped her manoeuvers to that end. It was not to be so. It seemed so now, she did not doubt monseigneur's success, but she wished that Zerkovitch had not reached Volseni so quickly; that the prince had stayed behind the walls till his plans were ready, and that she was going a prisoner to Slavna to see the king returning to her by her lonesome, her courage and the star of her own fortune. Never had her buoyant self confidence run higher.

On the top of the causeway Max von Hollbrandt looked to his revolver, Peter Vassip loosened his knife in its leather sheath. A window in the castle gate opened, and Marie Zerkovitch's frightened face looked out. The women servants jostled old Vassip in the doorway. The grooms stood outside the stables. No one moved. Only the prince's little troop came on. When they were fifty yards away Mistitch called to his men, "Draw swords!" and himself pricked his horse with his spur and rode up to where Sophy was.

Mistitch drew his horse up parallel to Sophy's, head to tail, on her right side, between her and the approaching force. With the instinct of hatred she shrank away from him. It had been foreseen and rehearsed in Stafnitz's mind. Mistitch cried loudly, "In the king's name, Baroness Dobrava!" He leaned from the saddle and caught her right wrist in his huge hand. He had the justification that—at his first attempt to touch her Sophy's hand had flown to her little revolver and held it now. Mistitch crushed her wrist. The revolver fell to the ground. Sophy gave a cry of pain. Mistitch dropped her wrist and reached his arm about her waist. He was pulling her from her horse, while he cried out: "In the king's name! On guard!"

It was a high jump from the top of the causeway, but two men took it side by side—Max von Hollbrandt, revolver in hand, Peter Vassip, with knife unsheathed.

As they leaped, another shout rang out, "Long live King Sergius!"

The prince rode his fastest, but faster still rode Zerkovitch. He outpaced the others and was first to the mound Mistitch's men, crying loudly again and again unceasingly: "The king is dead! The king is dead!" The king is dead!"

Then came the prince. He rode full at Mistitch. His men followed him and dashed, with a shock, against the troopers of Mistitch's escort. As they rode they cried, "Long live King Sergius!" They had unhorsed a dozen men and wounded four or five before they realised that they met with no resistance. Mistitch's men were paralyzed. The king was dead. They were to fight against the king! The magic of the name Sergius cried. They dropped the points of their swords. The Volsenians, hesitating to strike at men who did not defend themselves, paused and in doubt, turned to their bailiff—their king—for his orders.

As the prince came up Mistitch hurled Sophy from him. She fell from her horse on the palace and the suburbs into Slavna.

The streets were quiet. Soldiers occupied the corners of the ways. They looked curiously at Markart's pale face and disordered uniform. A dull roar came from the direction of St. Michael's square, and thither Markart aimed his course. He found all one side of the square full of a dense crowd, swaying, jostling, talking. On the other side troops were massed. In an open space in front of the troops, facing the crowd, was Colonel Stafnitz and by his side a little boy on a white pony.

Young Leppe was proclaimed king.

Markart was too far off to hear what the words said when he began to speak—nay, the cheers of the troops behind the colonel came so slimy on his words as almost to drown them, and after a moment's hesitation, as it seemed to Markart, the crowd of people on the other side of the square echoed back the acclamations of the soldiers.

All Countess Ellenburg's ambitions were at stake. For Stenovics and Stafnitz it was a matter of life itself now, for daringly had they raised their banner against King Sergius. Countess Ellenburg had indeed prayed, and now prayed all along in a deserted palace, but not one of the three had hesitated. At the head of a united army, in the name of a united people, Stafnitz had demanded the proclamation of young Alexis as king. For an hour Stenovics had made a show of demurring; then he bowed to the national will. That night young Alexis enjoyed more honor than he had asked of Leppe the valet —he was called not prince, but majesty. He was king in Slavna, and the first work to which they set his childish hand was the proclamation of a state of siege.

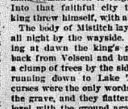
Slavna chose him willingly or because it must at the bidding of the soldiers, but Volseni was of another mind. They would not have the German woman son to reign over them. Into that faithful city the wounded king threw himself, with all his friends.

The body of Mistitch lay all day and all night by the wayside. Next morning at dawn the king's grooms came back from Volseni and buried it under a clump of trees by the side of the lane running down to Lake Taiti. Their curses were the only words spoken over the grave, and they flattened the earth level with the ground again that none might know where the man rested who had lifted his hand against their master.

The king was carried to Volseni sorrowstricken. They did not know whether he would live or die. He had a dangerous wound in the lungs, and, to make matters worse, the surgical skill available at Volseni was very primitive.

But in that regard fortune brought aid. I brought also to Sophy a strange conjecture of the new life with the old. The landlord of the inn sent word to Lukovitch that two foreign gentlemen had arrived at his house that afternoon and that the passport of one of them described him as a surgeon. The landlord had told him how things stood, and he was anxious to render help.

It was Basil Williamson. Dunstanbury and he, accompanied by Henry Brown, Dunstanbury's servant, had reached Volseni that day on their return from a tour in the Crimea and around the shores of the sea of Azof.



Chapter Twenty-eight

IT was late at night, and quiet reigned in Volseni—the quiet not of security, but of ordered vigilance. A light burned in every house; men lined the time worn walls and camped in the market place; there were scouts out on the road as far as Praslok. No news came from outside and no news yet from the room in the guardhouse where the wounded king lay. The street on which the room looked was empty save for one man, who walked patiently up and down, smoking a cigar. Dunstanbury waited for Basil Williamson, who was in attendance on the king and was to pronounce to Volseni whether he could live or must die.

Dunstanbury had been glad that Basil could be of use, but for the rest he had listened to the story which Zerkovitch told him with an amused, rather contemptuous indifference, with an Englishman's wonder why other countries cannot manage their affairs better and something of a traveler's pleasure at coming in for a bit of such vivid, almost blazing, "local color" in the course of his journey. But whether Alexis reigned or Sergius mattered nothing to him and, in his opinion, very little to anybody else.

Nor had he given much thought to the lady whose name figured so prominently in Zerkovitch's narrative, the Baroness Dobrava. Such a personage seemed no less appropriate to the surroundings than the rest of the story—no less appropriate and certainly not a whit more important. Of course he hoped Basil would make a good report, but his mind was not disturbed. His chief hope was that the claims of humanity would not prolong his stay in Volseni beyond a few days. It was a picturesque little place, but not one for a long visit, and, in any case, he was homeward bound now, rather eager for the pleasures of his London season after his winter journey—the third he had made in the interests of a book on Russian which he had in contemplation, a book destined to reconcile him as an Englishman to the Russians. He could hardly consider that those goings on in Kravonia came within the province of a young party of the period—but it was a pleasant, moonlit night, the old street was very quaint, the crisis he had happened on bizarre and amusing. He smoked his cigar and waited for Basil without impatience.

He had strolled a hundred yards away and just turned to loiter back when he saw a figure come out of the guardhouse, pause a moment and then advance slowly toward him. The sheepskin coat and rustic made him think at first that the stranger was one of the Volsenian levy. The next moment he saw the skirt. At once he guessed that he was in the presence of Baroness Dobrava, the heroine of the piece, as he had called her in his own mind and with a smile.

Evidently she meant to speak to him. He threw away his cigar and walked to meet her. As they drew near to each other he noted that she had sobbed gravely. Thus they met for the first time since Sophy washed her lettuces in the scullery at Morpingham and at the young lord's bidding fetched Lovenso the Magnificent a bone. This meeting was, however remotely, the result of that. Dunstanbury had started his career on the road which had led her to where she was.

"I've seen Mr. Williamson," she said, "and he knows me now. But you don't yet, do you, Lord Dunstanbury? And, anyhow, perhaps you wouldn't remember."

She had been a slip of a girl when he first saw her, in a print frock, washing lettuces. She was a nobody, a depressory gesture he confessed his ignorance and his surprise. "Really, I'm afraid I —I don't. I've been such a traveler and meet so many. An acquaintance with the Baroness Dobrava was among the last with which he would have credited himself or perhaps, to speak his true thoughts, charged his reputation.

"Mr. Williamson knew me almost directly—the moment I reminded him of my mark." She touched her cheek. Dunstanbury looked more closely at her. A ragged scar-mark was there. In him. Sophy's face was very sad, yet she smiled just a little as she added: "I remember you so well—and your dog Lorenzo. I'm Sophy Grouch of Morpingham, and I became Lady Meg's companion. Now do you remember?"

He stepped quickly up to her, peered into her eyes and saw the red star.

"Good heavens!" he said, smiling at her in an almost helpless way. "Well, that is curious!"

He added, "Sophy Grouch! Confound the Baroness Dobrava!"

"There's nothing in such a name," said Sophy. "I'll tell you all about that soon if we have time. Tonight I can think of nothing but monseigneur. Mr. Williamson has extracted the bullet, but I'm afraid he's very bad. You won't take Mr. Williamson away until—until it's settled—one way or the other, will you?"

"Neither Basil nor I will leave so long as we can be of the least service to you," he told her.

With a sudden impulse she put her hands in his. "It's strangely good to find you here tonight—so strange and so good! It gives me strength, and I want strength. Oh, my friends have brave hearts, but you—well, there's something in home and the same blood, I suppose."

Dunstanbury thought that there was certainly something in having two English blue bloods, instead of Kravonians only, but such a blunt sentiment might not be necessary. He pressed her hands as he released them.

"I rejoice in the chance that brings us here. You can have every confidence in Basil. He's a first rate man. But tell me about yourself. We have time now, haven't we?"

"Really, I suppose we have! Monseigneur has been put to sleep, but I couldn't sleep. Come, we'll go up on the ramparts."

They mounted on to the city wall just by the gate and leaned against the moldering parapets. Below by Lake Taiti lay the camp fires—by now, no doubt, the masses of the mountains. Yet while Sophy talked Dunstanbury's eyes seldom left Brown—my friend Brown, as he caught himself not listening, but only looking, tracing how she had grown from Sophy Grouch in her sculpture to the Baroness Dobrava of the strange girl. Once or twice he and Basil had talked of her. He had repented Lady Meg's brusque and unreasonable dismissal of her protege. In his memory, half overgrown, had lain the mark on Sophy's cheek. Now here she was, in Kravonia, of all places —Baroness Dobrava, of all people! And what else, who knew? The train of events which had brought this about was strange, yet his greater wonder was for the woman herself.

"And here we are," she ended, with a careful smile. "If monseigneur lives I think we shall win. For the moment we can do no more than hold Volseni. I think we can do that. But presently, when he is better and can lead us, we shall attack. Down in Slavna they won't like being ruled by the countess and Stenovics as much as they expect Little Alexis will grow either clever or fierce. Her voice rose a little. "At last monseigneur will sit firm on his throne," she said, "and I'll see what we can do for Kravonia. It's a fine country and rich. Lord Dunstanbury, and outside Slavna the people are good material. We shall be able to make it very different if monseigneur lives."

"And if not?" he asked in a low voice.

"What is it to me except for monseigneur? If he dies"—Her hands thrown wide in a gesture of despair ended her sentence.

If she lived and worked for Kravonia it was for monseigneur's sake. Why not him, what was Kravonia to her? Such was her mood. Plainly she took no pains to conceal it from Dunstanbury. Dunstanbury turned to him with a smile.

"You think I talk pleasantly, saying, 'We'll do this and that!' Yes, you must, and it's suddenly become strange to me to say it—to say it to you, because you've brought back the old things to my mind, and all this is so out of keeping with the old things—with Sophy Grouch and Julia Robins and Morpingham! But until you came it didn't seem strange. Everything that has happened since I came to this country seemed to leap up to it—to bring it at least naturally and irresistibly. I forgot till just now how funny it must sound to you—and how bad, I suppose. Well, you must accustom yourself to Kravonia. It's not Essex, you know."

"If the king lives?" he asked.

"I shall be with monseigneur if he lives," she answered.

Yes, it was strange. Yet already, even now—when he had known her again for half an hour, had seen her and talked to her—gradually and indistinctly it began to seem less strange, less fantastic, more natural. Dunstanbury had to give himself a mental shake to get back to Essex and to Sophy Grouch. Volseni sat old and gray amid the hills, the king whose breath struggled with his blood for life, the beautiful woman who would live with the king if and so long as he lived—these were the present realities he saw in vivid immediate vision. They made the shadow of the past seem not indeed dim—they kept all their distinctness of outline in memory—but in their utter fantastic and in no relation to the actual. Was that the air of Kravonia working on him or was it a woman's voice, the pallid pride of a woman's face?

"In Slavna they call me a witch," she said, "and tell terrible tales about this red star—my red star—but here in Volseni they like me—yes, and I can win over Slavna, too, if I get the opportunity. No, I shan't be a weakness to monseigneur if he lives."

"You'll be"—

"His wife?" she interrupted. "Yes." She smiled again as Dunstanbury almost laughed. "That seems worst of all—worse than anything else?"

Dunstanbury allowed himself to smile too. "Well, yes, of course that's true," he said. "Out of Kravonia anyhow. What's true in Kravonia I really don't know yet."

"I suppose it's true in Kravonia, too, but what I tell you is monseigneur's will about me."

He looked hard at her. "You love him?" he asked.

"As my life, and more," said Sophy simply.

At last Dunstanbury ceased to look at her. He laid his elbows on the battlements and stood there, his eyes roaming over the lake the valley to the mountains beyond. Sophy left his side and began to walk slowly up and down the rugged uneven, overgrown surface of the walls.

The moon was sinking in the sky. There would be three or four dark hours before day. A man galloped up to the gate and gave a countersign in return to a challenge; the heavy gates rolled open; he rode in; another rode out and cantered off along the road toward Praslok. There was watch and ward. Volseni was not to be caught napping as Praslok had been. Whether the king lived or died, his Volsenians were on guard. Dunstanbury turned his back on the hills and came up to Sophy.

"We Essex folk ought to stand by one another," he said. "It's the nearest chance that's brought me here, but I'm glad of the chance now, and it's beginning to feel not the least strange. So long as you're sure of help count me among your soldiers."

"But you oughtn't to mix yourself up"—

He put out set on that principle when you came to Kravonia?"

With a smile Sophy gave him her hand. "So be it. I accept your service as monseigneur."

"I give it to you," he persisted.

"Yes, and all that is mine I give to monseigneur," said Sophy.

Any man who meets or after an interval of time again meets an attractive woman only to find that her thoughts are preoccupied and totally unexpected suffers an annoyance not the less real because he sees the absurdity of it. It is to find she's a stale which will better luck might have been open. The unusual circumstances of his new encounter with Sophy did not save Dunstanbury from this common form of chagrin. The tragic element in her situation gave it a rather uncommon flavor. He could fain have appeared as the knight errant to rescue such beauty in such distress, but the nature of the distress did not seem favorable to the prospect of romantic events.

He made his offer of service to her. She assigned him to the service of monseigneur! He laughed at his own annoyance and promised to serve monseigneur as well as he could. At the same time, while cancelling most amply —nay, even feeling—monseigneur's excuse, he could not admire his policy in the choice of a bride. That was doubtless a couple of how things were done in Kravonia. He lived to feel the excuse more strongly and to pronounce the judgment with greater hesitation.

Sophy had given him her hand again as she accepted his offer in monseigneur's name. He had not yet released it when she was called from the street by a voice—a voice—a voice full of fear and alarm.

"Marie Zerkovitch calls me! I must go at once," she said. "I expect monseigneur is awake." She hurried off, with a nod of farewell.

Dunstanbury stayed a little while on the wall, smoking a cigarette, and then went down into the street. The door of the guardhouse was shut. All was very quiet as he passed along to the market place, where the inn was situated. He went up to his room overlooking the street and, taking off his coat only, flung himself on the bed. He was minded thus to await Basil Williamson's return with news of the king, but the excitement of the day had wearied him. In ten minutes he was sound asleep.

He was aroused by Basil Williamson's hand on his shoulder. The young doctor, a slim built, dark, wiry fellow, looked very weary and sad.

"How has it gone?" asked Dunstanbury, sitting up.

"It's been a terrible night. I'm glad you've had some sleep. He awoke after an hour. The hemorrhage had set in again. I had to tell him it was a thousand to one against him. He sent for her and made me leave them alone together. There was only one other room, and I waited there with a little woman—a Mme. Zerkovitch—who cried terribly. Then he sent for Lukovitch, who also seems to be chief man in the place. Presently Lukovitch went away,

"It was monseigneur's wish. Let us avenge him! God hears me!"

and I went back to the king. I found him terribly exhausted. She was there, sitting by him and whispering to him now and then. She seemed calm. Presently Lukovitch came back. The Zerkovitches and the German man came in. They all came in—the king would not hear my objections—and with them came a priest. And then and there the king married her! She spoke to me, body except to me before the service began, and then she only said, 'Monseigneur wishes it.' I waited till the service was done, but I stayed here no more. I went outside while they shrived him, but I was called back hurriedly. Then the end came very soon—in less than half an hour. He sent everybody away except her and me, and when I had done all that was possible I went on far off as I could into the corner of the room. I came back at a call from her just before he died. The man was looking extraordinarily happy, Dunstanbury."

"They were married?"

"Oh, yes. It's all right. I suppose—not that it seems to matter much now, does it? Put on your coat and come to the window. You'll see a sight you'll never forget, I think."

Together they went to the window. The sun had risen from behind the mountains and flooded the city with light. The noisome air was cool and fragrant. The market place was thronged with people—men in line in front, women and children in a mass behind. They were all absolutely quiet and silent. Opposite where they were was a raised platform of wood, reached by steps from the ground. It was a rostrum for the use of those who sold goods by auction in the market. A board on trestles had been laid on this, and on the board was stretched the body of the king. At his feet stood Lukovitch. Behind were Max von Hollbrandt, Zerkovitch and Marie. At the king's head stood Sophy, and Peter Vassip knelt on the ground beside her. She stood like a statue, white and still, but Dunstanbury could see the red star glowing.

Lukovitch seemed to have been speaking, although the sound of his voice had not reached them through the closed window of the topmost room in the inn. He spoke again now—not loudly, but in a very clear voice.

"God hears us!" said Lukovitch, and all the people repeated the words after him.

Dunstanbury whispered to Basil, "Do they mean to fight?" An eagerness stirred in his voice.

"Listen! He's speaking again."

"Whom, then, will you have for your king, man of Volseni?" asked Lukovitch. "There is one on whose finger the king has put the ring and two of the bailiffs of Volseni. With his own hand he set it there before he died—he set it there when he made her his spouse, as you have heard. Will you have the bailiff of Volseni for your king?"

A great shout of "Yes!" answered him.

"Will you have Sophia for your king?"

"Sophia for our king!" they cried.

Lukovitch raised his sword again. All raised swords or sticks. The solemn words "God hears us" were spoken from every mouth. Lukovitch turned to Sophy and handed his drawn sword to her. She took it. Then she knelt down and kissed the king's lips. Rising to her feet again, she stood for a moment silent, looking over the enraptured market square. Yet she seemed hardly to see. Her eyes were vacant. At last she raised the sword to her lips, kissed it, and then held it high in the air.

"It was monseigneur's wish. Let us avenge him! God hears me!"

"God hears you!" came all the voices.

The ceremony was finished. Six men took up the board on which the king lay, carried it down from the rostrum and along the street to the guardhouse. Sophy followed, and her friends walked after her. Still she seemed as though in a dream. Her voice had sounded absent, almost unconscious. She was pale as death save for the red star.

SKIN TROUBLES

YOUR SKIN REFLECTS YOUR HEALTH!

JUST as your skin is, so is your health. If the pores of your skin are not acting properly, the wastes of your blood are not getting away as they should, and this means that your kidneys, liver, lungs, and heart have to take on extra duty. Your skin requires periodical cleaning, just as the housewife knows that the stove requires periodical shaking down to make it burn brightly.

Just at this season, pimples, face sores, eruptions, sick feelings, diseases, and eczema, are very common because the winter has thrown extra work on to the skin, and in many cases the skin has been unable to do this extra work. Zam-Buk has a tonic. Your skin needs a tonic just as much as your stomach or liver!

If you have skin diseases, scrofulous sore, festering ulcer, or an aggravating case of eczema, apply Zam-Buk. Apply it freely at first, and in a few days you will see a change. Then continue the use of Zam-Buk, and you will be surprised at the speed with which it heals.

HOW ZAM-BUK REMOVES SKIN DISEASES.

[illegible] Zam-Buk is a herbal balm. It is a skin food. It is a blood purifier. It is a healing antiseptic. It is a powerful germicide. It is a soothing pain killer. It is all these things and more. It is the result of years of study and experiment by a physician who has had unrivalled opportunities for testing the value of herbal remedies. It is the result of years of study and experiment by a physician who has had unrivalled opportunities for testing the value of herbal remedies. As a cure for skin diseases, Zam-Buk has been tested in thousands of cases, and has never been known to fail. Even the most obstinate cases of eczema, ringworm, and other skin diseases, have yielded to the healing influence of Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is equally effective for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, ulcers, scalds, chapped hands, and all injuries to the skin. Rub it well into the sore place, and you will find relief at once. Zam-Buk is sold by all druggists and stores at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

DIVORCES.

Professor Walter F. Wilcox states that, one million two hundred and fifty thousand divorces have been granted in the United States within forty-two years. This is absolutely astounding. He reckons that one marriage in every twelve now ends in divorce, and that before the end of the century, unless the divorce rates decrease, there will be one divorce for every two marriages. The country at the same time will be filled with the children of divorced parents. Such a state of things would be a complete desecration of marriage, and almost a dissolution of the community. Nor would Canada remain unaffected by the evil facility at her door. Why do we not adopt here the British divorce law and court, which apparently work very well? The answer is, it is the perquet line.

that Rome, though she recognizes the nullity of marriage, refuses to recognize divorce, and thus Canada, through her Prime Minister, bows her neck on the divorce question, as she does on the school question, to Rome.

A Breakfast Dish.—Chop six eight or ten cold potatoes, beat a frying-pan hot, put in a tablespoonful of butter, add the potatoes, salt a little, stirring frequently. When well heated, turn in four eggs well beaten, and stir quickly. Serve on a hot platter.

Celery Sauce.—Boil a small cupful of rice in three pints of milk until it will pass through a sieve. Grate the white parts of three heads of celery on a bread grater; add this to the milk, after it has been strained. Put to it a quart of strong veal stock; let all boil together till the celery is very tender. Season with salt and cayenne pepper, and serve. Have dry toast cut in dice to add to it, if the perquet like.

A SCOTCH HUSTLER.

Of Pablo Sarasate, the famous violinist who died at Biarritz, a New York musician said the other day:

"I dined with Sarasate during his last American tour. We talked of success, and he declared that success was due, in the main, to excessively hard work.

"To become a great violinist or a great pianist, he declared, one must have the exaggerated ideas of work of your typical Scottish farmers.

"He said that a young boy got a job with a Scottish farmer once.

"'We'll sleep in the barn,' the farmer said, 'and I'll expect ye out in the field lika morn at foor o'clock.'

"'Very well, sir,' said the boy.

"But the first morning he overslept a little, and it was half past four when he reached the field.

"The farmer, leaning on his hoe, gave him a black look.

"'Where have ye been all the forenoon?' he growled."

PRECEDENT.

A hat the size of Saturn's rings
She wore, quite large to view.
But when I asked, "Why hide your head?"
She looked surprised and only said
"The other girls all do."

In dress she wore enormities,
The dreaded sheath gown, too.
A modest, shrinking maid is she.
But fatefully she said to me
"The other girls all do."

One day I caught her in a fib,
Not very large, 'tis true.
Still, when I urged as duty led
A slight remonstrance, she said:
"The other girls all do."

So from her book a leaf I took,
And one I'll never rue.
Now when I beg her for a kiss
And then some more—I say just this
"The other girls all do."

EXTINGUISHED.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
Whence all but he had fled.
When Tommy Gibbs stood up to speak he had it in his head.
But when he saw the schoolroom full of visitors he knew,
From his weak knees and parching tongue, the words had all fled, too.

The boy stood on the burning deck
A second time he tried.
But he forgot about the box, or if he lived or died.

He only knew the burning deck was something nice and cool
Beside the position he'd be in should that awful day go school.

The boy stood on the burning deck
He felt the flames and smoke.
His tongue was thick, his mouth was dry.
And from the Tar Lack seats he heard a whisper and a shout:
"Come back, Tom, and take your seat, they've put the fire out."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

HEALTH SAVING EXPLAINED BY A NAPANEE CITIZEN WHO KNOWS FROM EXPERIENCE.

Many Napanee people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help.

Sick kidneys are responsible for a great amount of suffering and ill health.

The reason so many use Bodth's Kidney Pills is their quick relief for all Kidney weakness. Here is what a Napanee citizen says:—

Mrs. P. O'Neill, of West st., Napanee, Ont., says:—

"Many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble had caused Mr. O'Neill almost constant suffering. He was unable to straighten himself up from the sharp pains that would come across his back in the kidney region. He would take cold very easily and it would always settle in his back. The urine would become highly colored and the Kidney secretions would be very irregular and frequent. He had tried a number of remedies without relief. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended and procuring a box at Mr. Wallace's Pharmacy, he soon felt relief. His back strengthened and the urinary disorders were quickly regulated."

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT.

Ethel's father would not be described, even by those most intimate with his many good points, as a handsome man. The Apollo Belvidere had nothing to fear from him in a beauty contest. His homeliness was the matter of jesting remark recently, and the little girl took it all in.

"Papa," she asked the next day, "God made you, didn't he?"

"Yes, dear," replied her father.

"And did he make me, too?" she questioned farther.

"Certainly," was the reply as he turned back to his book.

"Well," commented Ethel, as she looked in the mirror, "I guess he must be doing better work now."

THE DISAPPOINTED STAR.

However you act,
Whatever you know,
Has nothing to do
To whether you'll go.

It's
The glint of the eye,
The shape of the mouth,
The way you walk,
The way you go out.

It's
The toss of the head,
The tilt of the chin,
That makes them all wonder
And take you right in.

But—
Alas and alack,
I haven't the knack
Of tossing my eye,
Head, chin, or my back.

So,
For this life, I see,
I haven't the goods,
And something sound tells me
It's me to the woods!

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A woman likes to have a man jealous about her so she needn't be about him.

A man has a head for finance when he thinks a stock is going up, but he is too sensible to buy it.

A convenient thing about the big hats girls wear is when they are in the way of your lips they can take them off.

One thing a mother is absolutely sure of is that she can pick a better husband for her daughter than she did for herself.

The thing that vexes a woman about mathematics is it never changes its mind about how much two things added together make.

A COMMON ERROR.

May I examine the children a little as to their knowledge of the language?" asked the visitor of the grammar school, an old gentleman with a benevolent aspect of countenance, but a shrewd twinkle in his eye.

"Certainly, you may," smilingly answered the teacher.

The old gentleman stepped to the blackboard and wrote this sentence upon it:

"Pennsylvania abounds in anthracite coal.

"Now," he said, "I should like to have some child point out the mistake in that sentence.

One of the older girls came forward, picked up the chalk and rewrote the statement thus:

"Anthracite coal abounds in Pennsylvania.

"Not so bad," said the visitor, "but you haven't found it."

Another changed it as follows:

"Pennsylvania abounds with anthracite coal."

"Still incorrect," was the comment.

"Anthracite coal is abundant in Pennsylvania," wrote a third.

"That will not do either," said Mr. Baxter.

One of the big boys tried his hand, with this result:

"Pennsylvania is abundantly supplied with anthracite coal."

"No; that is not so good."

Then a little boy stepped forward and with his finger erased the word "coal."

"That word isn't needed," he said. "Anthracite means hard coal."

"Right," said the visitor. "You have one bright pupil, anyhow, Miss Adair."

A MISREPRESENTATION

A Manila mother-in-law had stayed so often with her daughter as to cause a quarrel with the husband, and one day when she came to visit she found her daughter in tears on the doorstep.

"What's the matter, dear? Has Jack been scolding you?" she asked.

"Yes—sobs!"

"Then there's a woman in the case!" she asked, her eyes lighting up expectantly.

"Yes—sobs!"

"Who is it?" she demanded.

"You—sobs!"

"Gracious!" exclaimed the mother-in-law. "I'm sure I never gave him any encouragement!"

WHY HE WORE GLOVES.

Eugene Higgins, a wealthy financier, was entertaining at dinner in Monte Carlo a party of Americans. The talk turning to play at the casino, Mr. Higgins described an incident he had witnessed the night before.

"In one of the gold rooms," he said, "a gentleman in lavender gloves was playing with wonderful luck, winning nearly every stake. As a great stack of plaques—you know those beautiful, big gold pieces called plaques—was pushed to him by the croupier, I heard a young lady who sat by his ear say:

"'It is very odd, monsieur, to wear gloves at play. What do you do it for? Luck?'

"Not at all,' he replied. 'I promised my wife on her death bed never again to touch a card.'"

MAY BE USEFUL.

To even a skirt when one must fit one self, pin the hem neatly to the underskirt about the hips, so that it hangs straight to the floor. Then fit the top to the figure and pin to the belt. Remove first pins, and if the hang of the skirt is correct, set a yardstick on the floor, exactly vertical against the dress, putting a pin into the skirt where the top of the stick comes; continue this around the skirt until you have a continuous row of pins. Then take off the skirt and finish thirty-four inches from the pins, as if you want it to be two inches above the ground.

A useful mixture to keep on hand for soothing burns or sunburn is that of lime water added to olive oil until a creamy emulsion is formed; then bottled. It should be shaken before using.

Old cashmere and woollen stocking legs are splendid material out of which to shape over drawers for tiny children for cold weather. Out of smaller ones mittens may be cut which will be a boon to the children of the poor. Cut the tuttus legs, several cut into strips, and fastened to the end of a stick make a good duster; two legs split up and sewed together form a broom-bag; while without splitting them they may be used as sleeves. Mittens to wear while sweeping, dusting, etc., but water bottle and hot plate bags of all sorts may also be made from old stockings.

In order to avoid touching gold late with the hands while washing it, make a lather of good white soap, half fill a bottle with it, put in the lace, cork and shake. Rinse also in the bottle. Lay on a board until dry, then press on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron.

The following is recommended as a thoroughly "hygienic" way of spending a day. Upon waking go to the open window and take several long breaths of pure air. Drink a glass of cold or hot water. Take exercises for twenty minutes. Take warm sponge bath followed by cold plunge. Light breakfast—no meat. Short walk—one mile or two. Work. Light luncheon—no meat. Frequent drinks of water during the day. A little rest after lunch. Work. Recreation for one hour combined with out-of-door exercise. Two miles walking. Slight rest. Dinner. Recreation. Two glasses of water. Exercise for fifty minutes. Sleep for eight or nine hours.

To make jellied cranberries, use half as much sugar as berries and half as much water as sugar. For cranberry jelly, strain through a cloth and when the berries have cooked sufficiently to burst up a little.

Sick One Year

London, Ontario, Man Says, "For Chronic Coughs, Colds or Bronchial troubles Vinol is without an Equa.".

I was ill for over a year before taking Vinol. I had tried cod liver oil, also other remedies, but was influenced to try Vinol by seeing it advertised and I can safely recommend it to anyone requiring a first class tonic. It is quite palatable, and pleasant to take, with all the nourishing qualities of the best cod liver oil. For chronic coughs and colds, or bronchial troubles, it is without an equal, as the tonic and nine builds up the run-down system, strengthens the appetite and produces sound sleep." A. J. Gilmour, 510 Aylmer St., London, Ontario.

This is because Vinol is a genuine tonic and body-builder which contains peptonate of iron together with every one of the body-building medicinal elements of cod liver oil, but without one drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. Vinol acts directly on the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, and enables the digestive organs to obtain the necessary elements from the food eaten to make rich, red blood, healthy flesh and muscle tissue and create strength. Your money back if Vinol fails to benefit. T. B. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

A HUMBLE SINNER.

By C. H. Wetherby.

The Bible gives some examples which show how humbly sinners should speak who humble themselves before Him. In those examples we may see the fact that God has a much more favorable regard for the greatest of sinners who humble themselves in deep humility before Him than He has for those proud souls of religious who are so proud and self-righteous that they will not humble themselves before anyone.

Now read about Ahab, the wicked king of Samaria, who married Jezebel, whose career as the king of Israel was a wicked one, but to try to describe him is: There was none like unto Ahab, which did sell himself to do that which was evil in the sight of the Lord—Elijah was sent to him with a message of judgment from God, that many of his sins with a speedy and horrible death. Here is what is said about the effect of that message: "It came to pass, when Ahab heard those words, that he rent his clothes and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted and lay in sackcloth, and went softly."

Never before had Ahab humbled himself in any such manner. He had always been haughty and fearless in his wickedness. He had grown rapidly in hardness of heart and in foolishness of spirit. But now he suddenly became very humble. Would it avail him anything with God? Would his humbling make any difference in God's feelings and actions toward him? Here is the word which the Lord sent to Elijah: "Seest thou how Ahab humbleth himself before me? Because he humbleth himself before me I will not bring the evil in his days; but in his son's days will I bring the evil upon his house." Here was a suspension of God's judgment upon Ahab because of his sincere and deep humbling of himself. But there were did not end in the salvation of Ahab, for it is evident that he died unsaved; yet the example shows us God's pleasure towards the sinner who humbles himself before Him.

The example also gives encouragement to great sinners who may think that their condition is hopeless. If I have any reader who thinks that he is so great a sinner that God will not save him, let me tell you about him. Remember God's mercy to the exceedingly wicked: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon." Isa. 55:7. Now, my friend, if you are a sinner, you have been told how to get pardon and deliverance from sin, and if you do not get it and be saved, it will be your own fault. Will you not do it now?

MOTHER'S COMPLIMENTS.

"Mother's compliments," said a youngster to a butcher who keeps a shop in a busy suburban thoroughfare, "and she's sent me to show you the big bone brought in with the piece of beef this morning."

"Tell your mother next time I kill a bullock without any bone in it I'll make her a present of a joint," said the man of meat, with a grin.

"Mother's compliments," continued the boy, "and she says next time you kill a bit of sirloin with a shoot you of something like a bone I like to buy the whole carcase as a curiosity."

APRIL.

To-day, with April wandering in a wood,
Did last year's withered leaves and tree-all
Blithely she sought, dear child, to comfort find.
Showed me how fair the blue, how sweet the wind.
The long thin shadows of each leafless tree
Athwart the solitude;
Marked me the path of winter beast and bird.
The woodchuck's hole, the fox's sly retreat.
The path the marten makes with tiny feet.
The songsters few and rare in woodlands heard.

And fain her gentle heart would have outpoured
Such wealth as August or September yield.
The flowers and fruits of high midsummer's day.
Or glory of the yellow harvest fields—
When, after toil, in bountiful array,
The goodly stacks are stored.
But blossoms scant were all she could bestow.
The crinkle-root, and the wake-robin red.
Hepaticas that in their lowly bed
All pearly white or pink or purple grow.

These and the springing trilliums, white and gay
That eagerly the schoolboy plucks, when first
The southwind calls him to the woods of spring.
She gave with shim, rosy fingers;—then there
Upon our ears the white-throat's carolling
Calling unto his queen.
Ah, white-throat's song, so plaintive and divine!
So full of longing, throbbing joy and love
O tender, singing white-throat that can move
Pity and rapture in this heart of mine!

As thus I wandered, touched by sight and sound
The meagre blooms, the chill, disturbed me not.
The few lone pipings seemed not desolate
Something invisible but strong, methought
Shall soon a richer, fuller life create.
E'en now doth stir the ground.
And this frail child beside me soon
Shall change into a glory like the dawn.
And radiant with abounding joy put on
The beauty and luxuriance of June!

THE SPRING BUSY MAN'S.

A seventy-two thousand dollar a year man—Hugh Chalmers—tells "How to hire, train and supervise men" in the April number of Busy Man's Magazine. It is a topic full of inspiration and narrated in a bright, snappy style by a salesman who, at twenty-nine years of age, capitalized himself at a million dollars annually sold his services to a company employing five thousand persons, as well as a force of five hundred salesmen. Another article of timely interest is one on "Canadians and Imperial Titles," by J. M. McConnell, who speaks of the change in sentiment and attitude with which decorations are now viewed in the Dominion as compared with the feeling that existed some years ago. "Canadian Pleasure Parks" is also a seasonable contribution from the pen of G. W. Cooper. Splendid tents are presented of several beauty spots in different cities. The April issue of Busy Man's Magazine contains many other racy articles on political and commercial affairs, system and business, life stories of successful people and men and events of the public eye. It is artistically illustrated and makes an excellent travelling companion for Easter-tide or a welcome visitor to the home during the present holiday period.

ROD AND GUN.

Spring Fishing Number.

The first sight of the fine cover of the excellent Spring (April) Fishing Number of ROD AND GUN IN CANADA published by W. J. Taxley, Woodstock, Ont., will stir the blood of the thousands of fishermen throughout the Dominion and start them on the congenial work of preparing for the coming fray. The long and varied nature of the contents of the number, in which fish and fishing topics predominate, will still further stimulate them, and the opening of the fishing season will undoubtedly see an increase in the anglers' ranks as one result of the interest aroused through the wide dissemination of these stories. These articles stand out as of value to the country:—"Preserving the Nation's Fish," by Cyrus McMillan, an illustrated descriptive account of the work of the Prince Edward Island hatchery.—"The Unsolved Mystery of the Salmon," by Bonnveastle Dale, who has spent two years on the Pacific Coast studying the ways of the salmon and, with the exception of one point, leaving the mystery still unsolved; and "Conservation of Non-Nest Building Fishes of the Great Lakes," by W. E. Meehan, Chief Fish Commissioner for Pennsylvania, in which a plea is put forward in behalf of a plan by which there will be great differences of opinion but which cleverly conceals the future of the Great Lakes fisheries. Then fishing trips in four separate provinces are told in a manner guaranteed to stir remembrance of incidents in their own experiences. "A New Brunswick Lost Lake Found," is particularly good, though each story has an interest all its own. A similar variety of fare will be found for those interested in other forms of sport. "A Lady's Moose Hunt in New Brunswick," by Miss Mary Hazelton, reminding us as it does of incidents in their own experiences. "A Camarin Bear Hunt," by Dr. Wm. Hamilton Merritt, is particularly good. Every page of an excellent number the Sportsman will be able to find material which cannot fail to excite the deepest possible interest in him.

HOW TO TELL CLEAN MILK.

Clean milk, says Woman's Home Companion for April, "has no distinct flavor simply a sweet, pleasant one. It is a pure food, except that they are artificial. A test for the sanitary condition of milk is as follows: Put a pint of milk as it is received from the milkman, pour off a few spoonfuls, to facilitate shaking, and place in a pail of warm water, ninety-five to one hundred degrees when thoroughly warm throughout, add one rotten tablet which has previously been dissolved in one spoonful of water, and shake well; then set away in a still place for a few minutes. When curdled cut the curd thoroughly with a knife, to let out the whey. Let stand for a few minutes, drain off all when possible, and continue to pour off the whey at the expiration of two minutes. There will then be a lump of compact curd. Cut this in two with a knife, so that it will fall out. The character of this curd will show very clearly the sanitary quality of the milk. If spongy and full of numerous holes, undesirable forms of bacteria, particularly those that produce gas are present. This class of bacteria is considered by authorities to be one of the causes of epidemic diarrhœa. If firm and smooth, with few or no holes, the milk is clean and has been handled in a sanitary manner. This test may be continued further by placing the curd back in the bottle and filling the bottle full of water. If the curd floats it indicates that the milk is unclean; if it sinks, the milk is reasonably clean."

BETHEL.

Some of our farmers have tapped their trees and had a few days' run, but the snow has prevented the sap from coming.—H. Alexander has been hired to draw milk again for another year through here to Camden East.—Hay is still moving at same price.—The farmers are busy hauling logs to the saw mill.—A number from here attended the boxing and wrestling match at Napanee on Monday night of last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred McWilliams and daughter spent Sunday at Harrington, guests of her parents, John Moore.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Scott spent Sunday at her father's, Mr. Rollings.—Mr. Ira Mitchell is spending a few days at her father's, Hiram Salisbury; also Mr. Albert Salisbury, of Napanee.—Mr. Harold Mr. S. Hamilton intend building new verandahs on their houses this summer.—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wagar, of Napanee, spent a few days recently at W. Curl's.—Curl's bridge is undergoing repairs.—Miss Wagar, our teacher, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Colebrook.—Mr. J. S. Alcombrack and family spent Sunday at Yarker.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Salisbury spent Sunday at Levi Salisbury's.—A number from here are attending lenten services at Camden East, this week.

Fire destroyed two piers in Havana harbor, causing damage amounting to a million dollars.

THE BEST FLOUR: DAFOE'S NONESUCH, DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby handling Peas and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grower complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Ask for prices at the Big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

NOTICE

PRETTY SHOES FOR LITTLE PEOPLE

It's really amazing how our trade in Children's Shoes keeps growing.

Of course there is every good reason for it.

First—We handle the highest grade shoes made in Canada for children—"The Classic"—in all styles, shapes and colors.

Second—Our ability to fit any shape foot from our extra large stock.

Third—The price. We buy all our children's shoes direct from the makers, saving you all middle profits.

Bring the children here and have them properly fitted.

LULU GLASER COMING. Lulu Glaser in "Mlle. Mischief," will appear at the Grand Opera House, Kingston, on Thursday, April 8th. "Mlle. Mischief" tells the adventures, amusing and embarrassing, of a young woman, who, to win a wager, disguises herself in military clothes and spends twenty-four hours in a recruiting barracks. The entire original New York cast, which supported Miss Glaser during her long engagement of twenty weeks in that city, and which will be seen in the production of "Mlle. Mischief" here, includes Alex. Clarke, William Rosell, W. P. Carleton, Roy Atwell, Robert Broderick, Jessie Intropodi, Gertrude Darrell, Ada Henry, Ethel Intropodi, together with a handsome chorus.

"JOSHUA SIMPKINS." The sensational rural comedy drama, "Joshua Simpkins," will be produced at the Bijou Opera House, on Thursday evening, April 8th. The play contains an interesting and intelligible plot, but it is not allowed to interfere with the fun, which is said to be in abundance. During the run of the play some startling scenes and situations are seen, the principal of which is said to be the saw mill, in the third act, shown in complete operation, cutting up real timber. The saw used is the genuine article, the same as usually seen in large country saw mills. An excellent band and fine orchestra accompany this attraction. The band will parade at noon, when some good music may be looked for, all being dressed as farmers. Prices 25c., 35c. and 50c.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. DR. VINCENT, OF THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY BIBLE STUDY CLUB FOR APRIL 11th, 1909.
(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

Easter Lesson. I. Cor. xv: 12-28.

Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. I. Cor. xv: 20.

Verses 12-13—Does the doctrine of the resurrection of the body rest upon revelation or upon reason?

Providing the soul is immortal is it, or not, of material importance whether the body is raised or not?

If there is no resurrection of the dead, it follows as Paul here affirms, that Christ is not risen; but is the converse true, that if Christ is risen then all human beings will necessarily be resurrected?

It seems that some in Corinth denied the resurrection of the dead in the sense that they held to life after death, now if, they were true, then how much would there be left of Christianity?

What is the process of reasoning that demonstrates the fact of resurrection?

What is the scripture proof of life after death?

Can you mention a single nation or tribe of all the men of the present, which has not believed in immortality in some shape?

Verses 16-17—If there is no resurrection of the dead, how would that make their worshipping Jesus, make our faith vain, and make them false witnesses?

Verses 18-19—How is it that all men instinctively believe in the immortality of their departed friends, and expect to meet them again?

It was doubtless true in Paul's day that if there was no immortality Christians were of all men most miserable, because they were then despised, imprisoned and put to death; but is the same true to-day? Is not, Christ's religion now a grand thing for this world even if death did end all?

Verse 20—What is the chief evidence of the truth of Christianity?

What is the proof that Jesus did rise from the dead? (See Matt. xvii: 16-23; Mark xvi: 1-14; Luke xxiv: 36-38; John xx: 1-8, 19-29; xxi: 1-14; Acts i: 1-3, 9; I. Cor. xv: 3-8, et seqq.)

Was not the resurrection of Jesus to be proved by evidence, like any other fact, and is there any other history better attested?

Who was it, when Jesus was crucified that His disciples were a dispirited band, having lost heart, and going back to their former occupation, and what was it afterwards that gave new life in them, and made of them the most courageous men that ever lived? (See Christ and the Times, and in writing be particular to quote Christ and the Times.)

What became of the sentiment these of their unbelief?

Is it reasonable that such noble men, who afterward had died rather than lives for the truth, would testify that they had seen and talked with Jesus after his death if they had not so seen him?

Verse 29—How would they have been subject of death if there had been no such resurrection of the dead, if Jesus had not been resurrected?

Verses 35-36—Was Christ the first man to rise from the dead?

When will the general resurrection be?

Will Christ finally abolish death and destroy sin?

Has God not all the forces of nature on His side? (Luke xxiv: 1-7.)

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

A large number of friends assembled at the home of Mrs. S. E. Babcock, Waterloo, surprising Mr. and Mrs. Hilborn Wager on Tuesday evening, March 16th. The evening was spent very pleasantly in games and music. After supper was served, Mr. and Mr. Wager were requested to listen to a verbal address given by Mr. Mark Witherdin, who on behalf of these present, presented a beautifully enbossed rocking chair to Mr. Witherdin assisted the couple that they were in the midst of true friends, and extended kindest wishes for their future welfare. Brief replies from Mr. and Mrs. Wager gave evidence of their appreciation for the kindness shown and good wishes expressed. Mr. and Mrs. Wager will in the near future take up residence on Central St., in the same city.

FOLDED WINGS

Ah! toiled and fought but not for me,
Yet this bird longs to be free.
Those are not lost but "gone before",
To rest with folded wing.
Those are harping with the seraphs
From the golden strings.
Within radiance of glory
Upon thy folded wings.

I miss thee more my foodie loved,
Each hour that time doth ring;
Long to be where thou art now,
And rest with folded wing.
Long to see thy loving smile,
To hear the sweet voice sing.
My fond heart yearns to be with thee
At rest with folded wing.

An aft I look up from my book
To see some thing I've missed,
My lasting heart is wrung with grief
To see you're not in sight.
Time, my belated, fails to heal
The wounds that have been made.
It only makes me deeper feel.

But I'll think of thee in Heaven
Amid the white robed throng,
With a glory crown upon thy head,
The ring upon thy hand.
Thou are harping with the angels,
From their rapt, and
With a radiance of glory
Upon thy folded wings.

THE MARATHON PACE.

A FRENCH RUNNER IS NOW CHAMPION.

Thirty Thousand Spectators at the Marathon Derby.

The Marathon Derby ran at New York on Saturday, provided a surprise in the "Marathon-mad" world in being won by Henri St. Yves, of France. The race was a distance of 26 miles, 385 yards, Prize $10,000, divided. The competitors, their time and amount of money received was as follows:

Henri Henri St. Yves, France, $5,000, time 2:40.50 2-5.

Second, Dorando Pietri, Italy, $2,500, time 2:45.37.

Third, J. J. Hayes, New York $1,250, time 2:49.27.

Fourth, Mat Maloney, New York, $1,000, but failed.

Thomas Longboat, Canada, abandoned the race before the twentieth mile.

Alfred Shrubb, England, fell out in the twenty-fifth.

The time made by St. Yves was the fastest ever made in an American Marathon.

The winner is not yet 21 years of age and until a year ago was a waiter in a London restaurant. Short of stature, slender. He is short in stature, with powerful legs, broad shoulders, deep chest and muscular arms. He has a short, choppy, deceptive stride, with abilities for endurance developed from the first mile to the last.

The Ills of Babyhood and of Children.

The ills of childhood are many, and may prove serious if not promptly attended to. In all homes where Baby's Own Tablets are kept there is a prompt cure at hand for such troubles as indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, constipation, worms, and teething troubles. And the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine contains no opiate or poisonous drug. Mrs. H. Hammond, Copetown, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and think nothing could equal them for small children. I would not be without them in the house for they saved my little girl's life." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EXHIBITION OF FINE HORSES.

A sight seldom witnessed in Napanee took place on the streets in front of the Royal Hotel, at 2 o'clock p.m. Saturday, April 3d, when Capt. Wade (who represents the well known firm of Graham Bros., importers and dealers in pure bred Clydesdale and Hackney stallions) assisted by Harry Hunter, had a parade of three grand looking Clydesdale Stallions, and a magnificent Hackney Stallion, whose equal for size and grand points was never seen in this vicinity before at the same time. Mr. Hunter exhibited a splendid Clydesdale brood mare, and by her side, one of her colts, ten months old, (stallion) that would win "red" tickets on any exhibition grounds as fast as he could be shown. We understand one or more of these Clydesdale Stallions are liable to remain in this vicinity, which will be good news to farmers wishing to breed their mares to first-class horses. And it is a great pity we could not keep such a magnificent horse as this Hackney in our midst, that our farmers might raise a class of horses that will bringing the highest price in almost every market known to-day. Mr. Wade has a well known reputation in Lennox for the best all round horses in Canada. Mr. Cooke secured a fine pair (pedal) of this group of horses, which will probably be on exhibition at the Royal Hotel later on.

BRISCO OPERA HOUSE.

No company travelling to-day has a more enviable reputation than the popular company bearing the name of Murphy-Mack Comedy Company, which comes to the Brisco Opera House, on Monday, April 12th. The programme is made up of moving pictures and vaudeville acts, which are all good. The latest novelty is the Talking pictures. These are done by real actors, who are behind the screen and who talk out the character portrayed in the moving pictures, and must not be confounded with the phonograph talking picture which produce simply a very unsatisfactory effect. Remember the largest ever shown here, and for that reason are the standard pictures, and do not effect the eyes in the least, like the small pictures usually shown. Remember the date, Monday, April 12th. Popular prices, 10c and 20c.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

To Bro. H. B. Gillette.

Dear Brother,—We, the officers and members of L.O.L. No. 490, Croydon, desire to convey to you our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in your sad bereavement, caused by the death of your loving wife. We all realize the bitter pangs of sorrow which grim death has caused in your home, but trust that you will bear your cross with Christian fortitude trusting always in Him who doeth all for the best, and nothing detrimental to the welfare of his earthly flock.

Hear me, O God
A broken heart is my best part;
That I may prove therein my love
If Thou hadst not
Been stern to me, but left me free
I had forgot myself and Thee.

We commend you, dear brother, to the Divine keeping of Him, who comforts those who mourn.

Signed on behalf of the Lodge.

DEATH OF MRS. SICKER.

On Saturday morning last Mrs. Elmina Sicker, relict of the late Wm. Sicker, passed away at the age of eighty-two years and six months. Deceased whose maiden name was Elmina Derby, was born in this neighborhood, and lived here until her marriage, after which she resided in the states, and about ten years ago came to Napanee to reside. She has been an invalid for about fifteen years, and a great sufferer. She has been tenderly cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Stevens. Of a family of several children, Mrs. Stevens is the only one left. A son, George H. Sicker, died a few years ago. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, the remains were taken to Mereton for interment. Her grandson, Charles W. Hannahs, Olean, N.Y., came over to attend the funeral. The deceased had many friends in Napanee who extend their sympathy to Mrs. Stevens, in the loss of a loving mother.

AGED LADY DEAD

Mrs. William Garrett Passed Peacefully Away.

The death occurred March 29th, at the home of her son, Wm. E. Garrett, Watertown, N.Y., of a much beloved and devout Christian woman, Mrs. Wm. Garrett, whose maiden name was Mary E. Murphy. She married Wm. Garrett, of Centreville, who predeceased her sixteen years ago. She was a devout member of the R. C. church a saintly woman of the type that recommends saintliness to others, having strong faith and being at all times active and interested in all departments of church work.

Mrs. Garrett's death was due to old age, she having reached the age of eighty-two years. Her death was painless and was a quiet slipping away from the earthly to a higher life. Deceased was the mother of ten children, eight of whom survive her, viz., Mrs. John McDonnell, Toronto; Mrs. P. Kennedy, Enterprise; Mrs. Randall McAlister, Napanee; Mrs. H. F. Asselstine, Deseronto; Mr. John Boyer, Tamworth; Mrs. Robert Clancy, Kingston, and James of Syracuse, and Wm. E. of Watertown, N.Y., also Mrs. John McGraw, Centreville, and Mrs. Thos. McHenry, Belleville, deceased. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the R. C. church, Centreville, where the remains were placed in the vault to await interment.

YOUR WEAK SPOT.

Perhaps it is your throat or your bronchial tubes. If not you have a friend in Scott's Emulsion. It checks any tendency to serious results from a cold, hacking cough.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. George Stimson and family wish to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and assistance during the illness and death of Mrs. Stimson. 15ap

THE OLD LOYALIST.

Among the many personal and press comments on Mr. Charles Calvin's play, the Old Loyalist is the following:

Mr. Percy Wilson, Lindsay, formerly of Napanee—Some of the characters are drawn with distinct power. As I read the story through, and confess I did not lay came back fresh and vivid as in the days when I used to fish and row in the slows its banks. The story will make a very fine play. Some of the characters, with touches of a delicate and fine order.

MAKING HIMSELF SOLID.

"Step this way, ladies and gentlemen," exclaimed the lecturer in the dime museum, "and gaze upon one of the greatest wonders known to medical science—the Unsolid Man. He is not dead, but only normal in every other respect, but who has turned to stone."

"How did he get that way?" came a voice from the awe-stricken throng.

"Worry," replied the lecturer, lowering his voice, confidentially; "love did it. He fell in love with a rich young maiden, tried to make himself solid, and overdid it. We will now pass on to the—"

LADY PAGET ON TIPPING.

Lady Arthur Paget, at a recent dinner given in honor of Frederick Marriott, the Panama traveller, talked of American customs. On the subject of tipping she said:

"Tips here are three times as high as are in England and four times as big as they are in France. The tip people that annoy me most are those who think of tipping you every one in sight. It not only makes you feel like a fool, but it makes you look like one. I remember a man's wife said to me: 'What time do you wash your hair on your dress coat?'

"I must have come from the dearest manager that ever lived.

"Ridiculous! The people who put a long golden hair on my coat. 'Ah, but I wonder how I forgot to tip him for it.'"

ON LAZINESS.

Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of the Avenue Baptist Church, Norwalk, Ohio, formerly of Cleveland, preached on laziness. "Laziness is progressive," he said, "and the misery of a lazy man is after very well to blame. Laziness is not what it used to be. Since I left the ministry I have become a lawyer. The warning I have learned is this:

"The super powerful store ... Most grasped."

"I can truthfully that I believe that, but the use of your Emulsion would long since have been in my grave. I was past work—could not walk up-hill without coughing very hard."

THIS, and much more is written by Mr. G. W. Hilton, Clark's Gap, W. Va. If you would like to send you a copy of his letter, or I might write him direct. If case was really marvelous, but is only one of the many proofs that is the most strengthening and re-vitalizing preparation in the world. Even in the most stubborn of all diseases (consumption) it does wonders, and in less serious troubles, such as chronic bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, or loss of flesh from any cause the effect is much quicker.

Do not delay. Get a bottle of SCOTT'S EMULSION—be sure it's SCOTT'S—and try it.

ALL DRUGGISTS

Let us send you Mr. Hosworth's letter and some literature on Consumption. Write and we'll send you a Post Card and a Booklet.

Sophy of Kravonia
by ANTHONY HOPE
Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"
Copyright, 1908, Anthony Hope Hawkins

Following her dead, she passed out of sight. Immediately the crowd began to disperse, though most of the men with arms gathered around Lakovitch and seemed to await his orders.

Basil Williamson moved away from the window, with a heavy sigh and a gesture of dejection.

"I wish we could get her safe out of it," he said. "Isn't it wonderful, her being there?"

"Yes, but I'd forgotten that." Dunstanbury was still by the window. He had been thinking that his service now would not be to monsieur. Yet no doubt Basil had mentioned the wisest form of service. Sophy's own few words—the words for which she cried Heaven's stillness—hinted at another.

But Basil had recalled his mind to the marvel. Moved as he had been by his talk with Sophy and even more by the scene which had just been enacted before his eyes, his face lit up with a smile as he looked back to Basil.

"Yes, old fellow—wonderful! Sophy Grouch! Queen of Kravonia! It beats Marlowe holl-ow!"

"It's pretty nearly as dreary," said Basil, with a discontented grunt.

"I find it pretty nearly as exciting," Dunstanbury said, "and I hope for a happier ending. Meanwhile"—he hooked the leather belt which held his revolver around his waist—"I'm for some breakfast, and then I shall go and ask that tall fellow who did all the talking if there's anything I can do for King Sophia. By Jove, wouldn't Cousin Mel open her eyes?"

"You'll end by getting yourself stuck up against the wall and shot," Basil grumbled.

"If I do I'm quite sure of one thing, old fellow—and that is that your wooden old mug will be next in the line or thereabouts."

"I say, Dunstanbury, I wish I could have saved him!"

"So do I. Did you notice her face?"

Williamson gave a scornful toss of his head.

"Well, yes, I was an ass to ask that!" Dunstanbury admitted candidly. It would certainly not have been easy to avoid noticing Sophy's face.

At 6 o'clock that morning Max von Hollbrandt took horse for Slavna. His diplomatic character at once made it proper for him to rejoin his legation and enabled him to act with somewhat with safety to himself. He carried the tidings of the death of the king and of the proclamation—of Sophy. There was no concealment. Volseni's defiance to Slavna was open and avowed. Volseni held that there was no true Stefanovitch left and cited the will of the last of the royal house as warrant for its choice. The gauntlet was thrown down with a royal air.

It was well for Max to get back to his post. The diplomatists in Slavna and their chiefs at home were soon to be busy with the affairs of Kravonia. Mistitch had struck at the life of even more than his king—that was to become evident before many days had passed.

Chapter Twenty-nine

It is permissible to turn with some relief, although of a kind more congenial to the cynic than the admirer of humanity, from the tragedy of love in Volseni to the comedy of politics which began to develop itself in Slavna from the hour of the proclamation of young Alexis.

The first result of this auspicious

MAKES ASTONISHING CURES.
MI-O-NA TABLETS CURE DYSPEPSIA BY PROPER TREATMENT OF THE CAUSE, OR MONEY BACK.
There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and indigestion, trivial or serious and that is to tone up or put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.
Mi-o-na Tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.
Harry Dodd, of Bridge Street, Hastings, Ont., says: "For seven years, I had suffered and spent much money doctoring, but all to no avail. I could eat but very little, as the food would ferment and sour, making gas, which caused serious misery, sour gas would belch from my stomach, I was languid and weak and had no ambition. I did not feel like going anywhere or seeing anyone. There was a constant dull pain in the pit of the stomach. I was unable to sleep, was nervous, restless and would awake more tired than on going to bed. I tried Mi-o-na and soon found relief and in less than six weeks Mi-o-na had completely cured me.
T. B. Wallace, the druggist, sells Mi-o-na tablets at 50 cents a large box, and has a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them or money back.

Grippe Victim

Restored to Health and Strength by Vinol After all Other Means Had Failed.

Professor Hicks' Story.

"I suffered from a severe attack of the grippe which left me in a weakened condition with bronchitis, a soreness in my chest and a hacking cough. I tried different physicians and took nearly every kind of cough syrup sold on the market without getting any permanent relief. I saw your cod liver and iron preparation Vinol—advertised, and decided to try it, and am completely cured of my bronchial trouble and restored my strength. I cannot say too much for Vinol, as I received inestimable benefit from its use, and I consider it one of the greatest blessings ever offered to the public." H. E. R. Hicks, Maplesville, Ala.

The grippe invariably leaves us in a weak, shattered, run-down condition of the system. Vinol is guaranteed to restore the sufferer to health and strength and to build up and create strength for old people, delicate children and weak, debilitated people. No one else we of this that we unhesitatingly say, give Vinol a trial. If you think it does you no good, we will refund your money, but it will not. T. H. Wallace, Druggist, Napanee, Ont.

significant a person to feel called upon to have a cold—moved about Slavna much animated with the situation and highly gratified that the fruit which the coterie had plucked looked like turning bitter in their mouths.

Within the palace on the river bank young Alexis was strutting his brief hour vastly pleased, but Countess Ellenburg was at her prayers again, praying rather indiscriminately against everybody who might be dangerous—against Sophy at Volseni, against the Slavna neighbors, whose designs began to be whispered; against Stenovics, who was fighting so hard for himself that he gave little heed to her or to her dignity; against Stafnitz, who might have her the dignity, such as it was, but certainly, if he established his own supremacy, would not leave her a shred of power. Perhaps there were specters also against whose accusing shades she raised her petition—the man she had deluded, the man she had helped to kill—but that theme seems too dark for the comedy of Slavna in these days. Those practical ears may she took, as far as this world goes, was to send a very solid sum of money to a bank in Dresden. It was not the first remittance she had made from Slavna.

Matters stood thus—young Alexis having been on the throne in Slavna and Sophy in Volseni for one week—when Lepage ventured out from Zerkovitch's sheltering roof. He had suffered from a chill by no means purely diplomatic; but, apart from that, he had been in no hurry to show himself. He feared to see Rastats's rat face peering for him. But all was quiet. Sterkoff and Rastats were busy with their colonel in Suleiman's tower. In fact, nobody took any notice of Lepage. His secret, once so vital, was now gossip of the market place. He was secure, but he was also out of a situation.

He walked somewhat furiously into St. Michael's square, and, as luck would have it—Lepage thought it very bad luck—first man he ran against was Captain Markart. Uneasy in his conscience, Lepage tried to evade the encounter, but the captain was of another mind. He faced was sound again, and on cool reflection, he was glad to have slept through the events of what Stenovics' proclamation had styled "the glorious day." He seized little Lepage by the arm, greeted him with cordiality and carried him off to drink at the Golden Lion. Without imputing any serious lack of society to his companion, Lepage thought that this refreshment was not the first of which the good Dumoyel captain had partaken that afternoon, his manner was so very cordial, his talk so very free.

"Well, here we are," he said. "We did our best, you and I, Lepage. Our consciences are clear. As loyal subjects we have now to accept the existing regime."

"What is it?" asked Lepage. "I've been indoors a week."

"It's Alexis—still Alexis! Long live Alexis!" said Markart, with a laugh. "You surely don't take Baroness Delesviaintoaccount?"

"I just wanted to know," said Lepage, drinking thoughtfully. "And—er—captain—behind Alexis? Guiding the youth of "Long live Alexis!" said Markart.

king? Countess Ellenburg?"

"No doubt, no doubt. Behind him his very pious mother, Lepage."

"And behind her?" persisted Lepage. Markart laughed, but cast a glance round and shook his head.

"Come, come, captain, don't leave an old friend in the dark, just where information would be useful."

"An old friend! Oh, when I remember my aching head! You think me very forgiving, M. Lepage."

"If you knew the night I spent, you'd forgive me anything," said Lepage, with a shudder of reminiscence.

"Ah, well," said Markart after another draft. "I'm a soldier. I shall obey my orders."

"Perfect, captain! And who will give them to you, do you think?"

"That's exactly what I'm waiting to see. Oh, I've turned prudent! No more adventures for me!"

"I'm quite of your mind, but it's so difficult to be prudent when one doesn't see clearly for the greatest side."

"You wouldn't go to Volseni?" laughed Markart.

"Perhaps not, but there are difficulties nearer home. If you went out of this door and turned to the left, you would come to the offices of the council of ministers. If you turned to the right and thence to the right again and on to the north wall, you would come, captain, to Suleiman's tower. Now, as I understand, Colonel Staffnitz"—

"Is at the tower and the general at the offices, eh?"

"Precisely. Which turn do you mean to take?"

Markart looked round again. "I shall sit here for a bit longer," he said. He finished his liquor thereby perhaps, adding just the touch of openness lacking to his advice and, leaning forward, touched Lepage on the arm.

"Do you remember the prince's guns, the guns for which he bartered Captain Hercules?"

"Aye, well!" said Lepage.

"They're on the river, up at Kolskol now. I should keep my eye on them. They're to be brought to Slavna. Who do you think'll bring them? Keep your eye on that!"

"They're both scoundrels," said Lepage, rising to go.

Markart shrugged his shoulders. "The fruit lies on the ground for the man who can pick it up. Why not? There's nobody who's got any right to it now."

He expressed exactly the view of the two great neighbors, though by no means in the language in which their official communications adopted.

Stenovics knew their views very well. He had also received a pretty plain intimation from Stafnitz that the colonel considered the escorting of the guns to Slavna as a purely military task, superintendence of it to the ministry of state, but to the officer commanding the garrison in the capital. Stafnitz was that officer, and he proposed himself to go to Kolskol. Suleiman's tower, he added, would be left in the trustworthy hands of Captain Sterkoff. Again Stenovics fully understood. Indeed, the colonel was almost brutally candid. His letter was nothing less than plain word that power lay with the sword and that the sword was in his own hand. Stenovics had got rid of King Sergius only to fall under the rule of Dictator Stafnitz. Was that to be the end of it?

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Is the ship stripped to repel boarders?

No; to repel customs' boards.

Nell—I think Maud has more color than her sister.

Belle—Yes; about 57 cents worth more.

Warren arrange the whole system. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator destroys worms and gives rest to the sufferer. It will do as much for you. Try it and be convinced.

"Do you believe that the good die young?"

"I think they do, if all my wife tells me about her first husband is true."

A lady writes: "I was enabled to remove the corns, root and branch, by the use of Holloway's Corn Cure. Others who have tried it have the same experience."

The doctor says you must stop eating meat and drinking whiskey.

"Well," replied the major, meat never did agree with me."

IT IS THE FARMER'S FRIEND—The farmer will find in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil a potent remedy for wounds or pains in the body or for affections of the respiratory organs, and for household use generally. He will also find it a convenient friend in treating injured horses, cattle, etc., or in healing them when attacked by colds, coughs or any kindred ailments to which they are subject.

Weary Walker—Dis paper sez dey's quite a few people dat t'inks it's unlucky to begin any work on Friday.

Rarson Tatters—Well, dat's a good beginnin'. Mebbe after while people'll see dat sensible about every day in de week.

NOT A NAUSEATING PILL.—The excellence of a pill is the substance which will keep the digestive organs in order and still make them. That of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is so combined as to meet this want. Nothing that could be carried into them may interfere. Without this they would be useless. Many have, in order to keep them from nauseating, filled them with drugs which only serve to make the matter worse. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so prepared that they are agreeable to the most delicate.

Julia—The man I married was in love with himself.

Marie—It's lucky for you, my child, that he wasn't in love with his money.

HOW TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of a scientific study of the effects of extracts of certain roots and herbs upon the digestive organs. Their use has demonstrated in many instances that they regulate the action of the liver and the kidneys, purify the blood, and carry off the morbid accumulations from the system. They are easy to take and their action is mild and beneficial.

Mrs. Dobson—Bridget told me she saw Mr. and Mrs. Hobson going to church this morning. I wonder what is the matter?

Mr. Dobson—Why, either Mr. Hobson has another attack of heart trouble or Mrs. Hobson has a new hat.

In its initial stage a cold is a local ailment easily dealt with. But many neglect it and allow it to develop into the gravest of distressing sequences of the bronchial tubes and lungs that render life miserable for the unhappy victim. As a first aid there is nothing in the hands of druggists to be obtained in curative results as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is unrivalled remedy for colds and coughs.

Among the oddest "personals" ever inserted in the "society column" was one that appeared in a paper published in an Iowa town. It read as follows: "Mrs. Coulter, being confined to her bed by illness, will not be at home next Thursday as usual."

"Speaking of matrimony," said the portly passenger, "this car couldn't hold all the women I have married."

"What!" exclaimed the hardware drummer. "Do you mean to say that you are a bigamist?"

"Certainly not," rejoined the P. P.; "I'm a minister."

THE COWBOY BARONET
SIR GENILLE CAVE-BROWN-CAVE PROVES ZAM-BUK EXCELLENT FOR HURTS AND SORES.
Sir Genille Cave-Brown-Cave, of Stretton Hall, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leicestershire (he is better known in Canada as "the Cowboy Baronet"), has had a wide experience of the value of Zam-Buk. Writing to a friend recently, and speaking of Zam-Buk, he says:—
"I feel it is only my duty to let you know what great benefit I have derived from using Zam-Buk lately, and having it in constant use. For the sprains and bruises which I have incurred in my horsemanship, and in my cowboy life generally, I have found it a reliable and speedy healer. Some of the best riders in the West that I know, use Zam-Buk regularly with the greatest benefit. I may mention that, on one occasion, my horse, 'Jock,' came down with me, rolling over my limbs, and tearing pieces of skin off my arms. By use of Zam-Buk immediately the wounds and bruises were cleanly and quickly healed, and the raw parts covered with new, healthy skin.
"When on the Mexican plains, I have used Zam-Buk for poisonous insect-bites. "Zam-Buk has yielded me far more remarkable results and generally proved more reliable than anything else I have done in the way of mere ointments or embrocations; and I think it unequaled for skin injuries and diseases.
"No clearer evidence than the above from that well-known literary could be needed to prove the unique merit of Zam-Buk, and to show the wisdom of always keeping handy a box of this wonderful balm.
Zam-Buk is Nature's own healing balm, being composed of pure herbal essences. It is a sure cure for eczema, ringworm, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad leg, piles, festering sores, scalds, skin injuries and blood poisonings. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c. a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto; 3 boxes $1.25. Beware of worthless imitations and substitutions. Insist on getting genuine Zam-Buk.

HUYLER'S AND EASTER.

What's Easter to any girl without a box of "Huyler's." A special supply of nice fresh Bon Bons at Wallace's Drug Store for Easter.

A CANADIAN INVESTOR.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Lake, of Toronto, Canada, have been spending the past two weeks with Mr. R. A. Corson on his ranch four miles north of Delano.

Mr. Lake has been in the building and real estate business for forty years and comes with a wide experience, having owned property from Saskatchewan to Florida in that time.

He is so well pleased with this section that he has purchased forty acres adjoining the Corson property and will begin to improve this fall.

They go south this week, but Mr. Lake may return very soon with some other parties whom he may induce to invest in this vicinity.

He said he had no intentions of buying anything when he left home, but he evidently knows a good thing when he sees it.—Delano Record, Delano, California.

NEWS NOTES.

A great find of magnetic iron is reported on Campbell River, Vancouver Island.

The Earl of Carrick, who served against the Fenians in Canada in 1870, is dead.

France will collect a duty of $120 on foreign balloons landing on French territory.

Two boys were killed at Pittsburg through the breaking of the cable on the incline railway.

Six hundred saloons and ten breweries will be forced out of business in Michigan's nineteen "dry" counties.

Harry Evans was arrested at Fort Erie on a charge of attempting to pass a fifty-dollar Confederate bill. He said he was with two strangers when they found it, and he gave genuine money for a share in the find.

WALLACE'S CEILINGS There is nothing better for walls and ceilings than "Decolint". It is readily mixed with water. Does not settle in the pail. Gives a smooth surface to the wall. Will not rub off. In all the latest colors, at The Medical Hall. Fred. L. Hooper, Sole Agent, Napanee.

Women's Neckwear and Belts

Two cases are filled with the season's latest novelties in Neckwear, Belts and Belting.

If it comes from Robinson's, you know it's up-to-date.

Women's Skirts

MARVELS OF EXPERT WORKMANSHIP.

Present fashions exact a high degree of ability in designing the separate Skirt so that it will have line and grace and "hang." Skirts here have these attributes to a marked degree of perfection.

No need to go fancy price nither. Skirts at $4.50, $5.00, $6.75, $7.50, have all the talking points that careful buyers are looking for.

Just now several hundred to choose from.

New Awning Materials

PRETTY STRIPES.

There was a time when awning materials were confined to two or three staple patterns—not so to-day. We opened a case of imported awning stripes this week with designs attractive as a dress fabric.

Tans with yellow, browns with blue, greens with red, red with white. 25c. to 35c. a yard. If out of town, write for samples.

Millinery for Careful Hard-to-please Customers

Very many women seem to feel that the new styles are not for them. Not only this year—but every year, it's so. Yet there is some one new style or adaptation that is as much for each individual as though the style had been created for them. Its largely in the skill, patience and good sense of the salesperson, where there's much worth while to choose from, as at Robinson's.

A hat that looks well; that is comfortable; that won't make the head ache. Robinson Millinery lads.

Dozens of hats are ready to-day, with almost no exact duplicate.

Women's Llama Hose---Special 39c pair

You perhaps know how good a value we sell at 50c. in a Woman's Llama Hose. Well, we have an equal value brought out in a slightly lighter weight suitable for Spring season's wear. Sizes 8½, 9, 9½. 39c. pair. Would you like to see them?

"Old Bleach Linens" for Suitings

Suitings made from "Old Bleach" Linens have a lustre and appearance known to no other Linens. They draw perfectly because they are soft and without chemical dressing or sticky matter.

They are particularly adapted for embroidery or drawn work, warp and wool being of the same yarn.

Trade mark "Old Bleach" on every yard.

Women's Knitted Spring Underwear

The wise buyers anticipate their needs and make selection from wide assortments of styles and sizes are at best.

VESTS with sleeves and sleeveless, cotton, lisle, silk and wool, cotton and wool. 10c. to $1.00 a garment.

DRAWERS, open and closed. 25c., 35c., 50c.

COMBINATIONS—Zenith and Spring Needle make, fit like a glove. $1.50, $1.75, $2.50 a suit.

Newest Wash Goods

Choosing styles in Cotton Dress Goods that will be popular is more than mere guess work. It must be based on an intimate knowledge of your preferences.

And year after year you will hear so many women say that THE PRETTIEST STYLES ARE ALWAYS AT ROBINSON'S, and we have never before shown such variety in the Wash Dress Goods.

CREPE—One of the crinkle weaves that New York trade has taken up strongly. Just opened, Plain, Pink, Sky, Navy, Copenhagen, Helio. Novelty designs with borders in Skyand Navy.

WHITE—One table with nearly every wantable weave represented. Vestings, Repps, Poplins, Indian Heads, Pique, Bedford, Barred Swiss, 15c. to 50c. yard.

Carpet and Housefurnishing Department News

Housecleaning time makes extra demands on this section. We can give you better service if you let us have your orders early. Not only better service, but the early buyer has the advantage of greater choice. Just now the department is filled to overflowing with home things.

RUGS for any room in the house, $3.00 to $45.00.

CARPETS to please the masses and the classes, 15c. to $2.00 yard.

WINDOW SHADES—Plain Oils, Watercolors and Lace. Trimmed. Special attention to special measurements.

OILCLOTHS AND LINOLEUMS—Canadian Oilcloth, 25c. yard. Scotch and domestic Linoleums, 2 and 4 yards wide, 35c. to $1.00 yard.

LACE CURTAINS from 25c. to $12.00 pair. Our Lace Curtain catalogue is ready for mailing.

CURTAIN MATERIALS—From Scrim at 6c. yard to Swiss and Madras at 75c. yard.

If it is your wish we will show you Carpets in your own home anywhere within a radius of 100 miles of Napanee.

We Have an Attractive Showing of Women's Suits, Coats and Skirts

For the benefit of our mail order customers we have issued a folder showing the pictures of three leading styles from our Ready-to-wear section. One Spring Jacket and two Costumes. We will be pleased to mail you a copy on request.

FOR THE BOYS we will place on sale 50 Shirts in sizes 12 to 14 at 37c. each.

Men's Easter Shirts and Neckwear.

Correct styles—rest assured of that. Never had a finer line of Shirts at 75c., $1.00, $1.25 and up to $2.00. Those neat snappy styles that appeal to men who know what's what. The assortment of Shirts at $1.00 are simply fine. Coat style, cuffs attached, as well as separate cuffs.

NECKWEAR AT 15c., 25c., 50c., IN NEWEST EFFECTS. — A man might choose blindfolded from these Neckwear stocks and draw a prize each time. If you want to know which colors are most asked for, they are the taupes and greens. All shapes.

Easter Gloves for Men.

More particular than most stores, we insist on a real Kidskin Glove at a dollar, for street wear, and real Dogskin Gloves at a dollar for driving.

Don't forget we are sole agents for the celebrated "Fownes" Gloves. The greatest glove values of the year are here.

Men's Hats for Easter.

Derby Hats and Soft Hats in the "King," "Borsalino," "Thoroughbred," "Battersby" and "Buckley" makes.

Our Hats at $2.00 compare with others selling at $2.50.

Three new cases in this week for Easter.

Get the Boy's Easter Suit To-day.

No doubt about the correctness of styles at Robinson's.

BOYS' 3-PIECE SUITS—Special values at $2.50 and $5.00. Others up to $8.50.

BOYS' NORFOLK SUITS — the latest effects—at $2.50 to $6.00.

BOYS' BLOUSE SUITS at $2.00 to $5.00.

Double breasted and single breasted styles in all the newest brown and green and gray shades of Tweeds and Worsteds.

Reefers at bargain prices.

Top Coats at $3.00 to $5.00 each.

Sizes 3 years to 17.

Ellis Spring Needle Underwear

In all the Spring and summer weights.

Combination one-piece and two-piece Suits, which is the best.

Balbriggan Summer Underwear, some special values.

Merino and Natural Wool, all the best makes.

In fact, in Robinson Co.'s Men's Underwear there is always something that will just please every customer, because the assortment is always so large and varied.

Robinson Co's. Men's Clothing Leads in Value

The cloth is shrunk, then dried, then resurfaced to bring back the beautiful finish it originally had. Every item of lining and trimming is shrunk. Coats are made so that a series of stays carries the weight of the pockets. Instead of more argument we give this guarantee:
A new Suit or Garment cheerfully given for one that fails.
Special values in Blue Serge Suits received this week at $7.50, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00. These are by far the best values we have ever seen. Compare them with anything you have ever seen at $1.50 to $2.50 more per Suit—you will even then find them as good.

The Robinson Co., Limited.

Is Napanee's Greatest Dry Goods Store. Napanee, Ontario.

—Good Friday.

—See list of Lawrason's Saturday Specials" on page 5.

—Mr. Anson Denison is building the stone wall for his new barn.

"Made in Napanee" Tinware at M. S. Madole's.

—Mr. Jacob Brooks sold his horse last week, for which he received $110.60.

—Temporary pleasure is often the seed sown for a lifetime harvest in heartache and tears.—G. A. S., Napanee.

—The water in the river above the falls is lower this spring by several inches than it has been in several years.

—Mr. Elmour Galbraith, of Croydon, has sold his farm to Mr. Thos. Dewey, and has moved to Frankford.

—S. H. Crabbe has sold his farm at Chambers to W. E. Cumming. Mr. Crabbe will remain in the place for a year.

—The property of the late Stephen Gibson was not sold on Saturday last. We understand it will be offered again tomorrow.

—The ice is all out of the Napanee River, and the lumber expects to make her regular trips about the 15th of this month.

When in need of a good hair cut or shave, call on L. A. SCOTT, at the Campbell House, Barber Shop. None but first class workmen employed.

—Street Commissioner Lowry had a gang of men out on Wednesday and Thursday giving Dundas street a much needed scrape and clean-up. It is a decided improvement.

—The new flag spring took out the supports from under the old iron bridge erected in 1846, but the cables recently placed there, makes it quite substantial for some time do come.

—The entertainment, entitled "Mr. Bob" given by the members of St. Luke's A. Y. P. A. is to be repeated at an early date in the hall, Camden East. Lookout for further announcements.

—It's about time that steps should be taken to organize a baseball team this year. Last year's team gave a splendid account of themselves and were given fair support, although the attendance at the games this year should be considerably increased.

—Messrs. R. H. Shipman and John McCullough are fitting out their schooners, "Minnie Wing" and "The Jamieson," respectively. R. Shipman has installed a steam hoist on the "Minnie" which will save a great deal of hard labor. It can be used for hoisting the sails, hoisting coal, hoisting the anchor and a syphon worked by steam, is used for taking the water out of the hold.

—At the Town Council meeting, on Monday evening the Board of Health recommended that a by-law be passed requiring all vendors of milk to take out a license, the fee to be placed at a nominal figure. The object is to have the names of all vendors filed with the Secretary of the Board of Health in order that their herds may be inspected from time to time. This is a step in the right direction. The matter was put in the hands of the Printing and By-law Committee to prepare a By-law.

—That the Selby Road G. T. R. crossing is dangerous is becoming more evident. The other evening a team coming to town was in dangerous proximity to a "through freight" which came flying through the station yard. There being so much noise made by an engine taking water it was impossible to hear the freight coming and an accident was narrowly averted. Another rig was stalled there for nearly half an hour by freight train standing on the crossing. This inconvenience and danger to human life is not very deeply considered by "the powers that be" when a great corporation is concerned.

—Some boys in the east end have been night hawking somewhat lately, and one evening last week went so far as to spike in the windows of one family, the kind of pastime to certainly not be becoming, and by all accounts is not likely to happen again.

—The arrival of the aeroplane and the possibility of its extended use introduces new complications in modern civilization some of which are considered in an article by Major B. Baden-Powell, on "The Law of the Air," which in THE LIVING AGE for April 21 reprints from The National Review.

It is all in the type of printing you want done. If you don't care how your printing looks it will do as good for us to figure with you. We could do that kind of printing but will not. The difference between the kind of printing we do and the kind we consider worthless is greater than the difference in price, and we want it to what every business man would choose to show what he can do.

—A by-law was passed at the meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening having the taxes for the current year fall due on or before the 15th day of June, a discount of two per cent. will be allowed on all taxes paid before the end of June. During July and August taxes will be collected at par, and on and after the 1st day of September a penalty of five per cent. on the taxes will be levied and collected. The date for the taxes becoming due is late enough, and it is hoped will not be changed to an earlier date next year.

NONE THERE

A man lately wandered into a remote hotel that doesn't keep a dictionary, and on coming down in the morning was asked by the landlord how he rested. "Oh," replied the gentleman, "I suffered nearly all night from insomnia." The landlord was mad in a minute, and roared, "I'll bet you $2 there ain't one in my house."

WASH OUT ON THE LINE.

Thomas H. Reed once telegraphed a man to meet him in Pittsburg, and the recipient, wishing to escape what he feared might be an unpleasant interview, took advantage of interrupted communication due to heavy rains, and replied:

"Sorry I cannot get to Pittsburg. Wash out on the line."

Mr. Reed wired back: "Don't mind a little thing like that. Buy a new shirt and come on." The man kept the appointment.

FELO-DESE

The following incident occurred in a mining camp in Colorado. A "bad" man had committed suicide in a saloon, and at the inquest the coroner had instructed the jury to find a verdict of felo-de-se.

"Well, chaps," said the foreman of the jury when they retired to consider their verdict, "it appears to me that this here chap shot hisself with a gun, after shootin' another chap with a gun, but Mr. James, the coroner, who we all know and highly respect, he says as how this here chap fell into the sea. Well, it is not for the likes of us to argue the point with the doctor, for he knows more about it than we do. So I propose we find a verdict of "found drowned"." And they did.

SAME BREED.

One day Belmont, the agent of the Rothschilds, asked Buffalo Bill if he ever "had a pack of live wolves." "Been chased by them hundreds of times, sir. Once I allowed it was all up with us. The bronco were running so fast that they almost spun the wheels when the buckboard, but the wolves gained on us at every jump. Then, as a last desperate resort, lest as the ravening animals was surrounding us, I took the stranger who was riding with us by the neck and pitched him out. Just as he hit, I heard him holler: 'I'm a real estate agent.'"

"Of course they tore him to pieces before your eyes," said Belmont.

"Nope! They all shook hands with him called him brother, and asked him how business was up in Kansas."

QUEER GARDENING.

Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, said the other day of a certain farmer:

"He is now profiting by the department's advice, but he was very stupid at the beginning. He farmed as a Philadelphia lady, one spring season, planned her garden. The lady's husband came home and found her poring over a seed catalogue. She had a long list of seeds written on a sheet of paper.

"'This is a list, my dear,' she said. 'Now I want you to buy for me tomorrow at the seed man's.'

"Her husband looked at the list. Then he laughed loud and long.

"'You want these flowers to bloom this summer, don't you?' said he.

"'Yes, of course.'

"'Well, those you have put down here don't bloom till the second summer.'

"'Oh, that's all right,' the lady said, easily.

"'All right? How is it all right?'

"'I am making up my list,' she explained, "from a last year's catalogue."

LUKE W. CUNNINGHAM.

Luke W. Cunningham, son of Mr. Luke Cunningham, Bath, Ont., who was railway agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway for the past sixteen years, died suddenly at Bartlett, Illinois, on Sunday, April 4th. He was highly esteemed in Bartlett, where he was a member of the Council, as will be seen by the following resolution passed by the Board:

Resolutions adopted by the Village Board of Bartlett, Cook County, Illinois, on the 5th day of April, A.D., 1909.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to call unto himself, our distinguished citizen, Luke Cunningham, who departed this life, April 4th, 1909.

Whereas, in the death of our esteemed citizen, the Village of Bartlett has lost a worthy citizen, and its residence a loving neighbor, and the community an upright man; therefore be it

Resolved, that we, the Village Board of the Village of Bartlett, of which the late Luke Cunningham was a valuable member, tender to the bereaved family, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, and condolence in their affliction, and that our Village Hall be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and be it

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Village Board, and also that a copy be sent to the family.

In witness whereof, the Village Board has caused these resolutions to be signed by its President and its Clerk, and has caused its Corporation seal to be affixed thereto.

GEORGE STRUCKMAN,
President of the Village Board.
BEN. SCHULTZ,
Village Clerk.

Grasset, the Belgian trapper, who was implicated in the recent case of alleged cannibalism north of Lake St. John, Quebec, walked 300 miles to appear before the authorities. He was met at Cochrane by a Provincial officer and taken to Quebec.

PERFECT STEEL CHEESE VAT.

Pat. Aug. 31, '06

We have put into our Steel Cheese Vat a large amount of TIME, EXPERT SKILL, and WORKMANSHIP, and MONEY until it has been developed as an IDEAL article.

We ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEE them to make NO CHANGES—we assume all the responsibility—are right behind our goods—our local dealers merely point to our past record—we are pioneers of the great cheese industry, which are absolutely without any competitors. Patent Applied for in Canada, United States and Foreign Countries.

DAIRY SCHOOL INSTRUCTION—Our factory are equipped to give you one week of instruction free of charge. A CLEAN—SANITARY—PROFITABLE—SATISFACTORY PROPOSITION for all patrons to use it. We mean business. Write us for our NEW CASH PROPOSITIONS, it will INTEREST YOU. Limit to what a Factory can make him and ask him about it.

This is to certify that I purchased a Steel Cheese Vat, manufactured by Marcotte & Co., Level 2 years ago, and found it to be all that I claimed it would be. I have found it very easy to clean, and have obtained more than the usual amount of BUTTER fat from the milk. I have also found it to be very durable, and have had no trouble with it whatever. I have no hesitation in recommending it to any one who is thinking of purchasing a Steel Vat, as I am satisfied that it is the best Vat on the market. I have had many offers for my Vat, but have refused them, as I would not be without it. (Signed) JOHN McCARTHY.

WHY SUFFER?

BREATHE HYOMEI AND KILL THE CATARRH GERMS.

Just as long as you have catarrh your suffering will be with your breath will be foul, you will bark and spit and you will do many disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh take root and in that position they are absolutely beyond the reach of internal drugs and spreading the current poisonous effects into your blood. That's why you are making your life miserable in time they will sap your entire system of its energy and vitality, bring on deadly consumption and end your days.

But there is no necessity that you should be a victim of catarrh, for Hyomei is guaranteed to cure catarrh, no matter how long you have suffered.

Hyomei is a wonderful, soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic. It is breathed through the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. The air you breathe is charged with the healing, germ killing essences of Hyomei and every part of the diseased membrane is reached. Hyomei kills the germs, heals the sores and makes the breathing organs pure and wholesome. Then the catarrh is gone and you are cured.

Hyomei is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma and croup. Sold by druggists all over the world. Complete outfit, including inhaler, only $1.00. If you already have an inhaler, extra bottles of Hyomei can be had for 50c. Dropper bottle for children. Booklet free. Hyomei is sold in Napanee by Wallace Bros.

T. J. Wallace, the druggist, will grant Archie Hooper to cure catarrh or money back. Don't delay this progress and accept this treatment. Breathe in Hyomei and kill the germs.

J. H. Wallace will sell you a complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler, for only $1.00. If you already have one, extra bottles of Hyomei, 50c. Dropper bottle for children. Booklet free.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, April 5th, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening. Mayor Simpson presiding. Members present—Reeve Ruttan, and Councillors Alexander, Bogart, Burrows, Kimmerly and Steacy.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and on motion were approved.

COMMUNICATIONS

From James Burney, Grand Master, and J. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary, on behalf of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, thanking the Council for the address of welcome presented to them on the occasion of their annual session here. Ordered filed.

From Chas. A. Walters, Secretary, asking the Council to pass a cheque in favor of the Electric Light Commissioners for the sum of $460.00, to be spent on capital account. Referred back for the recommendation of the Commissioners.

From W. S. Herrington, K.C., Town Solicitor, in the refusal of C. Cartwright to pay the taxes levied for the year 1908. Mr. Herrington's letter to the Council is as follows:

March 19th, 1909.

The Mayor and Council,
Town of Napanee,
Napanee, Ont.

Gentlemen,—I understand that you desire my opinion as to what course you should adopt in regard to the position taken by R. C. Cartwright in respect to the payment of his taxes for 1908. I have examined the By-law providing for the levy of taxes, which by now revises it, and that By-law appears, so far as regular in form, in fact the same as has been used by the Council for years. I am somewhat in the dark as to the whole question raised by Dr. Cartwright, and his letter to the Collector throws no light upon the subject, but I believe the objection is taken that the rate levied for school purposes was not required by the schools during the year 1908, but was for the purpose of maintaining the schools during the year 1909.

Section 35 of the High Schools Act, and there is a similar provision in the Public Schools Act, provides that the Municipal Council shall levy and collect each year, such sums as the trustees deem necessary and shall require from them, or, in other words, no option is left with the Council when a requisition is made upon them by the School Board. It is their duty to raise the amount and pay it over to the School Board, and there was nothing in the requisition made by the School Board, to lead the Council to believe that the moneys were not intended for any other purpose than was set forth in the requisition. This point was settled beyond a doubt in the City of Toronto two or three years ago. If, of course, the Council were acting in collusion with the School Board and were perpetrating a fraud upon the people, then it might be held that the levy was improper, but there is no pretence that either the School Board or the Council were acting in bad faith, nor could any such allegation be successfully maintained. I do not consider it is competent for any Court to go behind the requisition of the School Board, unless bad faith is charged on the part of the Council, or it can be shewn that they are acting collusively with the School Board. I fail to see that Dr. Cartwright or any other ratepayer who declines to pay his taxes, is going to be benefited one iota by such objections as these. If it be true that there is a general objection that is being raised.

I would advise that action be brought at once in the Division Court against Dr. Cartwright for the taxes upon same and piece of property of his. You can single out any one and sue both him and his tenant. If the Judge should hold, as I do not believe he will, that the assessment is illegal, then all you have to do is to levy a school rate now for the year 1909. The only difference between the school rate that you should levy now and the one that you did levy—in case that one should be held to be invalid—would be that the Town would be put to a little more expense in preparing a new Collector's Roll and in placing the amount for the additional work done by him, and the person or persons who object for the last year's rate, would have no assumed responsibility for having put the Town to the additional cost without any corresponding advantage to themselves. They will have paid their school rates under the old levy, should it be held to be invalid, and have their rates returned to them by having them credited on the new assessment. This of course would involve a certain amount of extra clerical work for which you presumably would have to pay me, so that the people who are raising this objection would have the further satisfaction of knowing that they are responsible for this further additional expense the municipality would be put to. I cannot bring myself to believe that Dr. Cartwright intends to try to take advantage of so possible advantage could accrue to him by taking the position that he does. If the Court, on the other hand, should find that the levy was legal, that of course would settle the matter. I would urge that action be taken at once, so that in case the levy should be held to be invalid the Assessment Roll could be ready for the Court of Revision to levy a new school rate.

Yours truly,
W. S. HERRINGTON,
Town Solicitor.

Fiscal B. S. Langon, Town Treasurer, stating that some of his coupons had been taken from the safe and not returned to him. Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Board of Health is recommended that a by-law be passed requiring all vendors of milk to have out a permit in order that the herds may be inspected from time to time. Referred to the Printing and By-law Committee to prepare a by-law.

REPORTS

The Finance Committee reported that they recommended the payment to Wm. Rankin, of the sum of $4.25, for two commissioners, and also $12.50, to the Caledonian Insurance Co., for insurance on the ice house.

Adopted.

The Street Committee reported that the applications under the watered bridge had been carried away by the ice, but that the culvert had safely held the structure. Also that Mr. Jas. Vine was building a fence crossing up the southern entrance that leads to the North Bridge Road at Vine's Corners. The Street Committee had warned Mr. Vine not to close up the road. On motion the matter was referred to the Street Committee to investigate and find out by what right Mr. Vine was closing up said road, and that the Clerk notify him to remove all obstructions.

The Town Property Committee reported that they had had the roof repaired at the Public Library building repaired, and they considered it in good condition now.

Mr. J. R. Bales, Superintendent of the Napanee Waterworks Co., was present and said that the President of the Company had advised him to go ahead and collect the water rate due the Company by the town. They had a good case against the corporation, but he would be adverse to going to law as it would not be in the best interests of the town.

Moved by Coun. Alexander, seconded by Coun. Kimmerly, that the motion passed at the last meeting of the Council adopting the clause of the Finance Committee's report re the Waterworks Co., be reconsidered. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Alexander, seconded by Coun. Steacy, that the motion above referred to be rescinded. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Bogart, that the report be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, they to have negotiations with the Waterworks Co., re a new contract. Carried.

A by-law was passed having the taxes for the year 1909 become due on or before the 15th day of June, and a discount of two per cent. allowed on all taxes paid before the 30th day of June. All taxes paid between the 1st day of July and the 1st day of September will be at par. On and after the 1st day of September an additional percentage charge of five per cent. will be levied and collected.

The Treasurer's monthly report for March was presented, as follows, and ordered filed:

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md. — "For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ponn, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.

PILES CURED at HOME

by New Absorption Method.

If you suffer from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding Piles, send me your address, and I will tell you how to cure yourself at home by the absorption treatment; and will also send some of this home treatment free for trial, with references from your own locality if requested. Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money, but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box 227 Windsor, Ont.

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

"CREAM OF THE WEST" may cost you a trifle more than other grades of Manitoba flour. Suppose it does. What does a few cents in a bag more matter if you get complete satisfaction.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is honestly as good a grade of flour as can be made from the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat and that means the best wheat in the world.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is an expensive flour to mill because it represents the "cream of the best of the wheat berry" but it rings true in the baking.

"CREAM OF THE WEST" is a nourishing, toothsome, sweet flour that invariably pleases. Order a bag.

WHY SUFFER?

BREATHE HYOMEI AND KILL THE CATARRH GERMS.

Just as long as you have catarrh your suffering will be with your breath will be foul, you will bark and spit and you will do many disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh take root and in that position they are absolutely beyond the reach of internal drugs and spreading the current poisonous effects into your blood. That's why you are making your life miserable in time they will sap your entire system of its energy and vitality, bring on deadly consumption and end your days.

But there is no necessity that you should be a victim of catarrh, for Hyomei is guaranteed to cure catarrh, no matter how long you have suffered.

Hyomei is a wonderful, soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic. It is breathed through the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. The air you breathe is charged with the healing, germ killing essences of Hyomei and every part of the diseased membrane is reached. Hyomei kills the germs, heals the sores and makes the breathing organs pure and wholesome. Then the catarrh is gone and you are cured.

Hyomei is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, asthma and croup. Sold by druggists all over the world. Complete outfit, including inhaler, only $1.00. If you already have an inhaler, extra bottles of Hyomei can be had for 50c. Dropper bottle for children. Booklet free. Hyomei is sold in Napanee by Wallace Bros.

T. J. Wallace, the druggist, will grant Archie Hooper to cure catarrh or money back. Don't delay this progress and accept this treatment. Breathe in Hyomei and kill the germs.

J. H. Wallace will sell you a complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler, for only $1.00. If you already have one, extra bottles of Hyomei, 50c. Dropper bottle for children. Booklet free.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, April 5th, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening. Mayor Simpson presiding. Members present—Reeve Ruttan, and Councillors Alexander, Bogart, Burrows, Kimmerly and Steacy.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and on motion were approved.

COMMUNICATIONS

From James Burney, Grand Master, and J. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary, on behalf of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, thanking the Council for the address of welcome presented to them on the occasion of their annual session here. Ordered filed.

From Chas. A. Walters, Secretary, asking the Council to pass a cheque in favor of the Electric Light Commissioners for the sum of $460.00, to be spent on capital account. Referred back for the recommendation of the Commissioners.

From W. S. Herrington, K.C., Town Solicitor, in the refusal of C. Cartwright to pay the taxes levied for the year 1908. Mr. Herrington's letter to the Council is as follows:

March 19th, 1909.

The Mayor and Council,
Town of Napanee,
Napanee, Ont.

Gentlemen,—I understand that you desire my opinion as to what course you should adopt in regard to the position taken by R. C. Cartwright in respect to the payment of his taxes for 1908. I have examined the By-law providing for the levy of taxes, which by now revises it, and that By-law appears, so far as regular in form, in fact the same as has been used by the Council for years. I am somewhat in the dark as to the whole question raised by Dr. Cartwright, and his letter to the Collector throws no light upon the subject, but I believe the objection is taken that the rate levied for school purposes was not required by the schools during the year 1908, but was for the purpose of maintaining the schools during the year 1909.

Section 35 of the High Schools Act, and there is a similar provision in the Public Schools Act, provides that the Municipal Council shall levy and collect each year, such sums as the trustees deem necessary and shall require from them, or, in other words, no option is left with the Council when a requisition is made upon them by the School Board. It is their duty to raise the amount and pay it over to the School Board, and there was nothing in the requisition made by the School Board, to lead the Council to believe that the moneys were not intended for any other purpose than was set forth in the requisition. This point was settled beyond a doubt in the City of Toronto two or three years ago. If, of course, the Council were acting in collusion with the School Board and were perpetrating a fraud upon the people, then it might be held that the levy was improper, but there is no pretence that either the School Board or the Council were acting in bad faith, nor could any such allegation be successfully maintained. I do not consider it is competent for any Court to go behind the requisition of the School Board, unless bad faith is charged on the part of the Council, or it can be shewn that they are acting collusively with the School Board. I fail to see that Dr. Cartwright or any other ratepayer who declines to pay his taxes, is going to be benefited one iota by such objections as these. If it be true that there is a general objection that is being raised.

I would advise that action be brought at once in the Division Court against Dr. Cartwright for the taxes upon same and piece of property of his. You can single out any one and sue both him and his tenant. If the Judge should hold, as I do not believe he will, that the assessment is illegal, then all you have to do is to levy a school rate now for the year 1909. The only difference between the school rate that you should levy now and the one that you did levy—in case that one should be held to be invalid—would be that the Town would be put to a little more expense in preparing a new Collector's Roll and in placing the amount for the additional work done by him, and the person or persons who object for the last year's rate, would have no assumed responsibility for having put the Town to the additional cost without any corresponding advantage to themselves. They will have paid their school rates under the old levy, should it be held to be invalid, and have their rates returned to them by having them credited on the new assessment. This of course would involve a certain amount of extra clerical work for which you presumably would have to pay me, so that the people who are raising this objection would have the further satisfaction of knowing that they are responsible for this further additional expense the municipality would be put to. I cannot bring myself to believe that Dr. Cartwright intends to try to take advantage of so possible advantage could accrue to him by taking the position that he does. If the Court, on the other hand, should find that the levy was legal, that of course would settle the matter. I would urge that action be taken at once, so that in case the levy should be held to be invalid the Assessment Roll could be ready for the Court of Revision to levy a new school rate.

Yours truly,
W. S. HERRINGTON,
Town Solicitor.

Fiscal B. S. Langon, Town Treasurer, stating that some of his coupons had been taken from the safe and not returned to him. Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Board of Health is recommended that a by-law be passed requiring all vendors of milk to have out a permit in order that the herds may be inspected from time to time. Referred to the Printing and By-law Committee to prepare a by-law.

REPORTS

The Finance Committee reported that they recommended the payment to Wm. Rankin, of the sum of $4.25, for two commissioners, and also $12.50, to the Caledonian Insurance Co., for insurance on the ice house.

Adopted.

The Street Committee reported that the applications under the watered bridge had been carried away by the ice, but that the culvert had safely held the structure. Also that Mr. Jas. Vine was building a fence crossing up the southern entrance that leads to the North Bridge Road at Vine's Corners. The Street Committee had warned Mr. Vine not to close up the road. On motion the matter was referred to the Street Committee to investigate and find out by what right Mr. Vine was closing up said road, and that the Clerk notify him to remove all obstructions.

The Town Property Committee reported that they had had the roof repaired at the Public Library building repaired, and they considered it in good condition now.

Mr. J. R. Bales, Superintendent of the Napanee Waterworks Co., was present and said that the President of the Company had advised him to go ahead and collect the water rate due the Company by the town. They had a good case against the corporation, but he would be adverse to going to law as it would not be in the best interests of the town.

Moved by Coun. Alexander, seconded by Coun. Kimmerly, that the motion passed at the last meeting of the Council adopting the clause of the Finance Committee's report re the Waterworks Co., be reconsidered. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Alexander, seconded by Coun. Steacy, that the motion above referred to be rescinded. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Ruttan, seconded by Coun. Bogart, that the report be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, they to have negotiations with the Waterworks Co., re a new contract. Carried.

A by-law was passed having the taxes for the year 1909 become due on or before the 15th day of June, and a discount of two per cent. allowed on all taxes paid before the 30th day of June. All taxes paid between the 1st day of July and the 1st day of September will be at par. On and after the 1st day of September an additional percentage charge of five per cent. will be levied and collected.

The Treasurer's monthly report for March was presented, as follows, and ordered filed:

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews gathered at their home on Tuesday evening, previous to their departure to Hanley, and presented them with a beautiful Morris chair, water set, silver tea spoons, biscuit jar, berry dish, and several pieces of fancy work. At eleven o'clock lunch of cake and wine was served, and afterwards the following address was read by Miss W. Grant:

We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here on this occasion to spend a social evening, and for the purpose of expressing our feelings of regret at your removal from our midst.

We realize the fact that our community will sustain a great loss. Your life among us has not been without good influence. We have found you ever ready to assist in every good work. To all there you have been a kind welcome to your hospitable home, and we hope that friendship will not be forgotten in your removal to Hanley, but that you will always remember your former neighbors in this neighborhood.

In the hope that we may be sometimes remembered when you are gone from amongst us, we ask that you will accept these tokens of remembrance, not for their value, but as a slight token of our love for you.

Be assured that you carry with you the best wishes of your friends for your temporal and welfare in the future, and that God will abundantly bless you in your new home.

On behalf of your friends,

RICHARD McGIRR.
MR. THOS. FLYNN.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, we feel we cannot express adequately our grief in leaving so many kind friends, and the friendship we have enjoyed in the past.—After bidding Mr. and Mrs. Matthews good-bye all the party returned to their respective homes, well pleased with their evening's pleasure.

Spring Blood Is Bad Blood

How Best to Get New Health and Strength in Spring.

The winter months are trying to the health of even the most robust. Continued confinement in the over-heated air of the home, the office, the shop and the schoolhouse, the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and clogged with impurities. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as tired as when you went to bed. Some people have headaches, others backaches, are spirited, some have pimples and skin eruptions. These are all signs and symptoms that the blood is out of order. You can't cure these troubles with purgative medicines, which merely gallop through the system leaving you still weaker. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine, and the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring ills but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anaemia, nervous debility, rheumatism, indigestion and kidney trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood which strengthens every nerve, every organ and every part of the body. Try this medicine this spring and you will have no headaches and you will resist the torrid heat of the coming summer. Mr. J. E. Johnson, Bathurst Village, N.B. says:—"Some two years ago I began to feel that my constitution was weakening. I could not stand any exposure or knocking about. I finally sought the aid of a doctor who said my system was very much run down, and that the trouble might end in nervous prostration. As his medicine did not help me I decided, on the advice of a friend, to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I had used two, that a half dozen boxes when my health was fully restored, and I think no other medicine can equal these Pills when one is run down and out of health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

COLEBROOK.

The Wealth of James Perry Conner occurred at his residence, Colebrook, March 31st, after an lingering illness, aged 61 years. He was formerly a native of Prince Edward County. While he was only a short year in our midst, he was a highly esteemed citizen, and made for himself a name with many friends. He was held in the Methodist church, the sermon being preached by the Rev. Mr. Hicks, Deseronto. The choir of which he was a member, was in attendance. His wife and only son, and his many relatives have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement. He is made more desolate by his former home for burial.—D. R. Garrison has started a stage route from Moscow by way of Colebrook and Yarker to Kingston every Thursday, and to Napanee every Saturday, which will be very convenient for the public on that line.—Mrs. S. Galbraith from Lindsay, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Allen, who is very ill.—Mrs. Allenbrack from Gretna, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Salisbury, this week.

MOUNTAIN GROVE.

The roads are in a very bad condition, therefore, the busy lumbermen have changed their occupation, and are busy in their sugar camps, and the run of sap being immense.—On the 27th inst., Mr. Raymond died, after a very short illness. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Richmond, at the house, after which the remains were placed in the vault at Parham.—While returning from said funeral, while crossing Long Lake, Thos. Armstrong and Alexf Parker had a very exciting experience, which they will not forget for some time. Some few rods from shore, the horse dropped through the ice. The men managed to keep her up until help arrived. The water was very deep, but fortunately, all came through safe excepting Mr. Armstrong, getting in also, but succeeded in getting out.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Young have returned after visiting friends in Richmond.—Mr. James Stinesombe, sick for some time, is not improving.—Miss Mabel Johnston, who has been in the employment of J. B. Donald, has resigned, and Miss Winnifred Somers takes her place.—Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McKnight have gone to visit their daughter, Mrs. John Cardlay, Winnipeg.—Mr. and Mrs. Richmond visited for a few days at Long Lake, last week.—There is a new visitor at Mr. D. McDonald's; it's a girl.—Miss Jennie Courtier is spending a few days visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Miller.—Wm. Barr is in the vicinity, sawing wood.—Wm. Tryon, accompanied by D. Bell, of Camden East, visited his sisters, Mrs. Richard Crozier and Mrs. Wm Miller, on Sunday, 21st ult.

WILSON'S CROSSING.

Sugar making and house cleaning are the order of the day.—Preparations are being made for Easter, some expecting company, other preparing to go.—We are sorry to say Mr. Wm. Clancy has been confined to the house for the past few weeks, suffering from liver complaint and jaundice, is still very poorly.—Mrs. Hamilton has had a serious spell of sickness, and was confined to the house for a fortnight, but is now, we are glad to say, able to be around.—Mr. J. Wilson and little daughter Morwen, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bapt'de Wilson, at present.—They spent Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hinchey.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Switzer is spending the day in Napanee.—Mrs. and Miss Laura Clancy spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clancy.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Switzer at Mr. Wm. Harris'.—Mr. C. Gazz at Mr. Irvine Bell's.—Lake Road.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ferguson and daughter at Mr. George Fenwick's.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robbins spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mr. Wm. Clancy.

Mrs. N. M. Lloyd returned to Tweed on Monday after spending ten days with her father, Mr. Wm. Clancy.—Miss Salisbury is visiting her sister, Mrs. Herb Wagar, at present.—Miss Enoll Switzer, Napanee, played a week with Mrs. Wm. Clancy, during Mr. Clancy's sickness, and Miss Vera Jean MacCormack a couple of days.—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scanlin visited at Mr. Mrs. Dillon, on Thursday last.—We extend a warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. George Fenwick, and wish them the best of luck in their new home. We are confident that Mr. Fenwick will make an up-to-date farmer.

CEDAR HILL.

(For last week.

A heavy rain fell in this vicinity on Thursday of last week. What might have proved a serious loss happened on Sunday last, when C. McMullen's house caught fire. Only for the neighbors who were ready to lend a helping hand, it might have been burned to the ground.—Mr. W. Lyons, who is agent for the Tavern Bros. Co., spent Tuesday night at Matthew Spratt's.—A few of the young people spent the 17th of March with P. Dowling, Katie McMullen spent part of the week at Hendrick Vreg.—M. Haley is engaged cutting wood for T. Dwyer.—McMull. Lyons took dinner at Mr. Spratt's, on Tuesday last.—Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Spratt spent Sunday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Burns.—Mrs. P. Furlong was the guest of Mrs. J. Dwyer, day last week.—Mr. G. King and Mrs. Ackerman took tea at Mr. Matthew Spratt's, on Saturday last.—Mr. L. White has purchased from the locality on Thursday of last week.—Mr. Dennis Spratt is on the sick list.—We hope for his convalescence.—Mrs. M. F. Haley called at Mr. Spratt's, on Monday last.—Will. Brophy is the proud possessor of a rare species of bird, having caught it in the woods.—Mr. Chas. Parker also caught one at his home, and they decided it was best to live apart, so let it go.

ST. OLA.

In the death of Mr. Smith Hazard, on Thursday, March 30th, this section of North Hastings loses one of the earliest and pioneer settlers. Mr. Hazard reached the age of 81, and up until about four years ago was able to work as well as the average man at 60. Overtaxing physical strength he suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, and from which his strength had been gradually failing him. Mr. Hazard was one of those men of whom it may be said that he hadn't an enemy. He had a naturally buoyant disposition, and always left himself well informed by reading, so that everybody enjoyed the company of "Uncle Smith" an appellation which conveys the place he held in the hearts of the people. His funeral took place on Thursday, 1st April, and was very largely attended, the service being held in the Cashel Methodist church, conducted by the pastor of the mission, Rev. A. Chalmers, and the passing of Mr. Hazzard, the church loses one of those members who bore her burdens for many years, and the district loses a useful and highly respected citizen. Four children are left to mourn the loss of a devoted father, Franklin, on the Soulanges Canal, Township of Lancaster Council, and Superintendent of the Methodist Sabbath School at Cashel appointment; Mrs. Alex. Mackie, Fifth Lake, residing near home; Mrs. Pound, of Corbyville, and Miss Martha, of Peterboro.—Mrs. H. A. Bradley has been engaged to teach No. 1, Ola school until the summer holidays.—Hey, Fly, Whitt, Campbellite, Knox, Assouth, is visiting at her uncle's.—Mr. Charles Harringer, Schryer Block, is attending High School at Campbellford, is home, and is suffering somewhat from a bad cold, and also a little trouble.—The date held under the auspices of the Epworth League, on the 29th ult., proved to be more pleasing to the eye, the terms of nature or the art of man", was won by those who championed the art of man.

Wall Paper

Spring, 1909

To all who contemplate purchasing Wall Paper this Spring we would announce that we have placed in stock the best selection that we could secure of Canadian made Papers, and some new and very attractive lines made in the United States.

We are satisfied that the patterns and colorings are attractive, and that our prices are as low or lower than anywhere else in town, because customers of good judgment come back almost every day after seeing all the other samples, and buy from us; and because we have yet to hear of the first case of dissatisfaction after the Paper was on the wall.

To those who desire to use a better class of Paper than is made in Canada, we would say that we have the agency for two of the largest Wall Paper Houses in the States—the samples representing stocks worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. You can make a selection at prices ranging from 25c. to $3.00 per roll—a wider range than you can get in any city in Canada.—Free delivery in four days from giving order.

Please call before you purchase.

THE BEST FLOUR:
DAFOE'S NONESUCH.
DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill. Our milling material and Shorts that you can get cheaper than the product of the large mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually when it reaches you is of inferior quality.

The grower complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sells you an inferior flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

The heavy wind-storm that prevailed all day Wednesday and all night did considerable damage to property in this vicinity, which will cost thousands of dollars to repair. In Napanee it blew the north end wall out of Mr. Wm. Hall's blacksmith shop. Robt. Light's smokestack on the factory is badly bent near the top. The roof on Mr. C. A. Graham's blacksmith shop was tossed about three feet. Around the town many fences are down, the trees around the driving park and the east town in the palace grounds being among the number. Roofs of barns, trees, telephone and telegraph poles and wires in the country are down. Taken altogether it was the worst storm of any kind that has visited Napanee and vicinity in years. The Toronto papers state the gale was blowing about seventy miles an hour at one time.

"THE LAND OF NOD."

"The Land of Nod," which comes to the Grand Opera House, Kingston, on Tuesday, April 13th, is a production of extravaganza which contains beauty, laughter, song and wonderful scenic effects. It introduces many personages such as "The Man in the Moon," a jolly sentimental old chap, darting in his flirtations when not molested by his shrewish wife; "Rory, Rory-Alicy," a mischievous "Weatherman," who brings untimely storms to frighten the children; a typical Broadway chorus girl; an admired "Welsh Rarebit" and "April Fool." It is a pretty, imaginative story, properly adorned with sumptuous settings and a comely, spirited chorus, clad in unique costumes and enlivened with weird creatures. The cast includes Knox Wilson, William Welp, Maurice Barrey, Hessie Browning, Grace Drew and Dorothy Webb. The sale of seats opens to-day.

NEWBURGH.

The at home of the High School held in Fluke's Hall, on Thursday evening of last week was a most enjoyable affair. The hall had been tastefully decorated with the blue, pink, blue of the N. H. S. by a committee, under the direction of Miss Ruth Patterson, and the stage of the hall comfortably furnished with rugs and sofas, with an immense Union Jack as a background. The centre of the hall was occupied by a number of tables provided with games and around these circled the dozen promenades on the programme. The refreshments were served at the rear. Miss A. R. Grose, of the High School staff, was assisted in conveying the visitors by Mrs. J. M. Symons and Mrs. H. M. Ryan. From 8.30 until 9 o'clock the strains of Fluke's band was a dull minute. An excellent programme was rendered by the pupils of the High. The Glee Club of the school rendered two fine choruses. Instrumental duets were contributed by the Misses Nesbitt and Misses Scrivner and P. Patterson, and vocal solos in splendid style by Mrs. G. Ryan and Miss Constance Noshit. A violin solo by Miss Etta Lewis was much enjoyed and Mr. E. Breault's cornet solo was enthusiastically and deservedly encored. This and Mr. Breault's first public appearance here as a cornet soloist, but he will surely be heard from again. Miss Muriel Paul, of Napanee, delighted everyone both in an accordeon and vocal solo. The refreshment committee had no small task to serve the 200 promenaders, in addition to those of the early part of the evening, but they acquitted themselves admirably under the management of Miss Grose and Miss P. Patterson. The Literary Society held the last meeting of last week, it being the annual meeting of the society, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary President, Miss Grose; President, Miss Ethel Williams; secretary, Miss Ethel Patterson; treasurer, Miss Ethel Williams; programme committee, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Ethel Patterson, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Ethel Patterson, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Ethel Patterson

OLD PEOPLE!

Need Vinol because it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. It fortifies the system against colds, and thus prevents pneumonia.

This is because Vinol contains iron and all of the medicinal body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil, taken from fresh cods' livers—but no oil. Vinol is not a patent medicine. Everything it contains is named on bottle.

POOR BLOOD

Elderly people feel the cold keenly, because their blood is thin, sluggish and watery. Vinol is the ideal blood tonic and strength maker. It creates a hearty appetite, promotes digestion, purifies and enriches the blood and invigorates the entire body.

76 YEARS OLD

The grand-niece of Alexander Hamilton says:—"I am 76 years old, have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, and feel active and well. Thanks to Vinol, which is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used. Vinol is a God send to old people."

COUGHS AND COLDS

Elderly people are very susceptible to coughs and colds, which so often develop pneumonia. Don't lose time experimenting with other remedies when we guarantee Vinol to cure. Vinol has carried many an old person through a hard winter without a cold or cough.

80 YEARS OLD

"I was so feeble I had to be wheeled about in an invalid's chair, and took cold at the slightest cause. Vinol built up my strength so I could walk a quarter of a mile. I am delighted."—MRS. M. BLOOM, Lewistown, Pa.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

The Conversion of Saul.—Acts 9:1-30.

Golden Text.—He fell to the earth and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? Acts 9:4.

Verses 1-9.—From experience, philosophically, theologically, psychologically, or any other way, how would you account for the conversion of Saul for Christians?

After his conversion did he abuse the hatred toward those who opposed Christianity?

Does history justify the statement that zealous religionists, who have not known, or experienced the love of God, have been exceedingly cruel and bitter men?

Verses 3-6.—What was the nature of the light that shined around Saul? See Acts 22:6; xxvi:13; I. Cor. xv:8).

Whose voice was it that Saul heard?

What reason is there to believe that this was a real voice with outward sound?

Is there any sinner so bad that Jesus does not call him to repent?

Had Saul actually been persecuting Jesus? See Matt. 25:40.

If we hurt or help a Christian, is it actually done to Jesus?

Is there a sense in which a Christian is the actual Christ?

Verse 7.—Did Saul know from the first who it was that spake to him?

Does it always consciously hurt to fight against God?

Does wrong doing always hurt either from ignorance or not?

Verse 6.—What enables sinners always trouble when God represents and by the Spirit?

At what stage does God forgive a repented sinner?

When was Saul actually converted?

Why did not Jesus tell Saul there and then what he wanted him to do?

Verse 7.—Why does the supernatural always frighten people?

Verses 8-9.—What had blinded Saul's eyes? Of Saul spend the three days he was without sight?

Did he feel sorrow for had no desire for food, or was it a religious fast?

Is fasting of any benefit these days of, a help to spiritual life?

Verses 10-17.—Has the ability to hear God speak, by anointed by all true Christians?

How can one's ears be opened to hear more than one person the same thing, so that when they reach a neighborhood where Saul's message was confirmed?

Will God always prepare for our work, and prepare the work for us?

Should it find ourselves displaced, if we do not accept what he says, when it is not clear to us?

Verses 17-18.—Did Saul at this time receive the Holy Ghost as a definite part of his conversion, and when do Christians receive the Holy Ghost as a definite seal to be answered in writing by members of the church?

Verses 19-22.—Do all genuine converts like Saul, submediately immediately begin to be converters?

What was the power in Saul which gave him his great zeal, and is the same power available for every Christian?

Verses 23-25.—If a person feels or acts in a different manner from that which is natural, is that proof that he is not in touch with God?

Verses 26-30.—Are Christians entitled to the privilege of confidence?

What is the best way for a young convert to show his faith in Christ?

Is a true servant responsible for the results of his work, or only for the faithful doing of it?

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

MANY WAYS TO USE PINEAPPLES.

Pineapple Pancakes—Make a good batter using a half pound sifted flour, three large eggs and a cupful of milk. Have ready a well-buttered sheet-iron frying-pan, and pour in about three tablespoonfuls of the batter. As soon as brown on one side reverse and brown the other. Take carefully out on hot service plate and cover with pineapple prepared as follows: Over this put a second cake, more pineapples, and so on until the batter and fruit have been used. Stick in top of the cake cut in segments like a pie.

Pineapple Sherbet—This is made from the grated canned pineapple. Add a pint of granulated sugar to each quart of fruit. Stir well, and put aside for the sugar to dissolve. Beat up the whites of two eggs and add to the pineapple. Freeze as for ice cream, using two parts of ice to one of salt. When the ice is broken, add a cupful of boiling water with an egg beater, until foamy. Take from the ice and whip again with the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs.

PINEAPPLE PIE—Line a pie plate with a good crust and fill with a cup of crushed and grated pineapple mingled with one cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of cornstarch and the yolks of two eggs. Bake with one crust and lastly the whites of the eggs reserved for meringue. After the pie is baked, beat the whites of the eggs still with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, spread over the pie and put in a cool oven to puff and brown a golden brown. The Delineator for May.

CROYDON

On Saturday evening Croydon Baseball Club was organized, and the following officers were elected:

Manager—A. Hughes.

Secty. Treas.—George Delmage.

Captain—W. C. Quinn.

Umpire—J. Dunn.

Scorer—D. McGregor.

Croydon baseball team season should be a success under the management of the above officers. Rumor says that a fast battery from a neighboring town will this year be wearing Croydon uniforms. If this is the case Croydon has a fair chance of sweeping the town this year. To add in the excitement of our little town a series of footraces are being arranged between the speedy and renowned Anderson from Overton, and Quinn, one of our local sprinters. These races will be interesting as a good natured rivalry exists between the two speedy wheels, and as there is considerable money up on both of them naturally the desire of each winning. It is to be hoped that the Croydon people will come forward in the usual liberal hearted manner and help the boys all they can.

WINDSOR

The heavy wind storm which passed over this vicinity last week did considerable damage, taking roofs off barns and tearing a great deal of fences down. Messrs. Charles and Robert Cook spent on Sunday at home. Mr. Nelson Richmond spent a few days with friends in Marlbank. A few from the neighborhood attended the school concert given by children at the school house on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Osmond Shoemaker and after the programme was over. Miss Dobson treated all to apples and candy. Mr. Herbert Rinkston has improved his barn by building an addition under the management of Wm. Cornwall. Mrs. Nathan Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Richmond were on the sick list. Mr. John Cook spent Monday in Napanee.

KING STREET.

Master S. Wells and mother have returned home after visiting friends at Marlbank. Mr. H. F. Baker and sister Ida spent Sunday with friends at Tweed. Mr. Geo. Wagar, of Ballahack, at A. Bedal's. Mr. H. Lockwood and family of Carmanville, at H. Baker's. On Sunday Mr. Hiram Barrager and family of Croydon, at G. King's. Mr. H. Baker has purchased the old Rayerow property, two miles north of Yarkworth, and intends fitting it up for a summer resort. Mr. Jackson and family, of Marlbank, passed through here last week on their way to Wagarville, to attend the funeral of his uncle, Mr. W. H. Wagar. Messrs. Manly & King are spending a few days with this office. Mr. H. King, of Shannonville. Mr. of Odenbark and Miss Ivey Pillington, of Canada, at H. H. Baker's on Sunday. Mr. Hall is attending a week's engagement at Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague's. Miss Ethel Baker spent a couple of days last week with friend at Enterprise. D. Howard, of Gull Creek, at J. Hartle's. Miss Ida Baker spent on Sunday last Carmanville, where she has secured a situation for the summer.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

The Grand Trunk Pacific have now under construction no section on the Skeena River, British Columbia, two spans in all, the same as the steamer "Distributor," built last fall. The length of these boats between perpendiculars 156 ft., width of beam, extreme on bottom, 29 ft., beam, extreme on deck, 30 feet, depth moulded, 8 feet 3 inches. The machinery for both these new boats was ordered from the Polson Iron Works, Limited, Toronto, and the hulls are being constructed at Victoria, B.C. The steamers will ply between Prince Rupert and the head of navigation of the Skeena River, and will be ready for service in June.

The 25 large steam engines ordered by the Grand Trunk Pacific from the Canadian Locomotive Company, Kingston, are well under way; delivery of the first two will be made this week, and the delivery of the total 25 will be completed by July this year. These engines have a total weight on drivers of 794,178 lbs., total weight of engine loaded 1,161,976 lbs., total weight of tender 113,360 lbs., pt total of 1,365,376 lbs. loaded. The driving wheels are 63 inches in diameter and the cylinder 29 inches by 26 inches, working pressure 200 lbs.

In addition to these 25 eight wheel engines, have been ordered from the Montreal Locomotive Works, Longue Pointe, P.Q., to be delivered in July, 1914, the weight of these engines on drivers 214,000 lbs., tender loaded 119,250 lbs., total weight of engine and tender loaded 261,888 lbs. Driving wheels 69 inches in diameter, cylinder 18 inches by 24 inches. Working steam pressure 220 lbs.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have ordered from the Algoma Steel Company, Sault Ste. Marie, 22,000 tons of eighty pound steel rail, standard section of the American Society of Civil Engineers. These rails are intended for the Prairie Section of the line and are sufficient to lay 176 miles of track and are to be delivered at Fort William on the opening of navigation this spring.

In addition to this the Company have ordered from the Dominion Steel and Iron Company, Sydney, 13,000 tons, eighty pound steel rail sufficient for 101 miles of track, and 2,000 tons of sixty pound rail sufficient to lay 31 miles of track intended for sidings. These rails are for delivery at Prince Rupert, B.C., to be used on the first 160 miles of railway easterly from that point and which is now under construction. This shipment will be moved entirely by boat around Cape Horn from Sydney to Prince Rupert.

DIAMOND WEDDING—AN UNUSUAL EVENT.

To very few is it given the privilege of celebrating the Sixtieth Anniversary of their wedding day—but that happy opportunity was given to Mr. and Mrs. Silas Fields Lake, on Saturday, April 10th. Mr. and Mrs. Lake were married in Kingston, by the Rev. William Squier, on April 10th, 1849. They have lived all their lives in the Bay of Quinte District. Mr. Lake's grandfather having been one of the U. E. Loyalists to settle this section was largely settled. Mr. Lake remembers vividly the stirring events of 1837-38. The first twenty years of their married life was spent in Morven, where their four daughters were born. They then moved to Bayside, and a few years ago took up their residence in Trenton. In honor of the occasion the guests were received at their home, and at six o'clock repaired to the home of Mr. B. E. Bell, a son-in-law, who lives a short distance away, where the Anniversary dinner was served to about forty guests. The tables were laid in the form of a letter "T" and presented a most striking appearance. The floral decorations were pink and white carnations with American beauty roses and mignonette. The central figure of the table was a beautifully decorated wedding cake bearing the dates 1849 and 1909, surrounded by a large diamond, on which were burning sixty colored candles. After a truly sumptuous repast Mr. John T. Lake, of Toronto, youngest, and only surviving brother, who by the way, hopes to celebrate his golden wedding in 1919, this year, proposed the health of the happy couple, who had the unusual distinction of celebrating sixty happy years of married life surrounded by an unbroken family circle. Mr. Lake made a most feeling reference tenderly to the influence and geniality of his devoted mother-in-law and example had been such an inspiration to his life and paid fitting tribute to the partner of his wheel for sixty years. In his life in golden sequence ran, by the very few husband companions of Mr. Lake. An opportunity of replying to the toast "our son-in-law" brought from such a reply which indicated their full appreciation of the honor of their position, after which the appropriate poem written by George Elliott, "Two Lovers" was read by Mr. Robertson. Music was furnished by Miss Hazel Bell, a granddaughter, and Miss Kathleen Warner, a great friend of the family. Telegrams and congratulations were received by Mr. Arthur Bell, of Montreal, only absent grandson, and others. The evening was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne." Many beautiful gifts testified to the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Lake are held. The family consisted of four daughters, whom with their husbands and children were present, namely, Mrs. Charles Harrington, Jr., A. Ward, Toronto; Mrs. Bowen E. Bell, Trenton, and Mrs. William B. Gladstone Fahnestock, Almonte; other guests present were Mrs. John Thompson, of Queen Street—only surviving sister of the bride—and Mrs. Charles Thompson, a daughter-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lake, of Morven.

Sophy of Kravonia

Stenovics preferred any other issue. The ideal thing was his own rule in the name of young Alexis, with such diplomatic honoring and humoring of Countess Ellenburg as might prove necessary. That was plainly impossible so long as Stafnitz was master of the army. It would become finally hopeless if Sterkoff held Suleiman's tower till Stafnitz brought the guns to Slavna. What, then, was Stenovics' alternative? For he was not yet brought to giving up the game as totally lost. His name stood high, though his real power tottered as a most insecure foundation. He could get good terms for his assistance. If war was time to make friends with the mammon of unrighteousness.

Privately, as became loyalists, with out the knowledge of any one outside their confidential entourage, the representatives of the two great neighboring Powers, General Stenovics and Colonel Lepage, communicated. They are believed to have convinced him that in the event of any further disorders in Kravonia interference could not be avoided. Troops were even sitting from for such an emergency. A joint occupation would be forced on them, and in the case of so serious a step as doing the general felt himself driven to accept this conclusion.

He at once requested Stafnitz to fetch the guns to Slavna. He left the colonel full discretion in the matter. His only desire was to insure the tranquillity of the capital and to show Volseni how hopeless it was to maintain the fanciful and absurd claims of Baroness Dobrava. The representatives, it must be supposed, approved this attitude, and wished the general all success. At a later date his efforts to secure order and to avoid the inevitable but regrettable result of any new disturbance were handsomely acknowledged by both powers. General Stenovics had not Stafnitz's nerve and dash, but he was a man of considerable resource.

A man of good feeling, too, to judge from another step he took—whether with the cognizance of the representatives or entirely of his own motion has never become known. He waited till Colonel Stafnitz, who returned in civil and almost effusive reply to his communication, had set off to fetch the guns, which, as has been seen, had been unloaded from the railway and lay at Kolskol, three days' journey up the Krath; then he entered into communication with Volseni. He sent Volseni a private and friendly warning. What was the use of Volseni holding out when the big guns were coming? It could mean only hopeless resistance, more disorder, more bloodshed. Let Volseni and the lady whose claims it supported consider that, be warned in time and acknowledge King Alexis.

This letter he addressed to Zerkovitch. There were insuperable diplomatic difficulties in the way of addressing it to Sophy directly. "Madam I may not call you, and mistress I am loth to call you," said Queen Elizabeth to the archbishop's wife. It was just a case of that sort of difficulty. He could not call her queen of Kravonia, and she would be offended if he called her Baroness Dobrava. So the letter went to Zerkovitch, and, it went by the hand of one of Zerkovitch's friends, as anxious was the general to be as friendly and conciliatory as circumstances permitted.

Much to his surprise, considerably to his alarm, Lepage was sent for to the general's private residence on the evening of the day on which Colonel Stafnitz sent out for Kolskol to fetch the guns.

Stenovics greeted him cordially, smoothed away his apprehension, acquainted him with the nature of his mission and with the gist of the letter which he was to carry. Stenovics seemed more placid tonight than for some time back, possibly because he had got Stafnitz quietly out of Slavna.

"Beg M. Zerkovitch to give the letter to Baroness Dobrava (he called her that to Lepage) as soon as possible and to urge her to listen to it. Add that we shall be ready to treat her with every consideration—any title in reason and any provision in reason too. It's all in my letter, but repeat it on my behalf, Lepage."

"I shouldn't think she'd take either title or money, general," said Lepage bluntly.

"You think she's disinterested? No doubt, no doubt! She'll be the more ready to see the uselessness of prolonging her present attitude." He gave a almost vehement as he laid his hand on a large map which was spread out on the table in front of him. "Look here, Lepage. This is Monday. By Wednesday morning Colonel Stafnitz will be at Kolskol—here!" He put his finger by the spot. "On Thursday morning he'll start back. The barges travel well, and—yes—I think he'll have his guns here by Sunday, less than a week from now. Yes, on Thursday night he ought to reach Kvona, on Friday Rapska, on Saturday the lock at Miklevni. Yes, on Saturday the lock at Miklevni! That would bring him here on Sunday. Yes, the lock at Miklevni on Saturday, I think." He looked up at Lepage almost imploringly. "If she hesitates, show her that. They're bound to be here in less than a week!"

Lepage cocked his head on one side and looked at the minister thoughtfully. It all sounded very convincing. Colonel Stafnitz would be at the lock at Miklevni on Saturday and on Sunday with the guns at Slavna. And of course, arduous though the transport would be, they could be before Volseni in two or three days more. It was really no use resisting.

Stenovics passed a purse over to Lepage. "For your necessary expenses," he said. Lepage took up the purse, which felt well filled, and pocketed it. "The baroness mayn't fully appreciate what I've been saying," added Stenovics. "But Lukovitch knows every inch of the river. He'll make it quite plain if she asks him about it. And present her with my sincere respects and sympathy—my sympathy with her as a private person, of course. You mustn't commit me in any way, Lepage."

"I think," said Lepage, "that you're capable of looking after that department yourself, general. But aren't you making the colonel go a little too fast?"

"No, no; the barges will do about that."

"But he has a large force to move I suppose?"

"My dear, no! A large force? No, no! Only a company, just about a hundred strong, Lepage." He rose. "Just about a hundred, I think."

"Ah, then he might keep time," Lepage agreed, still very thoughtfully.

"You'll start at once?" the general asked.

"Within an hour."

"That's right. We must run no unnecessary risks. Delays might mean new troubles."

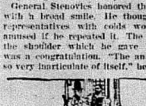
He held out his hand and shook Lepage's warmly. "You must believe that I respect and share your grief at the king's death."

"Which king, general?"

"Oh, ah! King Alexis, of course! We must listen to the voice of the nation. Our new king lives and reigns. The voice of the nation, Lepage?"

"Ah," said Lepage dryly. "I'd been suspecting some ventriloquism."

General Stenovics honored the sally with a broad smile. He thought the representatives with colds would be amused if he repeated it. The pat on the shoulder which he gave Lepage was a mere institution. The minister was so very inarticulate of itself," he said.



Chapter Thirty

THOUGH not remote in distance, yet Volseni was apart and isolated from all that was happening. Not only was nothing known of the two great neighbors—nothing reached men in Volseni of the state of affairs in Slavna itself. They did not know that the thieves were quarreling about the plunder nor that the diplomatists had taken cold. They knew only that young Alexis reigned in Slavna by reason of their king's murder and against the will of him who was dead; only that they had chosen Sophia for their queen because she had been the dead king's wife and his chosen successor.

All the men who could be spared from labor came into the city. They collected what few horses they could. They filled their little fortress with provisions. They could not go to Slavna, but they awaited with confidence the day when Slavna should dare to move against them into the hills. Slavna had never been able to beat them in their own hills yet. The bolder spirits even implored Lukovitch to lead them down in a raid on the plains.

Lukovitch would sanction no more than a mounting party to see whether any movement was in progress from the other side. Peter Vansip rode down with his men to within a few miles of Slavna. For result of the expedition he brought back the news of the guns. The great guns, rumor said, had reached Kvona and were to be in Slavna in a week.

The rank and file hardly understood what this meant. Anger that they destined and darling guns should fall into hostile hands was the feeling uppermost. But the tidings struck their leaders home to the heart. Lukovitch knew what it meant. Dunstanbury, who had served three years in the army at home, knew more. Even Conrad by such a force as Stafnitz could bring up, the guns could pound Volseni to pieces, and Volseni could strike back not a single blow.

"And it's all through her that the guns are here at all," said Zerkovitch, with a sigh for the irony of it.

Dunstanbury laid his hand on Lukovitch's shoulder. "It's no use," he said. "We must tell her so, and we must make the terms understood. She can't let them have their bones battered to pieces—the town with the women and children in it—and all for nothing!"

"We can't desert her," Lukovitch protested.

"No. We must get her safely away and then submit."

Since Dunstanbury had offered his services to Sophy he had assumed a leading part. His military training and his knowledge of the world gave him an influence over the rude, simple men. Lukovitch looked to him for guidance. He had much to say in the primitive preparations for defense. But now he declared defense to be impossible.

"Who'll tell her so?" asked Basil Williamson.

"We must get her across the frontier," said Dunstanbury. "There—by St. Peter's pass—the way we came, Basil. It's a easy journey, and I don't suppose they'll try to intercept us. You can send twenty or thirty well mounted men with us, can't you, Lukovitch? A small party well mounted is what we shall want."

Lukovitch waved his hands sadly. "With the guns against us it would be a mere massacre. If it must be, let it be on your way, my lord." His heart was very heavy. After generations of defiance Volseni must bow to Slavna and his dead lord's will go for nothing. All this was the doing of the great guns.

Dunstanbury's argument was sound, but he argued from his heart as well as his head. He was convinced that the best service he could render to Sophy was to get her safely out of the country. His heart urged that her safety was the one and only thing to consider. As she went to and fro among them now, pale and silent, yet always accessible, always ready to listen, to consider and to answer, she moved him with an infinite pity and a growing attraction. Her life was as though dead or frozen. It seemed to him as though all Kravonia must be to her the tomb of him whose grave in the little hillside church of Volseni she visited so often. An ardent and overpowering desire rose in him to rescue her, to drag her forth from these dim cold shades into the sunlight of life again. Then the spell of this frozen grief might be broken; then should her drooping glories revive and bloom again. Kravonia and who ruled there—are, in his heart even the fate of the gallant little city which harbored them and whose interest he pleaded—were nothing to him beside Sophy. On her his thoughts were centered.

Sophy's own mind in these days can be gathered only from what others saw. She made no record of it. Fallen in an hour from heights of love and hope and exaltation, she lay stunned in the abyss. In intellect calm and collected, she seems to have been as one numbed in feeling, too maimed for pain, suffering as though from a mortification of the heart. The simple men and women of Volseni looked on her with awe and chattered fearfully of a dead star; how that its wearer had been predestined to high enterprise, but foredoomed to mighty reverses of fortune. Amid all their pity for her they spoke of the evil eye. Some whispered that she had come to bring ruin on Volseni. Had not the man who loved her lost both crown and life?

And it was she through whom the guns had come. The meaning of the guns had spread now to every hearth. What had once been hailed as an achievement second only to her exploit in the Street of the Fountain served now to point more finely the sharpening fears of superstition. The men held by her still, but their wives were grumbling at them in their homes. Was she not after all a stranger? Must Volseni lie in the dust for her sake, for the sake of her who wore that unlucky, inexplicable star?

Dunstanbury knew all this. Lukovitch hardly sought to deny it, though he was full of scorn for it, and Marie Zerkovitch had by heart the tales of many wise old beldams who had prophesied this and that from the first moment they saw the red star. Slowly and not slowly the enthusiasm which had crowned Sophy was turning into a fear which made the people shrink from her even while they pitied, even while they did not cease to love. The head of Heaven was against her and against those who were near her, said the women. The men still feigned not to hear. Had they not taken Heaven to their hearts and would they not defy and avenge the king? Alas, their simple vow was too primitive for days like these—too primitive for the days of the great guns which lay on the bosom of the Krath.

Dunstanbury had an interview with Sophy early on Tuesday morning, the day after Stafnitz had started for Kolskol. He put his case with the bluntness and honesty native to him. In his opinion to her safety he did not spare her the truth. She listened with the smile devoid of happiness which her face now wore so often.

"I know it all," she said. "They begin to look differently at me as I walk through the street—when I go to the church. If I stay here long enough, they'll all call me a witch. But didn't they swear? And I—haven't I sworn? Are we to do nothing for monsieur-ance?"

"What can we do against the guns? The men can die and the walls be tumbled down. And there are the women and children!"

"Yes, I suppose we can do nothing But it goes to my heart that you should have monsieur's guns."

"Your guns!" Dunstanbury reminded her, with a smile of whimsical sympathy.

"That's what they say in the city, too?" she asked.

"The old hags, who are clever at the weather and other mysteries. And of course Mme. Zerkovitch."

Sophy's smile broadened a little. "Oh, of course poor little Marie Zerkovitch!" she exclaimed. "She's been sure I'm a witch ever since she's known me."

"I want you to come over the frontier with me and Basil Williamson. I've some influence, and I can insure your getting through all right."

"And then?"

"Whatever you like. I shall be utterly at your orders."

She leaned her head against the high chair by which she sat, a chair of old oak, black as her hair. She fixed her profound eyes on his.

"I wish I could stay here—in the little church—with monsieur-ance," she said.

"By heavens, no!" he cried, startled into sudden and unthought vehemence.

"All my life is there," she went on, paying no heed to his outburst.

"Give life another chance. You're very young."

"You can't count life by years any more than hours by minutes. You reckon the journey not by the clock, but by the stages you have passed. Once before I loved a man, and he was killed in battle. But that was different. It was very hurt, but I wasn't maimed. I'm maimed now by the death of monsieur-ance."

"You can bring ruin on these folk, and you can't give yourself up to Stenovics." He could not trust himself to speak more of her feelings nor of the future. He came back to the present needs of the case.

"It's true—and yet we swore!" She leaned forward to him. "And you—aren't you afraid of the red star?"

"We Slavs are not afraid. We haven't enough imagination," he answered, smiling again.

She threw herself back, crying low: "Ah, if we could strike one blow—just one—for the death of him and for monsieur-ance! Then perhaps I should be content."

"To go with me?"

"Perhaps—if in striking it what I should think best didn't come to me."

"You must run no danger anyhow!" he cried hastily and eagerly.

"My friend," she said gently, "for such as I am today there's no such thing as danger. Don't think I value my position here or the title they've given me, poor men! I have loved titles"—for a moment she smiled—"and I should have loved them once if monsieur had lived. I should have been proud as a child of it. If I could have borne it by his side for even a few weeks, a few days! But now it's barren and bitter—bitter and barren to me."

He followed the thoughts at which her words hinted. They seemed to him infinitely piteous.

"Now, as things have fallen out, what can I in this country? A waif and stray! I belong to nobody and nobody to me."

"Then come away!" he burst out again.

Her deep eyes were set on his face once more. "Yes, that's the conclusion," she said very monotonously. "Essex people are sensible, aren't we? And we have no imagination. Did you know that when you saw me proclaimed and heard us swear?"

"Good heavens, no!"

"Then think how my oath and my love call me to strike one blow for monsieur-ance!" She hid her eyes behind her hand for a moment. "Aren't there fifty—thirty—twenty, who would count their lives well risked? For what are men's lives given them?"

"There's one at least, if you will have it so," Dunstanbury answered.

There was a knock on the door, and without waiting for a bidding Zerkovitch came quickly in. Lukovitch was behind and with him Lepage. Ten minutes before the valet had ridden up to the city gates, waving his handkerchief above his head.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Sunday School Teacher—Well, Jimmy, have you had anything to-day that will be especially thankful for?

Jimmy Yes, ma'am.

Sunday School Teacher—What was it?

Jimmy—Hot dog—I scorched both wrist yesterday, and I licked him for the first time.

One of the greatest blessings to parents is Dr. Low's Worm Confections. It effectually expels worms and gives health in a marvellous manner to the little ones.

"I wonder why she doesn't marry Robson. She seems to like him well enough."

"Oh, those who know that experience can tell the tortures owning naive. Pains with your boots on, pain with them off—pain when asleep, pain when awake. Be sure to those who use Holloway's Corn Cure.

Foolish agent—"I found the heavy villain as he lit a fresh cigarette that the time will come. I shall set down the tables." And the beautiful heroine stood on the canvas mountain and waved her hand. "That's easy, disgusted. Get a job in a roundhouse."

Elevator Man—Fifteenth story. Fair as go to.

Uncle Hiram (getting up)—Inch. Man, dis conductor 'spose to collect de fares. Come along, quirk! We're a drive in."

A MEDICINE CHEST IS ITSELF. Only with Holloway's ointment in the medicine chest, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is a medicine chest in itself, being a remedy for rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, asthma and a potent healer for wounds, cuts, bruises, sprains, etc., is worthy the favor of the poorest, owing to its cheapness. It should be in every home.

Hello—Did Fred get a marriage as elevating as he thought it would be?

Jack—No, it failed to lift him out of debt.

A CAREFULLY PREPARED PILL—Much time and attention were spended in the experimenting with the ingredients that enter into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills which are now offered to the public. Whatever other pills may be, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of much expert study, and all persons suffering from dyspepsia or disordered liver and kidneys may confidently accept them as being what they are represented to be.

Mrs. Grameyer—You look all tired out, Mrs. Pirk—No wonder. It's so trying to find out from your friends what they'd like to have for Christmas without conveying the impression that they may expect it from you.

A SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE — Everyone wishes to be successful in any undertaking in which he may engage. It is therefore extremely gratifying to the proprietors of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills to know that their efforts to compound a medicine which would prove a blessing to mankind have been successful beyond their expectations. The endorsation of these Pills by the public is a guarantee that all who have occasion to need them will fulfil everything claimed for it.

Bill—Is that watch your father gave you ten years ago still doing good service?

Jill—Yes. I pawned it again to-day for the twentieth time.

Some persons are more susceptible to colds than others, contracting derangements of the pulmonary organs from the slightest cause. These should always have at hand a bottle of Rickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the present day sovereign remedy for coughs catarrh and bronchitis. It never fails to give relief, and will effect a cure no matter how severe the case. Don't suffer, don't allow your friends to suffer without a remedy like Rickle's for it is the best.

The Countryman—Down here, sir, we make it a rule to go to bed with the chickens.

The Britisher—Ey—don't you find it beastly unhealthy?

Bell Boy (knocking at the door) — Six o'clock, sir.

Voice Inside—Six! Confound you, boy, why didn't you tell me that before?

THIS IS THE WAY OF IT.

The sleepless in Scott's Emulsion soothes the rough and irritable throat. The hypophosphites tone up the nerves. And the cod liver oil heals and strengthens the inflamed bronchial tubes and air cells. 10c.

The lowest priced tea is not the cheapest. "Brown Label" "Salada" Tea at 30c per pound makes many more cups than any tea at 40c per pound. It is therefore not only more economical to use, but it is infinitely more delicious.

INAUGURATION OF VESTED CHOIR AT CAMDEN EAST.

The Easter services last Sunday in St. Luke's church at 8.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. were very largely attended, the building being filled to its utmost capacity in the evening. The church was made bright and attractive by many beautiful flowers.

At the early hour a youthful sterling effect communicated, service—a gift from the members of the Sunday School—was dedicated by the Rector and used for the first time. The new hymn board, including the day of the month, the church day, and the hymns, also given by the scholars, was in use.

At the evening service a fully vested choir was introduced. Several anthems were rendered by them in a most effective manner and the solos by Mrs. Spenser, Mr. Jos. A. Hardiker and Hazel Switzer were added greatly to the joy of Eastertide, altogether making one feel that this indeed has been a glad and joyous Easter.

DROWNING FATALITY.

MR. FRANK McCABE, A WELL-KNOWN NAPANEEAN, MET DEATH IN THE ST. LAWRENCE.

The sad news of the untimely death of Mr. Frank McCabe was received in Napanee on Tuesday morning, and came as a great shock to all his friends and many friends elsewhere, who was well and favorably known, in this town and surrounding district, having been living in Gananoque for the past three years, in the employ of the Standard Chemical Co.

On Monday, April 5th, Albert Wheeler and Albert Geddaby, who had a camp up the river from Gananoque, were on the river, on their return journey was accompanied by Frank McCabe, who was visiting at the time and the boys urged not to go on the water, as it would be very rough, but Mr. McCabe decided to go, and went home. The other two fishermen left him, and shortly persuaded him to follow them. They left in a skiff about 4 p.m., and met unfortunately for them that they had weathered the worst of the trip and reached a point of comparative shelter when the boat capsized. However, if there reached shore in safety. Wheeler at once started for the camp on foot, leaving Geddaby and McCabe on the shore, expecting they would follow. When they did not turn up at camp he concluded they had gone to one of the nearby residences to spend the night. Upon reaching the home of Henry Cook's, and how McCabe met his death after that is unfounded in mystery. It is supposed that in attempting to follow he wandered into the river, became weary, lost his balance and was drowned. The world have easily happened, as the night was very dark and the unfortunate young man had probably become overcome with the cold. It is said that he was bothered with his heart lately and it may be possible that it gave out in his struggle to get out of the mud.

The body was discovered on Tuesday morning about fifteen feet from shore. It was in a standing position in only three feet of water, with his legs sunken in the soft river bottom to the knees.

The point where the accident occurred is in Frontenac County and an inquest being asked for the case properly came under the jurisdiction of Coroner Mundell, of Kingston. He, however, delegated his authority to Dr. Shaw, of Lansdowne, Coroner for Leeds County, being more convenient to Gananoque.

As a result of Coroner Shaw's visit to Gananoque on Wednesday, a jury was empanelled and met at Edwards' undertaking rooms at 11 a.m. After being sworn in the jury was examined en adjournment was made to Friday evening, April 16th, at 7.30 o'clock, in the meantime Chief Constable Ryan was deputed to subpoena all persons he considered necessary to give evidence at the inquest. There were no marks found upon the body, or other evidence of foul play, and a post-mortem will therefore considered unnecessary by the jury.

Mr. Earl McCabe, brother of the deceased, Mrs. McCabe, his mother, and Mr. John Jarmes, father of deceased's wife, went to Gananoque Tuesday night and accompanied the remains to Napanee on Wednesday afternoon. Undertaker Edwards having been given permission to prepare the body for final interment only after the jury had been dismissed.

The remains arrived here on the 4.28 p.m. train on Wednesday, the casket being transferred to the Bay of Quinte train for Deseronto and the body placed in the vault there. Later it will be interred in the Deseronto cemetery beside the body of his infant child. A large number are sorrowing friends were at the station and beautiful wreaths of flowers from friends evidenced the esteem in which deceased was held.

Deceased, who was in his 27th year, was a son of the late Arch. McCabe, and, besides a loving wife, he leaves a mother, sister, and two brothers to mourn his loss. The sympathy of a host of friends in town and country is extended to the bereaved wife and family in their hour of trouble.

YACHT CLUB ANNUAL MEETING.

An enthusiastic meeting of the combined Napanee and Deseronto yachtsmen was held in the Napanee Athletic Club rooms on Wednesday night, when the following officers were elected for 1909:

Commodore—Thos. Naylor, Deseronto.

Vice-Commodore—Prof. S. Scott, Napanee.

Sailing Fleet Captain—M. B. Mills, Napanee.

Motor Boat Fleet Captain—Chas. A. Wallace, Deseronto.

It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that the motor boat owners of Napanee and Deseronto should join hands with the old yacht club, and by the united efforts of the two make the coming season a successful one.

It was the further purpose making the pavilion on Foresters' Island the headquarters for the club this season, and steps have been taken to secure the use of this building for the coming season. With the co-operation of the motor boat owners they intend to put on a series of social gatherings at Forester Island on certain evenings throughout the season and they will try to make such arrangements for giving all the members of the yacht clubs in nearby towns a right royal welcome.

It is hoped that the citizens of Napanee and Deseronto will lend their assistance to the worthy cause by becoming members of the club.

The next meeting will be held in the Napanee A. A. A. rooms on Wednesday, the 28th April, when the program for the season's sport will be fully dealt with, and every one who is interested in good clean sport is requested to attend.

Probably the largest sailing event ever held in the Bay of Quinte will take place at Deseronto on the 24th May, when the annual meeting of the Eastern Yacht Racing Association will be held in a regatta of the association all its members will be welcome at the meet.

PERFECT STEEL CHEESE VAT.

Pat. Aug. 18, '08

We have put into our Steel Cheese Vats a large amount of TIME—EXPERT SKILL and WORKMANSHIP—and MONEY until we have developed an IDEAL article.

We ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEE them—you take NO CHANCES—we assume all the responsibility—we are right behind our goods—some local dealers misrepresent our vats to sell their wooden ones. They are jealous of the great success with which we are meeting. If you have any doubts about our vats write the highest Dairy Authorities in Eastern Ontario—The DAIRY SCHOOLS. Your INSTRUCTOR. Then if you are still skeptical we will give you one on trial and if you are not delighted with it as a CLEAN—SANITARY—DURABLE—SATISFACTORY PROPOSITION we will relieve you of it. We mean business. Write us for our NEW CASH PROPOSITION, it will INTEREST YOU. Listen to what a Factory owner says recently:

"This is to certify that I purchased a Steel Cheese Vat, manufactured by the Steel Trough & Machine Co. Tweed, 2 years ago, and after using it over one season have satisfied myself that it is the most perfect vat for factory use. I find them sanitary—DURABLE—good heaters and good to hold their heat. In fact they are the best vat I have ever used, and I would not take a vat I require new ones. I own my Factory and have had 23 years experience in making cheese. THOS. MANTYRE, Dixons Corners."

ONE BAD MISTAKE

IS FREQUENTLY MADE BY THE WISEST OF NAPANEE PEOPLE.

It's a serious mistake to neglect backache. Backache is the first symptom of kidney ills. Fatal complications may follow. Booth's Kidney Pills act quickly to overcome kidney ills. Do not delay until too late, as may mean Diabetes, Brights Disease. Read what a Napanee resident says.

Mrs. Jas. Gordon, of West st., Napanee, Ont., says:

"For some long time Mr. Gordon had complained of a dull pain across the small of his back and extending around his sides. He would suffer with a dull, languishing pain and as he had much driving to do, the jarring of the rig seemed to affect the kidneys and disorder them continually. He had tried several remedies but found little or no relief until using Booth's Kidney Pills on recommend of our druggist, Mr. Wallace. They quickly regulated the kidney disorders, his back strengthened and the pain left it. He speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills and says he would not be without a box in the house."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles for which it is a highest state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, Yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head-is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents. Five for $1.

Little on Monday morning, April 5th, William McQuaid died at his home, on the north shore in Amherst Island. During the past year he had been in poor and sadly failing in health. In patience and resignation he bore his illness, and when the call came passed peacefully away. He was in his 70th year. His father, James McQuaid, was one of the pioneer settlers on Amherst Island. William has his youngest son and eldest of the homestead upon which he lived during his life time. He lived and died respected by his friends and neighbors. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, and took an active part in building the present church. He leaves a widow and daughter, Mrs. Hoig-bones to mourn his loss. His funeral was largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. J. Cumberland.

Following is the report of Easter examinations of Stella Continuation Class and School. It is the aggregate percentage of marks on each subject:

Arithmetic 82, Algebra 62, Geometry 76, Grammar 82, History 83, Geography 87, Composition 74, Literature 72, French 68, Latin 76, German 65, Physics 62.

SPRING Skin Troubles

Mothers who have used Zam-Buk know how it cures Spring Skin Troubles in Children or Adults. Mothers who have not yet tried it should note these facts:—Zam-Buk was introduced ten years ago, yet such is its merit that to-day it has become the standard salve in the homes of four continents! Zam-Buk is purely herbal; contains no poisonous colouring matter; is used by leading medical men; used in the British Army and Navy; and by all best fitted to know the needs of the skin. Make it your family balm!

Mr. J. C. Bates, of Barks Falls (Ont.), says:—"Zam-Buk cured my three children, who were all broken out in sores to such an extent that it was painful to see them. These sores had defied all remedies previously applied, but I am glad to say Zam-Buk healed them."

Miss S. G. Hamilton, of Alliston (Ont.), says:—"My face and hands were one mass of pimples and blotches. These would itch, and when rubbed, broke out into sores. Whenever I put water near the affected parts it caused a stinging sensation and much pain—just as if I had been scalded. Nothing that I applied seemed to do me any good until I tried Zam-Buk. That gave me relief, and a few weeks of the Zam-Buk treatment resulted in a perfect cure."

Zam-Buk cures pimples, skin eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises, piles, festering sores, ulcers, blood-poisoning, eczema, ringworm, bad leg, diseased ankles, and all skin diseases and ailments. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures rheumatism, and sciatica. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box; three for $1.25, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

MYRTLE, MAY.

April 3d, 1909.

Evidently spring has come at last. The different flocks of wild geese are coming and friend, the crow, that have put in an appearance in this locality of late, directed to the prairie farmer that he must soon commence his operations upon the soil of his land. This indeed is welcome news, but after a rather long, but on the whole very desirable winter, such as our last one has been. The past winter has been very favorable one. The past prophets for the next abundant yields of grain in the prairie fields for the year 1909. For once two weeks of March, these fields were covered with the prairie of its snowy blanket, and now, where a few weeks ago nothing but the dazzling white met the eye, there looms up nothing but the dark, rich soil of the broad fields of this great country.

This week Mr. Leslie Nostrom, this locality into this locality on a farm belonging to N. P. Hinch, Limerick, Township of Winnipeg, spent Thursday and Friday last guest of R. E. Hinch.—Mr. Wm. Hall and Mrs. Rose, Bath, have this week returned from Leicester.—Mr. Hall and wife have been spending the last three months in Toronto in order to attend the Model, after an extended trip East, visiting friends in John Findley, Carman, has been busily renovating the barn on a farm here, belonging to Mrs. Brown and is tenanted by Norman. This together with the fine residence that had erected on the premises by the same gentleman, set buildings lately put up, make it one of the most desirable farms in the district.—Mrs. Wallace Hall, of Bath, spent a few days with Mrs. Wilmot on the 8th Creek, at which place she visited with friends.—Mrs. Hall, after a week's visit here with her cousins, Mrs. Hedley Hall, left for her home in Bath, Ont., on Monday last week.—Rev. All hope for her speedy recovery.—Mr. Hitch, of Carman, is visiting in the locality.—Mr. and Mrs. Hodgett and Will Mitchell visited friends in Bath on Sunday.—The Myrtle Literary Society gave a box social on Thursday evening last which was a real success.—Mr. Livingston is at present in Carman Hospital, having taken there for some operation for a serious attack of appendicitis. We hope for his speedy return to health.—Mrs. James Miller left on Wednesday for Deseronto, where she will visit for some time.

Banish Pimples And Eruptions

Everyone Needs a Tonic in the Spring to Build up the Blood.

If you want new health and strength in the spring you must build up your blood with a tonic medicine. After the long indoor winter months are past most people feel depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood is impure and watery. That is what causes pimples and unsightly eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism, the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia, poor appetite, frequent headaches and a desire to avoid exertion. These troubles can all be banished by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ, strengthens every nerve and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired out, ailing men and women. Mrs. Frank Murphy, Clark's Harbor, N. S., says:—"A year ago I was completely run down and my work became a burden to me. I felt tired all the time, and could hardly drag myself about. I was also troubled with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking three or four boxes was again in the best of health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will prove a friend in need to all who are weak and ailing."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What a Great Man Said to the Great American People.

Parisian Sage is a discovery of a celebrated scientist, who spent the best years of his life in perfecting the great hair tonic—Parisian Sage. In giving his receipt to the American people he said, "Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but it is more than a hair dressing. It cures dandruff by killing the germs that infest the roots of the hair; it stops falling hair; it gives vigor and strength to the hair roots." T. B. Wallace sells Parisian Sage at 50 cents a large bottle and guarantees it to do all that is claimed for it, or your money is refunded. If you do not reside near a druggist who sells Parisian Sage, send 50 cents to Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., and a bottle will be sent you all charges prepaid.

Wall Paper

Spring, 1909

To all who contemplate purchasing Wall Paper this Spring we would announce that we have placed in stock the best selection that we could secure of Canadian made Papers, and some new and very attractive lines made in the United States.

We are satisfied that the patterns and colorings are attractive, and that our prices are as low or lower than anywhere else in town, because customers of good judgement come back almost every day after seeing all the other samples, and buy from us; and because we have yet to hear of the first case of dissatisfaction after the Paper was on the wall.

To those who desire to use a better class of Paper than is made in Canada, we would say that we have the agency for two of the largest Wall Paper Houses in the States—the samples representing stock worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. You can make a selection at prices ranging from 25c. to $3.00 per roll—a wider range than you can get in any city in Canada. Prompt delivery in four days from giving order.

Please call before you purchase.

THE BEST FLOUR DAFOE'S NONESUCH. DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT.

By numerous tests by the best bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best flours in the market.

When buying flour, ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby keeping down and Shorts that you get is cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported hundreds of miles at great expense, and usually 20 to 30 pounds you get inferior quality. The grower complains if the farmer or the merchant sends the Tomato or potato contract for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he cannot get the home buyer for more than hundreds of miles away and tells you an inferior flour or anything else than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

Choice Cornmeal and Buckwheat Flour always on hand. Feed grinding a specialty with the best two mill power in Canada.

A full stock of the best Anthracite Coal also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of grain.

Another Mile-post Passed

With the closing of the year, to-morrow, this store will have finished another year, and it has been a year of progress, a good year—the best we ever had.

We have largely increased our sales which is evidence that we are maintaining our lead in value-giving, as well as in quantity, generosity and quality reliableness.

AS TO THE FUTURE.

It's enough to say that we are already on the march towards larger accomplishment, towards bigger business, with more people and that means that we are driving in the determination to get more and more in your favor by making this store more and more a better place for you to shop.

Our Stock of spring and summer goods is now complete, and we are positive that in point of fashion, good taste and good judgment will have no trouble in finding just what they want in our offering.

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP CLOTHIERS. NAPANEE

Farm Tools.

The store has a reputation for reliability with everything it sells. The manufacturers have encouraged this manufacturer to improve their products, and we deal only in good goods that we know to be right.

Apply that fact to farm and garden tools, and spend your money where you can get it again if anything is wrong. The best evidence of what we have to offer at a glance the months can make comparisons.

THE STORE OF QUALITY.

Thrift is the basis of all prosperity

Some people ask—why are we always busy? Our answer is simple. Because we keep the Best Store, best Groceries and Meats, and get for the least money (quality considered) sold in Napanee.

If you are not in the habit of buying from Smiths', why just follow the crowd and you will make no mistake.

SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR AND SUPPER.

It is many years since so successful a bazaar and supper have been held in connection with the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, as the ladies of the Church Women's Guild may congratulate themselves on its management and result. The supper tables were most artistically decorated and furnished, and groaned under the load of good things, which were much appreciated by the many present, notwithstanding the most unpropitious weather. Later in the evening a musical and dramatic entertainment proved a most enjoyable ending to a very pleasant evening. The programme was listened to with much pleasure, and the farce proved most amusing and was well done. All who had been asked to contribute supplies had done so so generously that it was possible to serve an excellent luncheon on Wednesday at 12 o'clock, and many availed themselves of this opportunity. The Guild begs to extend its hearty thanks to all those who so kindly assisted in making the evening such a success.

EASTER AT TAMWORTH.

Christ Church Easter services were more than well attended. Choice Easter lilies adorned the altar and chancel. The choir beautifully rendered appropriate music, with Miss Bernice Saul as soloist. Great praise is due the organist, Miss Close, than whom none could be more faithful and painstaking. There were two celebrations of the Holy Communion. The Rector, Revd. J. W. Jones, returned from St. Mark's, Tamworth, officiating throughout the parish, amounting to nearly $50.00, were given to the rector. On Monday, at 10 a.m., the annual Vestry meeting was held. There was a large attendance. Financial reports were splendid, showing heavy expenditures with credit balances. Jas. Wheeler and Dan. Hinchey were re-elected Wardens, and Dr. Wilson, Treasurer. The rector reported the loss sustained by the deaths of many parishioners during the year. Jas. Tesky, Andrew Coulter, R. J. Reid, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. John Stinson and Mrs. Geo. Stinson. The heirs of Andrew Coulter have donated his share in the vault to Christ Church. The parish was never in a healthier or more flourishing condition than now. The congregation of Enterprise hope to greatly improve their church this summer. Mr. F. Teskey, of Queen's University, has been engaged for the summer as Lay Reader for Marlbank. The Lord Bishop will hold Confirmation in Christ Church on the 2d May, at 10.30 a.m.

You are always safe in buying "Cream of the West" flour. Never varying in quality, the contents of one bag are exactly like the contents of every other bag—always up to the standard.

"Cream of the West" flour is made from only the hardest of hard Manitoba wheat, by the full Hungarian process. It fairly exhales the essence of prairie strength and purity.

"Cream of the West" is a home flour—nourishing, toothsome, and the standard for the housewife who prides herself on her baking. That's the reason why grocers recommend it.

The Gospel in Antioch. Acts xi: 19-30; xii: 25.

Golden Text—The disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. Acts xi: 26.

Verses 19-21—Who were they that were "scattered abroad"?

Had these men any authority from the church to preach? (See Acts viii: 4.

Is it the duty of every Christian to preach Christ, whether or not he has been appointed by the Church to do so?

Is it possible to offer the fullness of God's love, and never say a word about it?

Are good people liable to be narrow in their views?

Are persecutions and all sorts of trouble always helpful to the children of God?

Some of these disciples seem to have been earnest, and preached to Jews only; others being broader, preached to the Greeks also, what made the difference these men?

Which is the greater power to trouble our views, and make us fear everybody's our enlistenment, or sinking deeper and rising higher in the love of God?

Verse 21—Whether a man is narrow through ill-will or ignorance, will God use him to extend his kingdom?

Are any efforts to extend the kingdom of God ever in vain?

Verse 22—Did the news that Antioch had received the word of God give the church at Jerusalem joy or displeasure?

What news is the most joyous either to an individual Christian, a church or a city?

What was the purpose of sending Barnabas?

Verses 23-24. What sort of a man was Barnabas?

Is it necessary, or not, to be filled with the Holy Ghost, in order to make converts, or to comfort the children of God, and do those works always attributed to the ministry of a man filled with the Holy Ghost? (This question might be answered in writing by members of the Club).

Verse 25—Did the news that Antioch had received the word of God give the church at Jerusalem joy or displeasure?

What news is the most joyous either to an individual Christian, a church or a city?

What was the purpose of sending Barnabas?

Verses 23-24. What sort of a man was Barnabas?

Is it necessary, or not, to be filled with the Holy Ghost, in order to make converts, or to comfort the children of God, and do those works always attributed to the ministry of a man filled with the Holy Ghost? (This question might be answered in writing by members of the Club).

Verse 25—Did Barnabas start off to Tarsus to seek Saul?

Does it frequently happen that two believers on the earth come together, than they seek the living source?

Where were the disciples of Jesus first called Christians?

What had Christ's followers been called previous to being called Christians?

Verses 27-28. Is the gift of prophecy, that is telling future events, given to any person nowadays?

Verses 29-30. Should the church of Christ today be a practical brotherhood, caring for one another's needs, and helping one financially, and in every other way, as the need may be?

Should not the church be strong for its members to carry their belief in the fraternal societies?

Chapter xii: 25—Barnabas and Saul took the contributions from Antioch up to Jerusalem to relieve the need there, as they returned was it just as noble work as if they had been on their journey to Tarsus for Saul?—Rev. M. J. Dell, Chief Minister. Journey Circus. Acts xiii: 1-12.

BASEBALL CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

On Friday evening last a representative meeting of lovers of baseball was held at the Public Library Rooms, Bridge St., for the purpose of re-organizing the Napanee Baseball Club. And the following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. J. F. Walsh.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—Mr. Dali.
President—Mr. N. J. Sills.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. H. H. Trattels.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. Jas. Fitzpatrick.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. H. H. Allison.

The meeting then adjourned until this (Friday) evening, April 23rd, at 7.30 o'clock.

The prospects for a league again this year are very bright. A year ago the club started out without any money to start with, but, thanks to the generosity of the citizens, they were enabled to purchase a complete outfit. This year the Club has the money on hand, and with a little assistance will be able to commence play as soon as the grounds are in shape. The Club has been promised several games for practice and games and the thanks of the Club are extended to the directors.

There is plenty of young blood in town and it is possible that a junior team will be formed.

Five former and present members of the Finance Committee of Montreal City Council were disqualified for two years for voting money to pay the expenses of relatives of Mayor Payette and Assistant Clerk Hamel on their trip to Europe.

Mrs. George Edler of Pilkington was drowned away from home and was found drowned in a creek.

The Government will probably accept the Waterways Treaty with the United States Senate amendment.

WANTED TO CELEBRATE

Canadian Raised Union Jack at Pittsfield, Mass.—Nearly a Riot.

Pittsfield, Mass., April 19th.—There was almost a riot at "The Lodewarth," a boarding-house for Stanley electrical engineers on North street, when a guest attempted to display a Canadian bunting, the Union Jack over the Stars and Stripes. A school teacher, Miss Margaret Riley, who noticed it first, notified the landlady, who told the engineers to place the flag right. In fifteen minutes a hundred persons threatened to tear down the British flag. Lodewarth got ahold and hauled it down, but only after a threat was made to Captain John Urban on to call out the militia. The Canadian said he wanted to help celebrate Patriots' Day.

SINGING

At night when the long day is ended
And I am all ready for bed
When my hair has been combed out and plaited,
And all my prayers have been said,
Then mother will sing to me sometime.

It a tune so sweet and so low
That everything 'round seems to listen
And even the wind dares not blow.

But sometimes I seem to a robert
Where there was a woman who sang
And sometimes her voice was all sobsiken
And sometimes my mother and sang
My mother can sing like an angel.

But that woman made my head ache
I loved when I could hear my mother sing
What different sounds they can make!

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HADDEN—WILSON

Picton Gazette:

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hadden on Mary Mary Street was the setting of the marriage of their second daughter, Miss Evelyn Maude Hadden, to Dr. Charles Edwin Wilson, son of Mr. Uriah Wilson, M.P., and Mrs. Wilson of Napanee. The wedding ceremony which was as quiet and informal as possible, was celebrated at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, the 13th inst., by Rev. Mr. Sparling, of the Methodist parsonage officiating.

The big drawing rooms of Mr. Hadden's home were very simply decorated for the very bright occasion, roses, carnations and ferns, and white lilies and white blooms being artistically arranged about the rooms.

The bride, who was unattended, wore her going-away costume, and looked very pretty in a smartly tailored suit of dove green cheviot, with facings and lining of a more pronounced shade of the green. Her hat was a stylish little model of fancy braided straw, in green with trimmings and lilacs in the green shaded-to-bronze shades.

Only a very few of the bride's intimate friends, besides relatives, witnessed the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Hadden, Napanee, the groom's parents, were the only out-of-town guests.

Out in the dining room the luncheon was served at a table whose centre was the wedding cake, decked with bridal roses.

Despite the fact that the bride really did not have any thought connected with "wedding" in the generally accepted sense very many of her friends sent gifts to her as tokens of happy congratulations and good wishes. Among the pretty pieces of cut glass, silver and linen, was a very beautiful framed set of composite, a gift from Mr. Thomas Picton Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson left on the afternoon train for a couple of weeks' trip going first to Ottawa, from where they will set out for either Montreal and Quebec or New York and Atlantic City. Before their departure from the C. P. R. station they were very warmly serenaded by a number of the bride's friends who had gathered to shower a parting good wish accompanied with confetti and rice.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Napanee where he practices. She will receive there early in May and next Autumn will come up to Picton to receive with her mother.

Sophy of Kravonia
ANTHONY HOPE
Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"
Copyright, 1903, by Anthony Hope Hawkins

Sophy gave a cry of pleasure at seeing him. "A brave man, who loved his king and served monsieigneur!" she said; she darted forward and clasped his hand.

Zerkovitch was as excited and hurried as ever. He thrust a letter into her hand. "From Stenovics, madame, for you to read," he said.

She took it, saying to Lepage with a touch of reproach, "Are you General Stenovics' messenger now, M. Lepage?"

"Read it, madame," said he.

She obeyed and then signed to Lukovitch to take it and to Dunstanbury to read it also. "It's just what you've been saying," she told him, with a faint smile, as she sank back in the high oaken seat.

"I am to add, madame," said Lepage, "that you will be treated with every consideration—any title-in-reason, any provision in reason too."

"So the general's letter says."

"But I was told to repeat it," persisted the little man. He looked round on them. Lukovitch and Dunstanbury had finished reading the letter and were listening too. "If you still hesitated, I was to impress upon you that the guns would certainly go in Slavna in less than a week, almost certainly on Sunday. You know the course of the river well, madame?"

"Not very well above Slavna, no."

"In that case, which General Stenovics didn't omit to consider, I was to remind you that Captain Lukovitch probably knew every inch of it."

"I know it intimately," said Lukovitch. "I spent two years on the timber barges of the Krath."

"Then you, sir, will understand that the guns will certainly reach Slavna not later than Sunday." He paused for a moment, seeming to collect his memory. "By Wednesday evening Colonel Stafnitz will be at Kolskol. On Thursday morning he'll start back. On that evening he comes to rest in Evena. On Friday, Papska." Lukovitch nodded at each name. Lepage went on methodically. "On Saturday the lock at Miklevnl." He paused again and looked straight at Lukovitch.

"Exactly. The lock at Miklevnl," said that officer, with another nod.

"Yes, the lock at Miklevnl on Saturday. You see, it's not as if the colonel had a large force to move. That might take longer. He'll be able to move his company as quick as the barges travel."

"It's just what you've been saying," she told him.

"The stream's very strong. They travel pretty well," said Lukovitch.

"But a hundred men—it's nothing to move, Captain Lukovitch." He turned round on them again and then turned back to Sophy. "That's all my message, madame," he said.

There was a silence.

"So it's evident the guns will be in Slavna by Sunday," Lepage concluded.

"If they reach Miklevnl on Saturday—any time on Saturday they will," said Lukovitch. "And up here very soon after."

"The general intimated that also," agreed Lukovitch."

"The general gives us very careful information," observed Dunstanbury, looking rather puzzled. He was not so well versed in Stenovics' methods as the rest. Sophy smiled upon him and even Zerkovitch gave a little laugh.

"How are things in Slavna, M. Lepage?" the last named asked.

Lepage smiled a little too. "General Stenovics is in full control of the city —during Colonel Stafnitz's absence, sir," he answered.

"They're quarreled?" cried Lukovitch.

"Oh, no, sir. Possibly General Stenovics is afraid they might." He spoke again to Sophy. "Madame, do you still blame me for being the general's messenger?"

"No, M. Lepage, but there's much to consider in the message. Captain Lukovitch, if monsieigneur had read this message, what would he have thought the general meant?"

Lukovitch's face was full of excitement as he answered her.

"The prince wouldn't have cared what General Stenovics meant. He would have said that the guns would be three days on the river before they came to Slavna, that the barges would take the best part of an hour to get through Miklevnl lock, that there was good cover within a quarter of a mile of the lock"—

Sophy leaned forward eagerly. "Yes, yes?" she whispered.

"And that an escort of a hundred men was—well, might be—not enough!"

"And that riding from Volseni"—

"One might easily be at Miklevnl before Colonel Stafnitz and the guns could arrive there!"

Dunstanbury gave a start. Zerkovitch a chuckle, Lepage a quiet smile. Sophy rose to her feet; the star glowed; there was even color in her cheeks before.

"If there are fifty or thirty or twenty," she said, her eyes set on Dunstanbury, "who would count their lives well risked, we may yet strike one blow for monsieigneur and for the cause he loved."

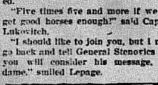
Dunstanbury looked around. "There are three here," he said.

"Five!" called Basil Williamson from the doorway, where he had stood unobserved.

"Five!" cried Sophy, and for the first time since monsieigneur died she laughed.

"Five times five and more if we can get good horses enough!" said Captain Lukovitch.

"I should like to join you, but I must go back and tell General Stenovics that you will consider his message, madame," smiled Lepage.



Chapter Thirteen

IN the end they started thirty strong, including Sophy herself. There were the three Englishmen—Dunstanbury, Basil Williamson and Henry Brown, Dunstanbury's servant, an old soldier, a good rider and shot. The rest were cavalry young men of Volseni, once destined for the ranks of the Prince of Slavna's artillery. Lukovitch and Peter Vassip led them. Not a married man was among them, for, to his intense indignation, Zerkovitch was left behind in command of the city. Sophy would have this so, and nothing would move her. She would not risk causing Marie Zerkovitch to weep more and to harbor fresh fears of her. So they rode "without incumbrance," as Dunstanbury said, laughing. His spirits rose inexpressibly as the moment of action came.

ZAM-BUK CURED HER BABY.
Mothers will find the following statement of more than passing interest, as it does how Zam-Buk ends the skin-miseries of children, even when ordinary remedies have completely failed. Mrs. E. W. Bowerbank, of 126 Denison Avenue, Toronto, says:—
"Not long ago my baby's face broke out in an eruption. The spots would crack and be very irritating and sore. At other times they itched fearfully and caused the child to scratch and rub, thus making the sores very inflamed and painful. I tried all sorts of ointments and salves, but they somehow did not seem able to remove the trouble. Zam-Buk proved very different, and a few applications gave the child relief. The sores are now healed completely.
"Since that time my little daughter has had occasion to use Zam-Buk for skin trouble. She broke out in blotches on her hands and arms, and in her case also Zam-Buk effected a cure.
"We now keep Zam-Buk handy as a household balm, and do not intend to be without it."
Not only for skin diseases, but for cuts, burns and bruises, it is a fine remedy. The other day I burned my hand badly. An application of Zam-Buk seemed to take the fire out of it at once, and it soon healed. In the course of my experience I have tried pretty nearly all the salves and ointments obtainable, but there is nothing to come near Zam-Buk."
Zam-Buk is Nature's own healing balm, being composed of pure herbal essences. It is a sure cure for pimples and eruptions, eczema, ring-worm, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad leg, piles, festering sores and all skin troubles and diseases. Druggists and Stores everywhere sell at 50c per box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 1 boxes $1.25. You are warned against cheap and harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

Their homes were all that could be seen in Volgosi of a motte caped to the flash. The little band paraded in the market place on Friday afternoon. There they were joined by Basil, who had been to pay a last visit to monsieigneur's grave. She came among them sad, yet seeming more serious. Her spirit was the happier for striking a blow in monsieigneur's name. The rest of them were in high feather. The prospect of the expedition went like a blot out the tragedy of the past, and to veil the threatening face of the future. As dusk fell they rode out of the city gate.

Miklevnl lies twenty miles up the course of the river from Slavna, but the river flows there nearly from north to south, turning to the east only four or five miles above the capital. You ride, then, from Volseni to Miklevnl almost in a straight line, leaving Slavna away on the left. It is a distance of no more than thirty-five miles or thereabouts, but the first ten consist of a precipitous and rugged descent by a bridle path from the hills to the valley of the Krath. No pace beyond a walk was possible at any point here, and for the greater part of the way it was necessary to lead the horses. When once the plain was reached there was good going, sometimes over country roads, sometimes over grass, to Miklevnl.

It was plain that the expedition could easily be intercepted by a force issuing from Slavna and placing itself astride the route; but, then, they did not expect a force to issue from Slavna. That would be done only by the orders of General Stenovics, and Lepage had gone back to Slavna to tell the general that his message was being considered—very carefully considered—in Volseni. General Stenovics, if they understood him rightly, would not move till he heard more. For the rest risks must be run. If all went well, they hoped to reach Miklevnl before dawn on Saturday. There they were to lie in wait for Stafnitz and for the big guns which were coming down the Krath from Kolskol to Slavna.

Lukovitch was the guide and had no lack of counsel from lads who knew the hills as well as their sweethearts' faces. He rode first, and, while they were on the bridle path, they followed in single file, walking their horses or sending them. Sophy and Dunstanbury rode behind, with Basil Williamson and Henry Brown just in front of them. In advance, some hundreds of yards, Peter Vassip acted as scout, coming back from time to time to advise Lukovitch that the way was clear. The night fell fine and fresh, but dark was very dark. That did not matter. The men of Volseni were like eels for seeing in the dark.

The first ten miles passed slowly and tediously, left without mistake or mishap. They halted on the edge of the plain an hour before midnight and took rest and food. Each man carried provision for two days. Behind them now rose the steep hills whence they had come, before them stretched the wide plain, away on their left was Slavna, straight ahead Miklevnl, the goal of their pilgrimage. Lukovitch moved about, seeing that every man gave heed to his horse and had his equipment and his weapons in good order. Then came the word to remount, and between 12 and 1, with a cheer hastily suppressed, the troop set forth at a good trot over the level ground. Now Williamson and Henry Brown fell to the rear with three or four Volsenians lest by any chance or accident Sophy should lose or be cut off from the main body. Lukovitch and Peter Vassip rode together at the head.

To Dunstanbury that ride by night through the spreading plain was wonderful, a thing sufficient in itself without regard to its object or its issue. He had seen some service before, and there was the joy of that. He had known the comradeship of a bold enterprise; there was the exultation of that. He had taken great risks before; there was the excitement of that. The night had ere now called him to the saddle, and it called now with all its fascination. His blood tingled and burned with all these things. But there was more. Beside him all the way was the figure of Sophy dim in the darkness and the dim silhouette of her face—dim, yet, as it seemed, hardly blurred; its pallor stood out even in the night. She engrossed his thoughts and spurred his speculations.

What thoughts dwelt in her? Did she ride to death and was it a death she herself courted? If so, he was sworn in his soul to thwart her, even to his own death. She was not food for death, his soul cried, passionately protesting against that loss, that impoverishment of the world. Why had they let her come? She was not a woman of whom that could be asked therefore it was that his mind so hung on her with an attraction, a fascination, an overbearing curiosity. The men of Volseni seemed to think it natural that she should come. They knew her, then, better than he did.

Save for the exchange of a few words now and then about the road they had not talked. He had respected her silence. But she spoke now and, to his great pleasure, less sadly than

CROUP QUICKLY CURED
DON'T LET THE CHILD CHOKE TO DEATH WHILE WAITING FOR THE DOCTOR.
Hyomei, the miraculous, antiseptic dry air treatment, will cure croup in either the first or second stages. Easily inhaled, even when the breathing is irregular, it reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terrible inflamed membrane of the windpipe. Its soothing fumes act immediately, the inflammation is allayed and the swelling reduced.
George H. King, of 22 Wellington St., South Woodstock, says: "We would not think of keeping house without Hyomei. It has warded off colds, coughs and sore throats for all of our three children many and many a time. When a child breathes badly and through the mouth and the glands around the throat and nose commence to swell, then is the time that we find the Hyomei quickly relieves the trouble and gets the bronchial tubes, lungs and throat cleared up."
Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by T. B. Wallace to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and croup, or money back. A complete outfit, including a neat hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. An extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, costs but 50-cents.

he had expected. Her tone was light and witnessed to a whimsical enjoyment which not even memory could altogether quench.

"This is my first war, Lord Dunstanbury," she said. "The first time I've taken the field in person at the head of my men!"

"Yes, your majesty's first campaign. May it be also the last!" he answered, suiting his tone to hers.

"My first and my last, I suppose. Well, I could hardly have looked to have even one—in those old days you know of—could I?"

"Frankly, I never expected to hold my commission as an army officer from you," he laughed. "As it is I'm breaking all the laws in the world, I suppose. Perhaps they'll never hear of it in England, though."

"Where there are no laws left you can break none," she said. "There are none left in Kravonia now. There's but one crime, to be weak, and but one penalty, death."

"Neither the crime nor the penalty for us tonight!" he cried gayly. "Queen Sophia's star shines tonight!"

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

James was begging his father for a second helping of pudding. "When I was in the army," said his father (and allowed me to have one helping. James says this is the first time and the last), "I don't care what you put on with my food, daddy."

Much sickness and distress in children is caused by worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator gives relief by removing the cause. Give it a trial and be convinced.

"George, I was shocked today to hear that little Dick Hall had been allowed to go to shows. Where do you suppose he could have learned such a dreadful expression?"

"Don't you know, mother? I know."

Hollaway's Corn Cure destroys all kinds of worms quickly and effectually. Any child that would endure them will soon be relieved by this wonderful remedy.

Mrs. Hassock (with letters)—Hiram says that the barn dance is all the rage in the city at present.

Mr. Hassock—Is it, indeed? Then stock up heavy—available in the garage business.

IT WILL PROLONG LIFE.—Dr. Soule, the distinguished physician of Jacksonville, Florida, whither he went for the purpose of discovering the cause of Yellow Fever, pronounced that certain ingredients in Dr. Soule's Catarrh Cure would prevent the bowels so as to remove their torpor and make them do their work properly. Thousands are prepared to bear testimony to their power in this respect.

None of the historians seem to know what time it was that Noah added a little Rosa bernard.

It would be an easy guess if the "Merry Widow" waltz had been written at that time.

IN NATURE'S GREENHOUSE THERE ARE CURES.—Medical experiments have shown conclusively that there are medicinal virtues in even ordinary plants growing up around us which, given time to take cause, cannot be estimated. It is held by some that Nature provides a cure for every disease which neglect and ignorance have visited upon man. However, this may be, it is well known that Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, distilled from roots and herbs, are a sovereign remedy in curing all disorders of the digestion.

"Yes," said the typhoid germ, "it's a funny thing about me."

"What's that?" asked the grip microbe.

"Why, I do my best fighting when I'm down."

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup needs no recommendation. To all who are familiar with it, it speaks for itself. Years of use in the treatment of colds and coughs and all affections of the throat has unquestionably established it as one of the very best medicines for such diseases. If you have a cough you will not regret it. You will find it 25 cents well invested.
Friend—Ballou, Pat! I scarcely knew you with your whiskers off.
Pat—The same wid me, me bhoy; I didn't know meself when I looked in to the glass, except by me voice.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chambers,
Napanee, April 19th, 1909.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening. Mayor Simpson in the chair. Members present—Families—Sharp, Burrows, Kenwerdy, Alexander, and Bogart.

Minutes of the last session were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. H. Hecks, Secretary of Hay Bay ferry, and M. S. Madole asking the Council to pass an order for $100.00, in favor of Hay Bay ferry. Laid on the table till later in the evening.

From Chas. A. Walters, Secretary of Napanee Electric Light Company asking Council to pass an order for $500.00, in to apply on capital account. Laid on the table till later in the evening.

Councillor Burrows reported that the commissioner and the Warden had effected the use of the drier required by the Court of Revision. Report adopted.

Moved by Coun. Kenwerdy, seconded by Coun. Burrows, that the Assessor's roll be handed to the clerk two weeks previous to the next municipal election and other waste products into the Napanee River from the stores and premises of the said firms; and that the said Medical Health and waste products are contaminating the water and rendering it unfit for the use of the inhabitants of the town and other persons who use said water, and that the Medical Health of the aforesaid premises is not being remedied within ten days from the date of the notice hereof, before the Town Solicitor be instructed to take legal proceedings for abatement or otherwise against said Company, as he may be advised in order to remedy the nuisance complained of. Carried.

Mr. Kenwerdy asked for the loan and Messrs. Alexander, Bogart, Sharp, Burrows, Kenwerdy and Mayor Simpson.

Nays—None.

Moved by Coun. Sharp, seconded by Coun. Bogart, that the by-law to provide for the payment of the Debentures issued to the Napanee Electric Light Company, be read a first, second and third time and passed. Carried.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, he knew not either than doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whites, Displacement, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Prolapse, Scanty or Painful Menses, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, varying dowbearings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney & bladder troubles where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete 10 days treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home. I am willing to do this because I know it will cost you nothing to give me a trial, and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a day, or less, that is a cup of tea a day's expenditure. I will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the ten days' treatment entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free my book, "WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing the home treatment, and many other things that every woman should know. Don't hesitate to think for herself. Then when the doctor says "You must have an operation," you can smile for you will know that you can cure yourself at home. Write me today. It matters not, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home remedy which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness, and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from its use. Do not neglect your health. Do not drug your self. Do not submit to the surgeon's knife. Do not suffer one day longer. Just send me your address and the free treatment will be sent you by return mail, in plain wrapper, with book. Write today, as you may not see this offer again. Address:

"QUALITY"

If you're the kind of a person we think you are, no inducements of price will make up for the lack of quality in the goods. You can't turn a page of the paper without coming face to face with low prices. The question is: What kind of clothes and how new are they?

For some years now 20th CENTURY BRAND MANUFACTURERS OF FINE READY-TO-WEAR CLOTHING, have lead all others, and through them we have established a reputation for having the Best Clothing shown anywhere in this district.

It has always been the persistent aim of this store to give the best obtainable in Men's and Boys' apparel — best in quality, style and tone, and at the lowest consistent prices. We are mindful of the careful man whose income compels economy, but who is just as particular to have things right. Our every-day prices are made on the basis of quick sales and small profits

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Old Folks' Concert on Tuesday night last, in the Opera Hall, was a huge success. Every seat was filled, and many were forced to occupy the "gods". Whether it is the inspiration that comes from a large audience or whatever the reason, each person performed his part in a most creditable manner, and deserves special mention. Where each part was so well taken it is hard to specify any one item, but undoubtedly "The Land of Bolan" received the warmest reception. As a whole "The Pioneer Bridegroom" was voted the best scene, as from first to last, it was most excellent. Mrs. Byrne Black fulfilled her duties as pianist which was a most difficult task, in a most acceptable manner. The Committee is to be congratulated on the entertainment, which was financially and in every way a grand success.

The Sultan's troops are deserting in large numbers to the Macedonian army. Abdul Hamid himself declares he will not flee.

By ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

"No, no; not yet. They'd retreat inside, and it would be the devil then. They'd have the pull of us. Wait for them to come out. They must send to look for the sentry. Tell the men to load right down in their saddles—down—close! Then the ground covers us. And now—silence till I give the word!"

Silence fell again for a few moments. They were waiting for a movement from Stafnitz's men in the barn. Only Dunstanbury, bareheaded, risked a look over the hillock which protected them from view.

A single man had come out of the barn and was looking about him for the sentry who had fired. He seemed to suspect no other presence. Stafnitz must have been caught in a sound nap this time.

The searcher found his man and dropped on his knees by him for a moment. Then he rose and ran hurriedly toward the barn, crying, "Colonel, colonel!"

"Now!" whispered impetuous Lukovitch.

But Dunstanbury pressed him down again, saying, "Not yet, not yet."

Sophy laid her hand on his arm. "Half of us to the barges," she said.

In their eagerness for the fight Lukovitch and Dunstanbury had forgotten the main object of it. But the guns were what monseigneur would have thought of first—what Stafnitz must first think of, too—the center of contest and the guerdon of victory.

Chapter Thirty-two

FOR the history of this night from the enemy's side thanks are due to the memory and to the unabashed courtesy of Lieutenant Rastats, who came alive, if not with a whole skin, out of the encounter and lived to reach middle age under a new regime so unappreciative of his services that it cashiered him for getting drunk within a year from this date. He ended his days as a billiard marker at the Golden Lion, a fact agreeable to poetic justice, but not otherwise material. While occupying that capacity he was always ready to open his mouth to talk provided he were afforded also a better reason for opening it.

Stafnitz and his men felt that their hard work was done. They were within touch of Slavna, and they had no reason, as they supposed, to fear any attack. The colonel had indulged them in something approaching to a carouse. Songs had been sung and speeches made; congratulations were freely offered to the colonel; allusions were thrown out not too carefully veiled to the predicament in which Stenovics found himself. Hard work, a good supper and plentiful wine had their effect. Save the sentries all were asleep at 10 o'clock and game to sleep till the reveille sounded at 6.

Their presence was a surprise to their assailants, who had perhaps approached in too rash a confidence that they were first on the ground. But the greater surprise befell them when, all now to defend the barges and the guns. When the man who had found the dead sentry ran back and told his tale, all of them, save Stafnitz, demurred, conceived that the attack must come from Stenovics. Some thought of Sophy and her Volkonski. They, they were packed in the barn, separated from their horses and with their carbines laid aside. The carbines were easily caught up. The horses, if not easily reached, supporting as active, skilful enemy at hand outside.

For themselves their position was

BE A CHARMING WOMAN

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charm of a beautiful woman lie in her hair. Many women do not realize the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the care of the hair.

The women of the "Old" days were noted for their beauty, not only of face and facial features are superior to those of modern women. The "Old" ladies know how to keep young by applying the vigor, lustre, and strength to the hair.

Up to a few years ago Parisian Sage could lately be obtained in Napanee. But now you can get this hair restorer and tonic and in every town in America. It is a delightful toilet requisite, and is guaranteed to stop falling hair, remove dandruff, relieve scalp itching, and to promote a luxuriant growth of hair. Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere under a guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Large bottles only 50 cents. Try it.

THE DEMON, DYSPEPSIA.—In olden times it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, waiting to enter into and cause trouble therein. At the present day the demon, Dyspepsia, is at large in the same way, waiting to enter a home where by carelessness or those who by carelessness have invited him. And have he once entered it is difficult to dislodge him. He that feels himself or his friends know that a valiant friend to do battle with this demon is to be found in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the fray.

A MAGIC PILL.—Dyspepsia is a foe that cannot exist where Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are used. Their magic influence is to be experienced from the first dose. In the many ills that arise from a disordered digestion, a fair trial of these pills will prove their value. Their action is prompt and certain. They are purely vegetable and harmless in their effect upon the most delicate constitution. They are a boon to sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia.

ONLY HAPPENED ONCE.

One of the easiest-going, most shiftless individuals that ever drifted through life, too lazy to travel any way except with the current, was Sam Doolittle, says a New York newspaper. Sam, unbothered and never outgrew it. Being beholdened was a chronic complaint with him, and it finally got so that nobody really expected anything else of him. In the course of time Sam died. The usual arrangements had been made and the customary obsequies, when, coming to other engagements of the officiating clergyman, it was found necessary to change the time to an hour later, and as a consequence the body reached the cemetery considerably earlier than the regular schedule had contemplated. As the procession entered the gates Sam's widow, who had not been informed of the change in time, leaned out of the carriage window and exclaimed:

"Is that Sam Doolittle you've got in that box?"

Upon being informed that it was, she shook her head mournfully and remarked:

"Well, if that don't beat everything! I never knew Sam to get anywhere ahead of time!"

GAVE HIM A LESSON.

On a car in a very large number not a long time ago a very well-dressed man had taken hold somewhat of the atmosphere of the car, and, after looking around deliberately, he spied a very pretty young lady sitting alone. Without any hesitation he walked down the aisle and sat down beside her. Then he began to talk to her. She looked at him in a little bored way, and then looked out of the window. He kept on talking, and she looked at him again, and then looked out of the window. He kept on talking, and she looked at him again, and then looked out of the window. He kept on talking, and she looked at him again

SCHOOL SUITS

We've a Suit —FOR— Every Boy in Town

Ask the score of mothers who bring their boys here for clothes season after season what they think of our Boys' Clothing. They'll tell you that they "always get the best here" — "wouldn't think of going elsewhere."

Our Children's Clothing is made for us by W. R. Johnston & Co., the most reliable clothing manufacturers in Canada. If you buy a Boy's Suit from us and it does not give satisfaction, come right back and we will replace it with another. We carry all sizes. Prices for good dependable suits range from $3.50 to $7.00 or $8.00.

Look at This Suit

It's the sort of a suit you'll always see when good dressers get together.

Swell enough for a neat dresser and modest enough for business wear.

It's right in harmony with what fashion calls for in fabric, what style demands in cut and what quality insists upon in good tailoring.

These Suits come at $10, $12, $14 and $16.

We can't startle you with these prices; anybody can advertise suits at similar prices—but we can surprise you with the quality of cloth and fit of these garments.

We are showing any number of good wearing suits in all wool tweed at $6, $7.50, $8, $9 and $10.

It will interest you to see our clothing and prices before you purchase.

Come and see. It's a pleasure to show you what a large assortment we carry.

MARGARET O'BRIEN.

OBITUARY.

Margaret Stinson, the beloved wife of George Stinson, passed away at their home, on Monday morning, March 29th, after an illness of ten years from heart trouble, during which time she was confined to her bed. All that medical skill could do was of no avail. She bore her sufferings with great patience and cheerfulness, never murmuring nor complaining, and was always so thoughtful for others' comfort. During her long illness, she was cared for most tenderly by her devoted husband and only daughter Frances. The funeral to Christ Church on Wednesday was largely attended, the subject of the discourse chosen by her clergyman, Rev. J. W. Jones, was the 13th verse of the 14th chapter of Revelation, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord: Yea saith the spirit they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

The deceased was in her 63d year, and besides a family of five children, she leaves two brothers and two sisters, to mourn her loss. Their loss is her gain. The children are Murray, living near home; W. H. on the homestead; Fred., Frobisher, Sask.; Robert, Latch; Wash., and Frances, at home.

A precious one from us is gone.
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

PIANO RECITAL.

A Piano Recital, the first of the kind ever held in Napanee, was given by pupils of Miss Florence M. Henry, in the Town Hall, on Wednesday afternoon, when the hall was well filled with an appreciative and enthusiastic audience.

The different numbers of a most select programme were performed in an artistic and accomplished manner, showing the good work and high standard attained by Miss Henry, herself a graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music:

The opening number, a trio, Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," was daintily and expressively played by Misses H. VanDuzen, P. Grieve and F. Schryver. The trio, Czerny's "Hunting Song", Misses H. Gibbard, J. Phippen and V. Hambly, and the duet, Weber's "Invitation to the Dance", by Misses Benjamin and Gibson, were played with fine feeling and rhythm. Leschetizky's "Mazurka in E. flat", was played in an earnest manner by Miss Lena Mcbride. Bachmann's "La Cigale", Mr. Claude Knight, Godard's "Second Valse", Miss Edna VanDuzen, Chaminade's "Air de Ballet", Miss Nita Smith, and Lack's "Valse Arabesque" Miss Aleta Garrison. Miss

SOUTHERN MANITOBA AFFLICTED WITH PEST OF ENORMOUS RATS.

Immense Amount of Damage Done to Grain and Chicken Industry, and Buildings Riddled.

Winnipeg, Man., April 26th.—In Southern Manitoba a most remarkable phenomenon has occurred in the shape of an invasion of rats. The pests are of a large size, and are most destructive. A despatch from Gretna says they are doing a vast amount of damage just now, more especially among the chickens. The raising of which is quite an industry in the district. One farmer said it was almost impossible to tell the extent of the damage as there is so much covered up that does not appear on the surface. One of the residents of the town showed a correspondent where they had gnawed holes in the studding and also in the rafters of a building. Very little more of the same work would make the building unsafe. Also the rats worry hogs, horses and chickens.

Some idea of the numbers in which the rats left this district may be gathered from the fact that in one trap set nine large rats were caught one night. The trap would hold no more. The next night seven were caught in the same trap in the same place. Another resident caught nine with a large trap.

The Town of Morris is also worried by the pest. Mr. R. C. T. Collins, one of the councillors, has interviewed the authorities here on the subject. He says farmers around Morris are catching from 8 to 20 rats per day. The vermin are similar to those found in the Old Country. They are doing much damage to farmers' granaries, and also to dwellings. They first appeared in Emmerson. Then they were found at Gretna, and now they are at Morris, and are moving north. "We are overrun with rats," said Mr. Collins, in an interview, "and the pests are marching on to Winnipeg. They will reach your city this summer."

The matter is so important that the Deputy Minister of Agriculture has been sent south to make inquiries, and Mayor Sanford Evans has announced that the city will take action.

ARDEN.

The Panola Comedy Company, who have been showing forth in the town hall for a week, left town on Tuesday. Chas. Green will move in the Royal Hotel next week, and will, we believe, a strictly temperance hotel. We wish him every success.

Miss Edna Stout, of Ivanhoe, who has been spending the past two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Bowerman, returned to her home on Tuesday. Mrs. W. Mellorgrove and Mrs. J. Cassiday visited at Mr. Clarks, Mount Hope, on Wednesday of last week. A social will be given in the Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Methodist church. A good programme will be given. Mr. Minor Williams and Norman Scott made a business trip to Tamworth on Saturday last. Misses Madge Weese, Edna Stout and Gladys Cassiday took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Snider on Sunday night. Mr. Robt. Loyst has rented Mr. W. Scott's house, and will move in next week.—Mr. and Mrs. Loyst and Miss Muriel Reese, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blancy.—Cross Lake bridge is under going repairs, it having been blown completely from the shores with the high winds.—Mr. Geo. Kelly and family visited at Mr. Chas. Loyst's, on Sunday.

BICKNELL'S CORNERS.

The weather still continues very cold, and the farmers have done very little seeding.—Mr. Sexsmith, of Selby, has moved in his new home, and Mr. Longmore has bought a house and lot in Camden East, and intends moving.—Mr. Abner Stover has been buying hay from Mr. Longmore.—Mr. William Hannah has been doing some repairing to our houses.—Mr. James Sewell is erecting a concrete hen-house.—Mr. and Mrs. Will Loucks, of Enterprise, at his sister's, Mrs. Wesley Simmons.—Mr. Wylie Macdonald spent Tuesday at Mr. James Macdonald's.—Mr. Earl Salisbury is drawing hay to Yarker.—Mr. Robert McEarvey at his brother's, Mr. Jack McEarvey's.—Mr. John Hawley is improving nicely.—Mr. Alva Emberley at Yarker on Wednesday.—Miss Lizzie Madden is spending a few days at Mr. Lonergan's.—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Keller and son Elwood spent a couple of days at G. King's.—Messrs. C. Oderkirk and A. King at J. H. Baker's, on Sunday.—A few of the young people called on the Misses Haley, on Tuesday evening, where an enjoyable evening was spent.—Mr. F. Cousins is spending a few weeks at J. Dillon's, Enterprise.—Rev. Mr. White, of Enterprise, spent Friday evening at G. King's.

The number of persons killed in the outbreak at Adana is estimated now at 25,000.

William Forsyth had his neck broken near Camilla by the fall of a damaged school building that he was inspecting.

Hon. Ronald Ramsay, a brother of the Earl of Dalhousie, who spent some time in Canada, committed suicide by jumping from an Atlantic liner.

The Elmhurst Hotel at Liverpool, N.S., and the Canard Street Baptist Church, near Halifax, were burned. Fire also destroyed the Court House at Edmundston, N.B., with a lot of important public records and other documents.

CLAUDE GOULD SEXSMITH.

A very sad event occurred on April 15th in the death of Claude Gould Sexsmith, which cast a gloom over the entire community. Deceased was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Sexsmith, of Kingsford. He was a young man of noble virtues and whose unsullied character might be taken as an example of true manhood. His chief aim during his short career was to seek out the paths of right and pursue them in all his walks of life. He was a general favorite with all those who were so fortunate as to gain his acquaintance, and with the old as well as those of his own age he always found time for a kind word and a pleasant look. He will be greatly missed as he was generally known in athletics as well as social circles. Besides the parents, he leaves one brother and three sisters, Irwin, Maude and Grace at home, and Mrs. John W. Russell, of Marysville, who mourn the loss of an affectionate brother. The funeral service, which was one of the largest ever held in the vicinity, was conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Thompson, at Selby. The remains were taken to Riverside cemetery vault to await interment.

FROM LEFT TO RIGHT.

Is the Habit a Legacy From the Old Sun Worshipers?

The halfback, about to be tackled, stopped, then darted in a long curve toward the right. He was soon downed.

"The other side knew he would turn from left to right, so they went from left to right. To turn from right to left seems wrong, seems like reversing. We wind a watch from left to right, we turn a screw so, and so we write, and so we read.

"It all comes down to us from prehistoric times, from the sun worshipers. The sun moves from left to right, and its worshipers believed that all human actions must proceed accordingly. Well, they still do so.

"Churning is done as the sun moves, and there's a superstition that one reverse turn of the handle will spoil the butter.

"Whalers put back again if the ship's first movement at the beginning of the voyage is not from left to right.

"In a subconscious way, you see, sun worship is still the religion of man."—Exchange.

THE CANNON ROARED.

How an Ovation by a Youthful Demonstrance Was Spoiled.

While campaigning in his home state Speaker Cannon was once inveigled into visiting the public schools of a town where he was billed to speak.

In one of the lower grades an amiable teacher called upon a youthful Demosthenes to entertain the distinguished visitor with an exhibition of amateur oratory. The selection attempted was Byron's "Battle of Waterloo," and just as the boy reached the end of the first paragraph Speaker Cannon suddenly gave vent to a violent sneeze.

"Hist hush, bark," declaimed the youngster—"a deep sound strikes like a rising knell! Did ye hear it?"

The visitors smiled, and a moment later the second sneeze—which the speaker was visibly trying to hold back—came with increased violence.

"But, bark!" (bawled the boy)—"that heavy sound breaks in once more. And nearer, clearer, deadlier than before! Arm, arm! It is the cannon's opening roar!"

This was too much, and the laugh that broke from the party swelled to a roar when Uncle Joe chuckled: "Put up your weapons, children. I won't shoot any more."—Success Magazine.

The Division of Time.

The division of time into hours was practiced among the Babylonians from remote antiquity, but it was Hipparchus, the philosopher, who introduced the Babylonian hour into Europe. The sexagesimal system of notation was chosen by that ancient people because there is no number having so many divisions as sixty. The Babylonians divided the daily journey of the sun, the ruler of the day, into twenty-four parsangs. Each parsang, or hour, was subdivided into sixty minutes, and that again into sixty seconds. They compared the progress made by the sun during one hour at the time of the equinox to the progress made by a good walker in the same period of time, both covering one parsang, and the course of the sun during the full equinoctial day was fixed at twenty-four parsangs.

Kissing the Hands.

The practice of kissing the hands was instituted by the early Roman rulers as a mark of subjection as much as one of respect, and under the first Cesars the custom was kept up, but only for a time. These worthies conceived the idea that the proper homage due to their exalted station called for less familiar modes of obeisance, so the privilege of kissing the emperor's hand was reserved as a special mark of condescension or distinction for officers of high rank. Roman fathers considered the practice of kissing of so delicate a nature that they never kissed their wives in the presence of their daughters.

What She Inherited.

"Of course I can do manicuring just as well with my left hand," said the left handed manicurist—"better, if anything. You don't know the difference if you've been born that way, if you have inherited it.

"Didn't know it was a matter of inheritance? Why, certainly it is. No, left handedness, not manicuring. My father, grandfather and great-grandfather were all left handed, and so were ten cousins of mine."—Exchange.

WHERE THEY GO.

"Why were you not at Sunday School this morning, Fred?"

"Please, ma'am, I was asleep."

"Fred, I'm ashamed of you! Where little boys go who fall asleep in Sunday School, I'm sorry to say, I don't know."

"Please, ma'am, I think some goes to the river, 'cos there's more fish there."

A LAWYER'S STORY.

A lawyer was defending a man accused of housebreaking and the way he plied it was quite a study. He began by telling a client that my client did not break into the house at all. He found the parlor window open, and climbed in. He struck a match and removed a few trifling articles. Now, gentlemen, my client's arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an action committed by only one of his limbs."

"That argument," said the judge, "is very well put. Following it logically, I sentence the defendant's arm to one year's imprisonment. He can accompany it or not, as he chooses." The defendant smiled, and with his lawyer's assistance uncovered his cork arm and leaving it in the dock, walked out.

THE LIMIT OF LAZINESS.

Two darkies lay sprawled on the levee on a hot day. George Washington drew a long pipe and said: "Ah wish Ah had a hundred watermelons."

Dude's eyes lighted. "Hem, dat would suttenly be nice! An ef yo' had a hundred watermelons, would yo' gib me fifty?"

"No, Ah wouldn't."

"Wouldn't yo' gib me twenty-five?"

"No, Ah wouldn't gib yo' no twenty-five."

Dixie gazed with reproachful eyes at his close-fisted friend. "Seems to me you's powahful stingy, George Washington," he said; and then continued in a heartbroken voice, "wouldn't yo' gib me fifty?"

"No, Ah wouldn't gib yo' one. Looks lemme 'splain! Are you so goodlookin' lazy dat yo' can't wish fo' yo' own watermillons?"

FEMININE CALM.

Two women with two little babies bearing a striking resemblance to each other, met shopping together. Leaving the babies in their baby carriage outside the shop the two mothers plunged into the exhilarating work of the day. Then emerging from the storm and stress, they each grasped the handles of a baby carriage and trundled it home.

"At day one of the women appeared at the other's house weeping.

"I feel sure," she sobbed "that some thing dreadful has occurred."

"What?" inquired the other calmly.

"I just knew it! Yesterday we changed babies. I took yours and you took mine!"

She looked at her friend expecting excitement. But her friend continued perfectly calm.

"Oh, dear, what shall we do?" wailed the first mother, wringing her hands.

"Are you sure that we changed babies?"

"I am perfectly sure."

"Well—let's change 'em back."

sewing down into my eyes from the wound on my head. I couldn't see anything more; I fainted. Just as I went off I heard somebody cry "Hands up!" and I imagined the fighting was pretty well over."

The fighting was over. One scene remained which Rastats did not see. When Colonel Stafnitz, too, heard the call "Hands up!" when the firing stopped and all became quiet, he ceased to struggle. Drustanbury found him suddenly changed to a log beneath him. His hands were already on the colonel's throat, and he could have strangled him now without difficulty. But when Stafnitz no longer tried to defend himself he loosed his hold, got up and stood over him with his hand on the revolver in his belt. The colonel fingered his throat a minute, sat up, looked round and rose to his feet. He saw Sophy standing before him. By her side Peter Vassip lay on the ground, tended by Basil Williamson and one of his comrades. Colonel Stafnitz bowed to Sophy with a smile.

"I forgot you, madame," said Stafnitz.

"I didn't forget monseigneur," she answered.

He looked round him again, shrugged his shoulders and seemed to think for a moment. There was an absolute stillness, a contrast to the preceding turmoil. But the silence made uncomfortable men whom the fight had not shaken. Their eyes were set on Stafnitz.

"The prince died in fair fight," said.

"No. You sent Mistitch to murder him," Sophy replied. Her eyes were relentless, and Stafnitz was ringed round with enemies.

"I apologize for this embarrassment. I really ought to have been killed. It's just a mistake," he said, with a smile. He turned quickly to Drustanbury. "You seem to be a gentleman, sir. Pray come with me. I need a witness." He pointed with his unwounded hand to the barn.

Drustanbury bowed assent. The colonel in his turn bowed to Sophy, and the two of them turned and walked off toward the barn. Sophy stood motionless, watching them until they turned the corner; then she fell on her knees and began to talk soothingly to Peter Vassip, who was hard hit, but, in Basil Williamson's opinion, promised to do well. Sophy was talking to the poor fellow when the sound of a revolver shot—a single shot—came from the barn. Colonel Stafnitz had corrected the mistake. Sophy did not raise her head. A moment later Drustanbury came back and rejoined them. He exchanged a look with Sophy, inclining his head as a man does in answering a "Yes." Then she rose.

"Now, monseigneur, the guns," she said.

They could not carry the guns back to Volseni, nor, indeed, was there any use for them there now. But neither were monseigneur's guns for the enemies of monseigneur. Under Lukovitch's skilled directions this wound proved slight: the big guns were set aside and ordered to remain of little value and the barges taken out into midstream and there scuttled with their cargoes. While one party pursued this work Drustanbury and Basil Williamson, helped by Peter Vassip, ers collect their wounded and dead, place them on a wagon and set out on their march to Slavna. Then his men placed their dead on horses. They had lost three. Five were wounded besides Peter Vassip, but none of them severely; all could ride. For Peter they took a seat from the farm to convey him as far as the ascent to the hills. Up that he would have to be carried by his comrades.

"Peter, come with me."

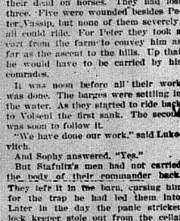
It was noon before all their work was done. The barges were settling in the water. As they started to ride back to Volseni the first sank. The second was soon to follow it.

"We have done our work," said Lukovitch.

And Sophy answered, "Yes."

But Stafnitz's men had not carried the body of their commander back. They left it in the barn, cursing him for the trap he had led them into. Later in the day the panic stricken lock keeper stole out from the cellar where he had hidden himself and found it in the barn. He and his wife lifted it with cursings, bore it to the river and flung it in. It was carried over the weir and floated down to Slavna. They fished it out with a boat-hook just opposite Suleiman's tower. The hint to Captain Sterkoff was a broad one. He reported a vacancy in the command and sent the keys of the fort to General Stenovics. It was Sunday morning.

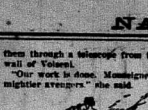
"The colonel has got back just when he said he would. But where are the guns?" asked General Stenovics of Captain Markarr. The captain held by now made up his mind which turn to take.



It was noon before all their work was done.

But no power ensued to Stenovics. At the last his fate was a soft fall—a fall on to a cushioned shelf. The cup of Kravonia's iniquity, full with the prince's murder, brimmed over with the punishment of the man who had caused it. The fight by the lock of Miklevni sealed Kravonia's fate. Civilization must be vindicated! Long columns of fat capped soldiers begin to wind like a great snake over the summit of St. Peter's pass. Sophy watched them through a telescope from the old wall of Volseni.

"Our work is done, Monseigneur has mightier avengers," she said.



Chapter Thirty-three

VOLSENI forgave Sophy its dead and wounded sons. Her popularity blazed up in a last fierce, flickering fire. The guns were taken; they would go to Slavna; they would never batter the walls of Volseni into fragments. Slavna might be defied again. That was the great thing to Volseni, and it made little account of the snakelike line which crawled over St. Peter's pass and down to Dobrava and on to Slavna. Let Slavna-hated Slavna—reckon with that! And if the snake or another like it came to Volseni? Well, that was better than kunckling down to Slavna. Tonight King Sergius was avenged, and Queen Sophia had returned in victory!

For the first time since the king's death the bell of the ancient church rang joyously, and men sang and feasted in the gray city of the hills. Thirty from Volseni had beaten a hundred from Slavna; the guns were at the bottom of the Krath; it was enough. If Sophy had bidden them, they would have streamed down on Slavna that night in one of those fierce raids in which their forefathers of the Middle Ages had loved to swoop upon the plain.

But Sophy had no delusions. She saw her crown—that fleeting phantom ornament, fitly foreseen in the visions of a charlatan—passing from her brow without a sigh. She had not needed Dunstanbury's arguments to prove to her that there was no place for her left in Kravonia. She was content to have it so; she had done enough. Sorrow had not passed from her face, but serenity had come upon it in rather measure. She had struck for monseigneur, and the blow was witness to her love. It was enough in her and enough in little Volseni. Let the mighty avengers do the rest!

She had allowed Dunstanbury to leave her after supper in order to make preparations for an exit to the frontier at dawn. "You must certainly go," she had said, "and perhaps I'll come with you."

She went at night up to the wall, always her favorite place. She loved the spaciousness of air and open country before her there. Basil Williamson found her deep in thought when he came to tell her of the progress of the wounded.

"They're all doing well, and Peter Vassip will live. Dunstanbury has made him promise to come to him when he's recovered, so you'll need him again at all events. And Starik Zorkovitch and her husband talk of settling in Paris. You won't lose all your Kravonian friends."

"You assume that I'm coming with you tomorrow morning?"

"I'm quite safe in assuming that Dunstanbury won't go unless you do," he answered, smiling. "We can't leave you alone here, you know."

"I shouldn't stay here anyhow," she said. "Or at any rate I should be where nobody could hurt me." She pointed at a dim lantern fastened to the gate to mark it from the fields, then waved her hand toward the surrounding darkness. "That's Rife, isn't it?" she asked.

"If I believed that I could go to monseigneur, I would go tonight—nay, I would have gone at Miklevni. It was only putting my head out of that ditch a minute sooner! If I believed even that I could lie in the church there and know that he was near! If I believed even that I could lie there quietly and remember and think of him! You're a man of science; you're not a peasant's child, as I am. What do you think? You mustn't wonder that I've had my thoughts too. At Lady Meg's we did little else than try to find out whether we were going anywhere else. That's all she cared about. And if she does ever see to a next world she won't care about that. She'll only go on trying to find out whether there's still another beyond. What do you think?"

"I hardly expected to find you so philosophically inclined," he said.

"It's a practical question with me now. On its answer depends whether I come with you or stay here—by monseigneur in the church."

Basil said something professional—something about nerves and temporary strain. But he performed this homage to medical etiquette in a rather perfunctory fashion. He had never seen a woman more composed or more obviously and perfectly healthy. Sophy smiled and went on:

"But if, I live, I'm sure at least of being able to think and able to remember. It comes to a gamble, doesn't it? It's just possible I might get more; it's quite likely—I think it's probable—I should lose even what I have now."

"I think you're probably right about the chances of the gamble," he said; her, "though no doubt certainty is out of place or at least one doesn't talk about it. Shall I tell you what science says?"

"No," said Sophy, smiling faintly. "Science thinks in multitudes, and I'm thinking of the individual tonight. Even Lady Meg never made much of science, you know."

He pointed at the smoky lantern. "That's not life," he said, growing more earnest, yet smiling. "That's now —just here and now—and, yes, it's very smoky." He waved his hand over the darkness. "That's life. Dark? Yes, but the night will lift, the darkness pass away. Valley and sparkling lake will be there and the summit of the heaven kissing hills. Life cries to you with a sweet voice."

"Yes," she murmured, "with a sweet voice. And perhaps some day I would be light—be the life. But, ah, I'm torn in sunder this night. I wish I had died there at Miklevni while my blood was hot." She paused a long while in thought. Then she went on: "If I go, I must go while it's still dark and while these good people sleep. Go and tell Lord Dunstanbury to be ready to start an hour before dawn and do you and he come then to the door of the church. If I'm not waiting for you there, come inside and find me."

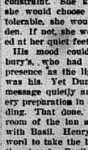
He started toward her with an eager gesture of protest. She raised her hand and checked him.

"No, I've decided nothing. I can't tell yet," she said. She turned and left him. He heard her steps descending the old winding stair which led from the top of the wall down into the street. He did not know whether he would see her alive again, and with her message of such ambiguous meaning he went to Dunstanbury. Yet curiously, though he had pleaded so urgently with her, though to him her death would mean the loss of one of the beautiful things from out the earth, he was in no distress for her and did not dream of attempting any constraint. She knew her strength—she would choose right. If life were tolerable, she would take up the burden. If not, she would let it lie unlifted at her quiet feet.

His mood could not be Dunstanbury's, who had come to count the presence as the light of the life that was his. Yet Dunstanbury heard the message quietly and quietly made ready preparation in obedience to her bidding. That done, he sat in the little room of the inn and smoked his pipe with Basil. Henry Brown waited his word to take the horses to the door of the church. Basil Williamson had divined his friend's feeling for Sophy and wondered at his calmness.

"If I felt the doubt that you do, I shouldn't be calm," said Dunstanbury. "But I know her. She will be true to her love."

He could not be speaking of that love of hers which was finished, whose



"You assume that I'm coming with you tomorrow morning?"

end and she was now mourning in the little church. It must be of another love that he spoke—of one lord in her nature, the outcome of her temperament and of her being the woman that she was. The spirit which had brought her to Slavna had made her play her part there, had won her and caught at every chance and chance of fortune, had never laid down the sword till the blow was struck that would preserve her and give her back to life now and some day give life back to her.

He was right. When they came to the door of the church she was there. For the first time since monseigneur had died her eyes were red with weeping, but her face was calm. She gave her hand to Dunstanbury.

"Come, let us mount," she said. "I have said goodby."

Basil shook Dunstanbury's plans. A sledge waiting for them at the gate. Horses in a sling, and with him were Mr. Zorkovitch and. These last they would see again. It was probably farewell forever to gallant Lukovitch. He kissed the silver ring on Sophy's finger.

"I brought nothing into Kravonia," he said, "and I carry nothing out except this ring which monseigneur put on my finger—the ring of the bailiffs of Volseni."

"Keep it," said Lukovitch. "I think there will be no more bailiffs of Volseni, or some prince not of our choosing will take the title by his own will. He will not be our bailiff, as monseigneur was. You will be our bailiff, though our eyes never see you, and you never see our old gray walls again. Madame, have a kindly place in your heart for Volseni. We shan't forget you nor the blow we struck under your leadership. The fight at Miklevni may well be the last that we shall fight in free men."

"Volseni is written on my heart," she answered. "I shall not forget."

She took her friends farewell and then ordered Lukovitch to throw open the gate. She and the three Englishmen rode through. Henry Brown leading the pack horse by the bridle. The mountains were growing gray with the first approaches of dawn.

It was probably farewell forever to gallant Lukovitch.

As she rode she paused a moment, leaned sideways in her saddle and kissed the ancient lintel of the door.

"Peace be on this place," she said, "and peace to the tomb where monseigneur lies buried."

"Peace be on the head and fortune with thee," answered Lukovitch in the traditional words of farewell. He kissed her hand again, and they departed.

It was high morning when they rode up the ascent to St. Peter's pass and came to the spot where their cross track joined the main road over the pass from Dobrava and the capital. In silence they mounted to the summit. The road under their horses' feet was trampled with the march of thousands of men who had passed over it in an irresistible advance on Slavna.

At the summit of the pass they stopped, and Sophy turned to look back. She sat there for a long while in silence.

"I have loved this land," at last she said. "It has given me much, and very much it has taken away. Now the face of it is to be changed. But in my heart the memory of it will not change." She looked across the valley, across the sparkling face of Lake Tzill, to the gray walls of Volseni and kissed her hand. "Farewell, monseigneur!" she whispered very low.

The day of Kravonia was done. The head of the great snake had reached Slavna. Count Rheinberg and Captain Alexis were in flight. Slenovics took orders from no but looked to ride. The death of monseigneur had been avenged. But there was no place for Sophy, the queen of a tempestuous hour.

They set their horses' heads toward the frontier. They began the descent on the other side. The lake was gone, the Sandlier hills vanished. Only in the eye of memory stood old Volseni still set in its gray mountains. Sophy rode forth from Kravonia in her sheepskins and her silver ring, the last queen of Kravonia, the last bailiff of Volseni, the last chosen leader of the mountain men. But the memory of the red star lived after her—how she loved monseigneur and turned to avenged him, how her look back.

At the summit Sophy

face was fairer than the face of other women and more pale, and how the red star glowed in sorrow and in joy, for love in clash of arms, promising to some glory and to others death. In the street of Volseni and in the cabins among the hills you may hear the tale of the red star yet.

To the unconquerable heart life stands unconquered. What danger had not shaken nor even sorrow could overthrow. She rode into the future with Dunstanbury on her right hand, patience in his mind and in his heart hope. Some day the sun would shine on the summit of heaven kissing hills.

The End.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

WHAT BOOTH'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE DOING FOR NAPANEE, ONT., PEOPLE.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys every three minutes.

The kidneys lift all the blood.

They work night and day to daily remove about 500 grains of impure matter. If the kidneys fail to lift this impure matter it is left in the blood, bringing on pain in the back, headache, dizziness, irregular heart, dry skin, rheumatism, gravel, dropsy, deposit in the urine. Booth's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right and overcome Kidney trouble. Hundreds of Lennox County residents have tested this out.

Mrs. Thos. Smith, of Graham st., Napanee, Ont., says:

"For over four years I had suffered with many annoying and painful symptoms of Bright's disease. I had tried every possible manner of relief but could find nothing to benefit me. The kidneys were so disordered that I have to get up often and a number of times each night with the frequency of the kidney secretions. The urine was scanty, scalding and very odorous. My general health had been very much run down and I could awake more tired and unrefreshed than on going to bed. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills on advice of a friend and procured them at Mr. Wallace's Pharmacy. They cured me when all else failed. I am stronger than in years previous and will always speak a good word for Booth's Kidney Pills."

HIS RING.

"That's my clock at the door. I know his ring," said Ethel.

"So do I," retorted Mattie. "I wore it six weeks before you got it."

TOO PESSIMISTIC.

He—I suppose if I kissed you, you would never speak to me again.

She—Why do you always look on the dark side of things?

NEVER REACHED HER.

Curate (who struggles to exist on less a year with a wife and six children—We are giving up meat as a little experiment, Mrs. Busher.

Wealthy Parishioner—Oh, yes! One can so well live on fish, poultry, game and plenty of nourishing wines, can't one?

DEAR'S INTERPETATION.

She laid down her Ruskin wearily. "It says here," she mused, "that 'man should resemble a river.' I wonder what that means, you know, dear?"

Dear looked up from a batch of bills. "Sure I do," he growled. "It means that you don't amount to shucks these days unless you own a couple of banks."

NOT GUILTY.

Two London cabbies were glaring at each other.

"Ah, wot's the matter with you?" demanded one.

"Nothing's the matter with me, you bloomin' idiot."

"You gave me a nasty look," persisted the first.

"Me? Why, you certainly 'ave a nasty look, but I didn't give it to you to 'elp me!"

ALWAYS TOGETHER.

"I wish I could," sighed the Well-Head Man.

"Wish you could what?"

"Divorce them."

"Whom?"

"Sisters. Just those adjectives."

"What adjectives?"

"I am so tired of seeing them together. Honestly, no one cares out of ten that one of them is used the other terrible thing, too. It's absurd."

"What two adjectives do you mean?"

"Down and fagged."
